Dairy Of Distinction Farm: A Nice Place To Raise A Family

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

ELVERSON (Berks Co.) — Please Use Caution. Our Kids & Kats at PLAY.

You can't help but notice this sign, at the edge of the driveway, as you enter the beautifully maintained farm of Gary and Sharon Stoltzfus, just off Route 23 near Elverson. The farm was recently awarded the Dairy of Distinction honor, which means a great deal to a lot of people. And to a farm recognized here for its beautification efforts, it means a great place to raise a family.

Gary and Sharon Stoltzfus raise three daughters, Carrie, 4; Laura, 8; and Shell, 6, on their 165-acre dairy farm. The family rents another 400 acres to grow corn and alfalfa feed crops, in addition to cash crops, including soybeans, other small grain, and this year, peas (which need a good watering, mother nature permitting).

The dairy is 120-head of Holsteins strong, with an additional 100 head of young stock.

Beautification program

The Stoltzfus farm was chosen together with 82 other farms in the Pennsylvania's Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program. The program is designed to encourage dairy farm familes to keep their farms looking good, so consumers of dairy products who pass by the

Cattle And Kids Hit The Jackpot

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.)— Representing five states, 92 steers were brought to the Somerset County fairgrounds in Meyersdale to be shown and judged by Lynn Holley, Bowling Green, OH.

"The two greatest things going on in the country are cattle and kids," said Holley at the conclusion of the Jackpot Show where the youths from 4-H and the FFA got some good experience prior to showing at their county fair.

Nathan Claycomb, 12, of Alum Bank, Bedford Co., showed the grand champion steer. Reserve champion honors were taken by Brad Lutz of Mount Jackson, VA.

A Chestnut Ridge Middle School student, Nathan has been showing animals for three years. He says he is anticipating the Bedford Co. Fair coming up in early August. His experience includes showing in the Keystone National Show and the Farm Show.

Asked how he felt about his future chances of winning, Nathan replied, "It depends on the judge and it depends how you show." His steer, named "Boss," was purchased last November from Kerry Lawrence, Newark, OH. Nathan's parents are Jeff and Cindy Clay-

Meet The New FFA Officers From Pennsylvania

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)— Eleven new state officers were elected at the annual FFA Activities Week last month. The announcement was made at the last general session to more than 1,100 Pennsylvania FFA members.

The new members were presented with two gifts from the Pennsylvania FFA Foundation – a state officer's jacket, sponsored by Richard Waybright of Mason Dixon Farms, Gettysburg, and a briefcase, sponsored by Dennis Grumbine of Evergreen Tractors, Lebanon County.

The new president is Keith E. Hay from Berlin-Brothersvalley High School, Somerset County. Keith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hay and his chapter advisor is Doyle Paul. Keith will major in agriculture mechanization at Penn State.

The new vice president is Gregory L. Harnish from Manheim Central High School, Lancaster County. Greg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harnish and his chapter advisors are Deb Seibert and Dominic Centonze. Greg will major in agriculture economics at Penn State.

The new eastern vice president is Jason Franke from Tri-Valley

PSU Names New Dairy, Animal Science Head

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Dr. Stanley Evan Curtis has been named head of the department of dairy and animal science in Penn State's College of Agriculture, effective September 1.

Curtis, currently a professor of animal sciences at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, was chosen after a year-long search process.

"Dr. Curtis is a devoted animal scientist who will bring a lot of talent and focus to this department," said interim department head Dr. William Heald, who will

JULY 19, 1990
at the
WATERLOO HOLIDAY INN
Routes 414 and 5 & 20
Waterloo, New York

From 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.
with a continuous buffet-style lunch being served.

- New York State Electric and Gas (NYSEG), along with Dick Wyszkowski, Senior Agricultural Engineer, invite you to our open house at the Waterloo Holiday Inn.
- A NYSEG Agricultural Rebate, teamed with a quality product from a participating Trade Ally, is an energy-wise, cost-effective purchase.
- Please set aside this date. Bring your spouse and key employees, enjoy lunch on us and meet with our Trade Allies.
- Hank Host-Steen, "NYSEG's Rateman", will conduct seminars on agricultural rates. The seminars will be held at 12:00 noon, 1:00 p.m. and 2:00 p.m. Hank is looking forward to your comments.
- The Trade Show will have exhibits on ventilation, heating, lighting, milk cooling and water heating.
- Free Empire Farm Days Parking Stickers will be given to each person who registers.
- If you have any questions, please call Dick Wyszkowski at New York State Electric and Gas, 1-800-227-0888, ext. 253.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

JULY 16-22, 1990

A summer's sun is worth the having.

July 16, 1912, airplane torpedo patented by Bradley Allen Fisher of the United States Navy . . July 19, 1848, first Women's Rights Convention held at Seneca Falls, N.Y. .. July 21, 1873, Jesse James holds up the Rock Island Express and escapes with $3,000 in the world's first train robbery . Every path has a puddle.

Ask the Old Farmer: I'd like to dry some of the beans from my garden this year, but I'm not sure how to go about doing it. Can you advise me? A W, Pa.

Good for you! Drying your own beans is so simple, we often wonder why more people don't do it Shell the beans and spread them out in a warm airy place to dry When they're completely dried, heat them in a 250° F oven for an hour to kill any bacteria Store them tightly covered in clean jars

Home Hints: When picking your own strawberries, leave the stem on and the berries will keep a little longer

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: The week begins with one of this month's frequent thundershowers Then clearing with sunny skies before more showers descend.

Greater New York-New Jersey: This week's much like last week, wet and dry. First warm and clear, changing to rainstorms, and finally clearing again.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Clear and hot with heavy rain in the west. Toward the end of the week heavy rain develops in the west, with showers in the east.

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: A clear, hot start for this middle-of-July week Midweek brings the rain, locally heavy Expect 5 5" this month

High Efficiency Fan

Acme Twister fans utilize a new corrosive resistant, galvanized orifice, frame and motor base and an all aluminum six bladed propeller that features a unique, cambered-twist blade with a dihedral tip to provide a higher CFM pwer watt. The result... lower electrical costs.

The Twister, available in 36" and 48" sizes, comes premounted in a particle board box for easy handling and installation.

Additional operating and maintenance economy features include a totally enclosed, energy saver motor equipped with sealed ball bearings for extended life and further efficiency.

To insure proper airflow control, the Twister combines with Acme precision engineered, counter balanced shutters.

Kool-Cel Pads

Kool Cel pads are cellulose cooling cells 4" and 6" deep, 12" wide and available in 12" increments from 24" to 72" tall with two pieces of 4" combined to make 84" and 96" tall pads The cooling cells are made from a specially formulated cellulose paper impregnated with insoluble antirot salts It is designed with an exclusive cross-fluted configuration which induces highly turbulent mixing inside the pad between the water and the air, and contributes to the evaporative efficiency The cross-fluted design makes Kool-Cel a strong self supporting pad with high evaporative efficiency and low pressure drop (resistance to air flow).

A face velocity of 250 feet per minute for 4" an 400 feet per minute for 6" is recommended for the most economical cost and operation of the Kool-Cel system.

OPINION

From The End Of The Farm Lane

Beautiful dairy farms are a credit to the community and to the state dairy industry. And the efforts of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification program are to be commended. This program encourages dairy farm families to keep their farms looking good so that consumers of dairy products who drive past the farm will have a favorable impression of their source of dairy products.

The program started in the mid-west and came into New York State about eight years ago. The Pennsylvania version of the program has recognized 353 dairy farms over the last four years.

Early each year, applications from the ten state districts are received. By May, district volunteers have set up their road-side inspection teams and during June Dairy Month activities recognition is given to the local winners. A farm sign and a certificate are part of this local recognition.

Many people, organizations and businesses have supported this worthy program at district level. At the state level, The Americian Dairy Association and Dairy Council, and the Pennsylvania Milk Promotion Program have provided the funds for the low-cost program. Lancaster Farming has helped to add to the reward of the program by providing an 11 x 14 color photo print of each winning farm. This color enlargement is presented to each farm family during Dairy of Distinction ceremonies held each year at Ag Progress Days in August at Rock Springs.

We believe all the volunteers involved in the Dairy of Distinction program deserve a "thank you" from the dairy industry. And all the winners including the 82 new winners this year, should take credit for their part in the total efforts to promote milk from the end of the dairy farm lane.

NOW IS THE TIME

By Jay Irwin
Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Plan For Fall Seeding

The late summer and early fall seeding season is coming rapidly; August seedings of alfalfa should now be in the planning stage. Winter barley and wheat seedings should be planned and orders placed for the right kind of seed. Don't wait until seeding time and then discover the supply is exhausted. Certified seed is highly suggested in order to realize the most from all imputs.

If you plan to use homegrown seed from a healthy field, they should be tested at the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture seed lab; don't waste time and money on poor quality seeds; you could be spreading disease and more weeds.

To Control Sweet Corn Earworm

One of the annual problems for sweet corn producers is the corn earworm and this year is no exception. The very hot weather creates ideal conditions for them. Indications are that the adult corn earworm population is getting pretty heavy and that means possible trouble for the growers of sweet corn. The corn earworm does not overwinter in Pennsylvania but migrates from the south and begins to build-up in July. It is the second generation of corn earworm that is present in August through September that becomes a serious problem to the sweet corn growers.

If you are concerned about corn earworm injury, start treatment as soon as eggs are found on the silk. Apply sprays at 3-day intervals when ears are 20% in silk until a week before harvest. This may mean 5 to 7 applications, but it should produce a maximum of ears free of corn earworm. Carbaryl (Sevin) does a good job. Always follow label directions.

To Take Time To Be Safe

Once every four years the average farm laborer can expect to be injured so severely that medical attention is required. Our safety engineers tell us that agricultural workers are much more susceptible to accidents and injury than industrial workers.

Many pieces of farm machinery need to be repaired and adjusted on the job. Some of this is done while the machinery is operating and on the run. This is dangerous and we urge you to stop the machine and shut if off before any adjustments are made. Just a few seconds of patience could save a life or a vital part of the human body. Keep in mind however, it is not the machinery that is at fault in most cases, but the operator who does not take time to be safe.

To Keep Dogs Under Control

The summer months increase outdoor activity with your dog. Keep in mind that a dog owner's responsibility is to keep their pet under control at all times. Free roaming dogs cause accidents, bite, damage property and can be a general nuisance. They also carry disease from farm to farm. Dogs are personal property and the owners are responsible for any damage caused by their pets.

Many dog related problems would be alleviated if owners were more aware of their responsibilities. All pet owners really need to do is to have their dogs licensed and keep them under control. Remember, all dogs six months of age or older must be licensed. A license is an inexpensive means to identify your dog if it should stray. It also shows you care for your pet.

The Cooperative Extension is an affirmative action, equal opportunity educational institution.

Editor:

Recognizing the importance of public debate, I rarely take issue with press reports of controversial issues, even when reporters quote critics who twist the facts. But Vernon Achenbach's story on the new state budget is misleading and wrong.

When Achenbach quotes an unnamed man who claims to have worked on the budget, I'm left to wonder if a man who won't identify himself tells a true story.

Senator Wenger's quote that the state surplus is gone fails to recognize the fact that Pennsylvania finished the fiscal year with a $136 million surplus in spite of revenues that fell below expectations.

In addition, your readers should know that funding for animal health programs WAS NOT CUT. Previous line item appropriations for seven animal health programs were lumped together, and the funding for those programs now appears in the budget under the

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

TRAIN UP A CHILD

Background Scripture:
Proverbs 22:1-16.
Devotional Reading:
Romans 12:1,2,9-21.

There is a familiar passage in Proverbs 22 that I stumbled over as I read it: "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it" (22:6).

Both as a father and as a pastor I have tried to live by that precept. Yet, in my own experience the promise of Proverbs 22:6 has not been fulfilled. I sometimes lament that I was apparently unable to transmit to my own children and the children of others many of the precepts I so highly valued. In the lives of other people I have also seen grown children do just what the writer of Proverbs said they will not do: depart from the teachings of their parents and church.

I have mourned with parents whose children have committed crimes and known full well that that was not what they taught their children by both word and example. I have heard mothers and fathers say, "You didn't learn that in our home," and I have believed them. Parents have taught the value of a "good name," (22:1) but some children nevertheless choose "silver or gold." Churches have taught children to share "bread with the poor" (22:9), but some of those children have learned instead to "oppress the poor" (22:16). Institutions have attempted to instill "prudence" and "humility," but children have nevertheless chosen "the thorns and snares... of the perverse" (22:5).

IN THE LONG RUN

So why should the writer of Proverbs say, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it?

One reason is simply that, although it often fails, in the long run it still seems to produce the best results. We have long known that groups that make religious education a vital part of the child's up-bringing will still be more positive, and constructive than those that do not. Statistics have repeatedly told us that children of Jewish homes will tend to be less likely to be in trouble than those of Christians, I am embarrassed for Christians to have to admit that, but it is true. Similarly, the children of Mormons generally live on a higher moral level. We can hardly escape the conclusion that those of us in the standard brand-name Christian groups are less dedicated to educating our children in the Christian faith.

The second reason is that, even when it seems to fail, it remains as a standard by which our children can judge and compare the values that are contrary, and if they choose, embrace again at any time. Our children may reject much that we have held to be essential in life, but, if we continue to espouse and uphold these values, they have something to which they can return, if they will. In a sense, our children can never "depart from it." They may choose not to follow it, but it will always be there to call them to return.

So, let us continue to "train up a child in the way he should go..."

It's no news that improving forage quality can increase milk production. The problem is finding the time to do it, while tending to all your other farm management responsibilities.

If you're too busy to do it all, your Agway Farm Enterprise Salesperson can help. He has the know how, the products and the services you need to get the most out of new seedings or established stands.

- Planning needs
- Selection of proven varieties
- Plant food recommendations
- Weed and insect control where needed
- Custom application service
- Forage preservatives
- Forage testing
- Feeding programs

In short, he can help you better manage all the complex variables that contribute to higher forage quality and a more profitable dairy operation.

Call your Agway Farm Enterprise Salesperson today. He's someone worth knowing.

If your neighbor has higher forage quality than you, chances are he knows someone you don't.

From field to feedlot, Unverferth moves material

Unverferth grain box augers put material where you need it - fast.

Unverferth grain boxes feature smooth sloping sides for fast gravity flow unloading

Loading, Carrying or Unloading — Grain, Seed, Feed or Fertilizer.

Whatever your handling chores involve, trust Unverferth to help you do the job faster and more efficiently.

With six models available, there's an Unverferth grain box that's right for every size operation. All deliver the most in durability and rapid unloading.

Add a rugged Unverferth running gear, and any grain box trails straight and smooth. Capacities from 8 to 18 tons.

A rugged Unverferth running gear will match the grain box you choose.

Then mount a hydraulically powered Unverferth grain box auger. Make filling planters and feeders quick and easy.

Brown Swiss Honored For High Milk Production

BELOIT, Wisc. — A number of Brown Swiss dairy cows on farms in the Eastern states were honored recently by the Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders' Association for their high milk and milk component production records.

The association sets levels of milk production it deems worthy of regional recognition, national recognition and also honors those cows whose production is among the top five of all time for an age division.

All production awards are based on either a 306- to 365-day lactation or records of 305 days or less. Unless otherwise noted, the lactations are reported as more than 306 days.

In Pennsylvania, Meadow Hill S Imp Jessica ET, owned by Gary L. Mase, Lebanon, received both local and national recognition for production as a four-year-old of 27,340 pounds of milk, 1,082 pounds of butter fat and 1,001 pounds of protein.

In New York, Ka Cy Dreamer and Ka Cy Go Ahead both received national and local recognition for their dairy production. The two cows are owned by Ka-Cy Farms, Medina. Dreamer recorded a production of 27,170 pounds milk, 1,038 fat and 952 protein. Dreamer was 7-years-old at last freshening. Go Ahead, 6-years-two-months old at last freshening, recorded a production record of 24,810 pounds milk, 1,141 fat and 947 protein.

In Virginia, Shen Val Improver Evilo Min, owned by Gary McDonald, of Stephens City, was given local recognition for production of 28,600 pounds milk, 981 fat and 966 protein. She had freshened last at 6-years, three months.

In Ohio, Twin Gate Mayflowers Charm made the association honor roll with a production of 21,090 pounds milk, 811 fat and 715 protein on a first freshening at 1-year, 11 months. Charm is owned by Earl F. Bursiek and family, Gibonsburg.

Several other, older cows on Ohio farms also received national and/or local recognition.

Mallory Brook Chrysanthemum, owned by Henry G. Young Jr., of Morrow, produced 24,890 pounds milk, 1,046 fat, and 917 protein to gain both national and local recognition. Chrysanthemum freshened at 7-years, 4-months old.

Gentle Breeze Matt Christine, owned by R-Hart Farm, Wapakoneta, gained both levels of recognition for production of 30,890 pounds milk, 1,360 fat, 1,060 protein. She last freshened last at 6-years, 2 months old.

La Rainbow Farms, of New Knoxville, lays claim to three outstanding cows.

La Rainbow Sweet Cherish, freshened at 7 years, 9 months, was honored locally for having produced 23,470 pounds of milk, 1,117 fat, 826 protein in less than 305 days.

La Rainbow Miss Gidget, freshened at 9 years, 9 months, and took national and local recognition by producing 30,300 pounds of milk, 1,187 fat and 1,031 protein.

La Rainbow Princess Belinda freshened at 8 years, 10 months and earned local honor with a production of 27,090 pounds of milk, 1,113 fat and 882 protein.

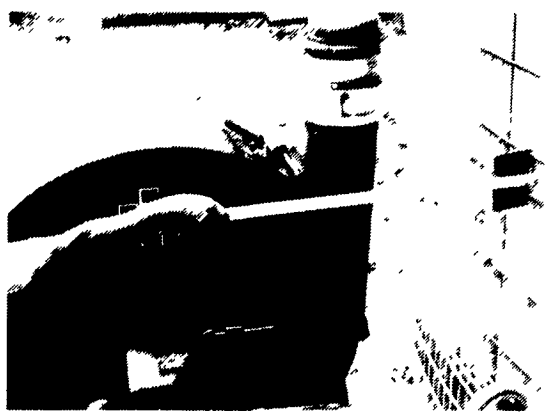
"Your silage spreader works great. Now if I could just reach it from the blower."

Ken Zurin, dairyman

Our new, longer, 42" ground control handle lets you change the spreader head position of your Multi Flo™ silage spreader from where you operate the forage blower.

A perfect example of how we use customers' suggestions.



New easy-to-reach ground control handle makes work safer and easier

This important change is a major improvement because you will not have to walk around the blower or climb over the running PTO shaft – operation is now safer and easier. And the handle folds flat against the silo and locks securely out of the way when not in use.

Ask your silo dealer today about Lancaster Level-Flo. Or, for the dealer nearest you, call our Mount Joy, PA, office at 717-653-2239 or our Footville, WI, office at 608-876-6146.

LANCASTER Level-Flo™

If it doesn't say Lancaster Level-Flo, it's not a Multi-Flo™ silage spreader.

LOW CLASSIFIED RATES WITH EXCELLENT RESULTS!

A Nice Place

farm have a good impression of the source of their dairy products.

Besides having a farm "that was a nice-looking farm when my parents managed it," said Gary, there was little else they had to do to win the award. A panel of judges visited the farm and took pictures. All Gary had to do was fill out a few forms and wait for the results.

Judges consider clean and attractive buildings and surroundings and figure these into the final selection. The qualifications indicate that fencing and feed areas should be in good repair, and unnecessary items such as trash piles should be removed.

The Stoltzfus farm was one of eight farms in District 20 honored in Pennsylvania. Other farms included Dalton and Vickie Biehl, in Kutztown; Promise Land Dairy, Perkusie; Delaware Valley College, Doylestown; Dale Hoover, Lebanon; Vincent and Juliet Wagner, Myerstown; Lester and Marian Zimmerman, Myerstown; and Junge Farms, New Tripoli.

Nice location

Gary attributes the honor mostly to "a nice location here, back off the road a nice distance," he said. "It's a nice place to have a family, away from the main road."

Gary doesn't think his family did anything in particular to win the award. "I don't know if we did anything differently," he said. "We try to keep the place up. We've always tried to keep the place looking nice over the years."

One of the things, besides regular mowing and maintenance, was the installation of a liquid manure holding tank on the farm in 1982. Dairy manure and waste water is pumped once a day into the 400,000-gallon capacity tank. There is enough storage for nearly five months. The manure is spread in the fields in the spring and fall — either disced or chiseled into the soil.

In 1982, Gary went into partnership with his father, Marvin. In the spring this year, Gary bought his father's share of the partnership, including all the dairy cattle and equipment. "My parents still own the farm, but we do all the managing," he said.

Work rotated

In cooperation with his father and one hired man, Paul Ranck, the work of milking the cows is rotated every third weekend, to give Gary and the others a chance to be with their families.

"I guess I always enjoyed working with dairy cattle," said Gary. "Sharon will sometimes help milk, or my daughter Laura will help milk once in a while, if I need it."

Gary is usually up at 4 a.m. Milking is twice a day, 6 a.m. and again by 6 p.m. They're usually in bed by 9 p.m.

The farm has been in the family several generations, said Gary. "I like farming," he said. "I don't know where else I'd go to buy land at this price for what we have."

Start out farming

These days, Gary said, you couldn't start out farming on your own. "I wouldn't be farming, I guess, if it wouldn't be for my parents, in this location anyway."

Gary enjoys the recognition and is happy that the honor "gives the public a good image of farming.

"There are some nice farms out here. It gives the farmers a good name when they see a farm like this."

This change provides additional flexibility so that animal health experts on the commission, and not number crunchers in the budget office, can direct state monies where they are needed. Just for the record, total spending for animal health programs is now $76,000 higher than last year, not $336,000 lower as stated in your newspaper.

Boyd E. Wolff
PA Sec. Of

Achenbach Responds

In response to the letter from Agriculture Secretary Boyd Wolff, I stand by my story, for the most part.

To address the issues raised in Mr. Wolff's letter, it must be known that it is a frequent practice by journalists reporting on controversial issues to honor requests for anonymity by sources of information who hold positions subject to retribution by those for whom the information is not flattering.

The practice should not be used liberally, but with extreme caution. It should be done so, because what is printed holds the public trust that it is the truth.

Academians to this day speculate over what is true or not. However, in order to report a news story, reporters must depend on the accuracy of information derived from long-time proven and logically reliable sources, corroboration by others (and written documentation if possible) and weighing the need for the public to want to know.

In this case, any reporter would have been remiss to merely report one side of an issue.

The Department of Agriculture provided its side of the story. State Sen. Noah Wenger and other state government officials provided the other.

But also in this case, more than one side needed to be consulted.

State Sen. Noah Wenger, R-Lancaster, has to consider keeping the confidence of his constituency when he makes public statements and goes on record with facts.

The state secretary of agriculture, appointed by the governor, has his own considerations to make. He is also concerned with the facts.

There are obvious possibilities for conflict of interest from both a Senator and a political appointee when asked for information.

Mr. Wolff and Sen. Wenger both have good reputations, and are highly respected in the community. However since the issue is controversial, it seemed best to seek at least a third source of information who had nothing to gain or lose, publicly or privately.

It seemed best to use information coming from someone closer to the budget than both Wenger and Wolff, someone with more accounting expertise, and someone I know personally and trust.

I hope Mr. Wolff can understand the need to include an anonymous statement from one who worked on this budget intensively as a way to balance out what the other sources have said publicly with their names standing behind them.

As to whether Mr. Wolff or Gov. Casey believe the state has come through 1989 with a $136 million surplus and a budget that is workable, rather than coming through a year with no surplus and a budget headed for failure is opinion on both sides.

Only time will tell whether the handling of state funds has been done properly.

For my own information, I again called this anonymous source, to double check about what would be the most accurate way to describe the state financial condition.

Both ways of looking at the budget could be considered correct, depending on how one views it, I was told.

It is a balanced budget if you do the accounting based on a cash basis. If so, then there is a surplus of about $136 million coming from last year.

On the other hand, if one performs the accounting by what is known in the accounting business as Generally Approved Accounting Practices (GAAP), then there is not a carryover at all.

This is what happened, I was told. Gov. Casey deferred paying about $135 million owed to the Public School Employees Retirement System.

The money is still owed and will have to be paid, but if payment is delayed until next year, then the state will have more cash in its hand to spend this year - thus a surplus.

But someday the money has to be paid to make up for what wasn't paid this time.

From Sen. Wenger's position, because the bill is still owed, it isn't a surplus.

And as far as how much money has been allocated for a specific concern of the agriculture department, such as animal health, also depends on how one interprets the data.

Newspaper Twighlight Meetings Set

LEWISBURG (Union Co.) — Penn State Cooperative Extension has scheduled two dates and two locations for farmers in the Susquehanna Valley to attend a twilight meeting to learn the benefits of using paper for bedding livestock.

Farmers will have an opportunity to learn about sources of paper for bedding, see some of the equipment used to chop or shred paper, and to hear from farmers who have used it for bedding their livestock.

On July 24, Brent Buckwalter, who has been using paper bedding for several months, will host a twilight meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. The Buckwalter farm can be reached from Turbotville by traveling south through Turbotville on Rt. 44 and turn west on Pine Street by the old block plant. Go 1.3 miles and turn left on Glaze Road. The first farm is the location. From the Warrior Run Curch near the Warrior Run School, travel 1 mile south on old Route 147, turn left, go four-tenths mile and turn right on Glaze Road.

Farmers interested in attending the second twilight meeting can travel to the Mark Mapes farm which is located approximately one-quarter mile west of New Berlin on Route 304. Mark has not used newspaper for bedding his livestock.

Dick Barth

PA DHIA General Mgr.

DICK BARTH
General Manager, PA DHIA

In the May 1990 issue of "Association Management" magazine, the publisher, Elissa Matulis Myers, had this to say about the efforts within many different types of associations (like DHIA) to merge local chapters (local associations).

"To borrow a phrase from the remarkable architect Louis Henri Sullivan, 'Form ever follows function.' The proper distribution of power in an association network can only be determined after a careful analysis of the work to be done. Since, as associations, we have no direct profit motive, the traditionally American notion of 'free-market competition' seems less relevant to me in chapter relations than the notion of manifest destiny- we have a 'member-given' right to unite our industries or professions from sea to sea, protecting the freedom of the members to act individually and within their local units, but also protecting the sanctity and strength of the federation."

I was struck by the direct application of what Ms. Myers said to the current situation within Pennsylvania DHIA. The association's borders may not extend from sea to sea, but surely from one border of the Commonwealth to another. And within those borders our motive is consistent, to provide the best member services possible at cost (without making a profit).

I agree completely with Louis Sullivan that form follows function, which translates to mean that the work you have to do determines what your organizational structure (your form) will look like.

Years ago before the advent of the personal computer when DHIA was an Extension function our mission was far simpler than it is today. DHIA did not educate members because Extension did all that. DHIA had no significant competition because there were no computing systems for farms available. DHIA did not have to meet a wide variety of member needs because there was no variety and everyone managed, more or less, like everyone else. DHIA rarely had to change because technology just didn't change all that often. In those days a federated structure of local county associations worked well.

But, times have changed.

Extension resources are slimmer and are needed for many more missions than in the past, so time is not available to educate DHIA members like it used to be. Who's to do that now?

Times have changed.

The personal computer and dairy management software to go with it threaten to replace DHIA services on large farms that can afford computerized milking parlors. How can we respond?

Times have changed.

Dairy management technology is more complex with changes made faster than ever, and keeping up with new technology applications is tough for both members and DHIA staff. The need to get services to members faster creates its own problems because DHIA cannot effectively direct its field service resources (Supervisors).

Design Affects Outcome

Sullivan said an architect must select the best form to accomplish the job. He can't design a warehouse and then expect it to serve well as a hospital when the work activities change from storage of containers to health care for humans.

4-H Presentations Lead Winners To Regionals

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — One of the greatest fears kids have is public speaking. But winners in the Lancaster County 4-H Presentation Day on Tuesday at the Farm and Home Center put the fear behind them on their way to regional competition later in the week.

The contest was a "stepping stone" to the regionals, held last Thursday night in Carlisle. From there, winners were selected to compete at the state 4-H Days at Penn State on August 6-10.

In all, about 22 4-H members

Times and tasks have changed for DHIA and its members. And DHIA's structure (form) must change to do the job that members expect and need. The time has come when a federated system of local associations must be replaced with a single, direct-member association to meet today's primary responsibility of getting new technology and services to members quickly, efficiently and uniformly.

One might ask where these doggoned changes keep coming from anyway? And if change is the problem, why don't we just stop it? Well, simply put, because we cannot. Many of them come about from forces in the market place. Take, for example, changing consumer demand that now rejects animal fat in the American diet. We cannot control such forces, so we must learn to adapt to them to be successful.

That's where Ms. Myers' article really hit the mark as she finished with this: "...as another famous architect Richard Buckminster Fuller once said, 'Don't fight forces; use them.'"

Our challenge in DHIA today, and the purpose of reorganization in a nutshell, is to use the forces that are shaping our business environment to the ultimate benefit of DHIA members.

It is the responsibility of DHIA leadership, your elected leaders and staff, to build new organizations, as Ms. Myers says "... protecting the freedom of the members to act individually and within their local units, but also protecting the sanctity and strength of the federation." But such effort needs your support to succeed.

In my next column we'll look at the specifics of organization change in PA DHIA. Please stay tuned.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

FARM MANAGEMENT

LONG-TERM FINANCIAL CONSIDERATIONS OF CONSERVATION EASEMENTS

Russel Powell
Extension Agent
Business Management

(Last in a series on farmland preservation.)

Selling your conservation easement may mean cash in your pocket now, but what will it mean at tax time, or years in the future?

It is important that you carefully consider all of the financial implications of selling your conservation easement — now and for the future.

Income taxes

The sale of an easement will, in most cases, result in a capital gain which is currently taxed at 28 percent. You may not realize a capital gain because the land is revalued for tax purposes each time it changes hands. That value is called the land's basis.

The value of your easement will be compared to your basis to calculate capital gains. Most easements for land acquired in the last 10 years will be worth less than the basis, so there will probabaly be no capital gain.

However, if you have owned the land for many years, the easement value may be higher than your basis and you will pay capital gains tax on the difference. If you do not receive the maximum value of your easement, the difference between the maximum value and what you actually receive is considered a gift and can be written off to reduce your capital gain.

Property taxes

You obviously want to continue farming and hope that your heirs also want to farm. But consider the effect of property taxes on the profitability of the operation.

While farm value will decrease after selling your easement, the assessed value could increase if there is a reassessment. Even if the assessment remains the same, your total property taxes could increase if the millage rate increases.

The tax increase could be large enough to make your farming operation unprofitable. But after selling your easement, you no longer have the option of selling the land for anything but agriculture.

Selling an unprofitable business may be next to impossible, leaving you with an unprofitable business that you can't get sold.

Borrowing potential

Most lenders base their decision to make a loan on equity. Selling your easement not only reduces the market value of the land, but also your equity.

Your equity could be reduced to the point where you would be unable to obtain funds for capital improvement projects.

Check out the situation with your banker(s) before you apply to sell your easement.

Should you sell?

Will the money you receive for the easement grow faster than the land's development value? Probably not. Real estate is still a good investment and it is unlikely that you can find another investment that will appreciate as fast.

Still, there are several reasons to consider selling your easement. 1) Are you in financial trouble? If your debts are close to equalling assets, you might not be in business to collect on the increased development value of your land. Selling your easement might allow you to continue farming. 2) A more common reason is for estate planning purposes. To stay under the $600,000 level (no federal estate taxes are paid on estates under $600,000), you may need to distribute part of your assets to heirs prior to their inheritance. This is difficult to do when your only asset is the farm.

You could use the proceeds from the sale of your easement to distribute a portion of your estate as annual gifts, since cash is much easier to divide than land.

Restrictions

Remember that the restrictions you agree to by selling your easement severely limit your options to expand or diversify and could prevent you and any of your future heirs from taking advantage of future opportunities.

For instance, you could operate a farm market, but more than half of the products sold must come from your farm. You probably would not be allowed to become a seed or implement dealer, or engage in other agriculture-related ventures on your land.

Other considerations

Conservation easements allow you to continue farming while cashing in on the development value of your land.

The money can be used for expansion (within the established guidelines), retirement, investment, or vacations. But you must be committed to farming forever because you and your heirs will forfeit your right to ever sell the land for development.

The decision should not be taken lightly. Consult with family, tax consultant, management advisor, attorney, and banker. Then consider all the implications of the many factors which we have discussed in this series of articles before you take action on the sale of your perpetual easement.

Barley Resists Virus

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — A new barley cultivar developed by Dr. Marvin L. Risius, professor of agronomy at Penn State University, shows strong resistance to a virus that reduces yields of susceptible barley varieties up to 50 percent and threatens cereal crops worldwide.

In a recent study funded in part by the Pennsylvania Foundation Seed Cooperative, Pennco barley, a winter variety, was found to be highly resistant to barley yellow dwarf virus.

Risius and Dr. Fred Gildow, associate professor of plant pathology, conducted laboratory and field experiments comparing viral resistance in Pennco to four other popular cultivars: Barsoy, Maury, Venus, and Wysor. Healthy plants of each cultivar were infested with virus-carrying aphids and then tested several weeks later for virus content and effects on grain yield. Virus levels were lowest in leaf tissue of Pennco and highest in Barsoy, the most susceptible cultivar. The virus had little effect on grain yield of Pennco, Venus, and Wysor, but significantly reduced yields of Barsoy and Maury.

Symptoms of barley yellow dwarf are not easily recognized and are often attributed to nutritional disorders or poor growing conditions. Barley plants infected with the virus often have yellowed leaves, which may become red or purple. The degree of dwarfing depends on the plant's growth stage when infected, as well as susceptibility of the variety.

Four distinct virus strains of the virus occur in Pennsylvania, each spread by different species of aphids. Aphids are ideal vectors for the virus. They reproduce rapidly and can travel great distances.

Aphids acquire the virus when feeding on infected plants, then transmit the virus to healthy plants with their piercing mouthparts. Because of the common occurrence of aphids in cereals and their efficiency in virus transmission, barley yellow dwarf virus is probably the most widely distributed viral pathogen of small grains.

Winners Meet Challenges Of FFA Activities Week

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Approximately 1,300 statewide FFA members competed at the 1990 annual Activities Week, held last month at Penn State.

FFA members from counties throughout the state competed in a wide arrange of activities, from ag mechanics to wildlife.

"FFA Activities Week provides an opportunity for FFA members across the state to compete, to exchange ideas, to make policies, and to elect state officers," said David Manzo, state FFA facilitator.

Manzo said the intent of the FFA Week was to give FFA mem-

Youth Hand Down Decision: Dairy Judging Schools Are Great

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON COUNTY — Youth from the eastern portion of the state spent a couple days this week traveling to a number of Lebanon County dairy farms practicing one of mankind's oldest practiced skills — judging livestock.

From the time hunter-gatherers had to select from free-roaming herds which animal would be the target for a meal, to modern times when minutely specific qualities and traits are carefully considered and analyzed for breeding programs, the need to make a good decision has never decreased in value.

Such is the goal of judging schools.

Sponsored by the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, judging schools have been offered for more than a decade and according to its current students and some graduates, it is a valuable and inexpensive education.

There are two schools held annually, one in the western part of the state and the eastern school. They are offered to all interested youth.

According to Kenneth Rainey, the purpose of the schools is both to inform the youth and to provide an opportunity for them to meet and get to know each other.

About 150 youth participated in the two schools this year, Rainey said. He said the number between the two was about even.

Paul Knight, judge for the eastern dairy judging school sponsored by the Pa. Holstein Association, judges this group of Brown Swiss owned by Gary Mase, Lebanon.

Paul Maulfair smiles as he leads one of his top Ayrshire cows to be judged by the visiting students of the Pa. Holstein Association-sponsored dairy judging school.

All aspects of the cow are important to consider when judging is concerned, especially when they are some of the best animals around.

While others in the backround continue to review a class of Holsteins at the John Bomgardner Farm, in Ono, this trio of dairy cattle judging school students jot down their ranking of the cows and the reasons as part of a final exam.

For some, participation in the school goes beyond being better able to judge cow flesh.

"Basically my dad's always been judging and I enjoy it too," said 12-year-old Matthew Day, Shippensburg.

The senior Day was involved in judging the Maryland Spring Show, the regional FFA and Franklin County 4-H dairy show.

Matthew said someday he would also like to be a judge of dairy animals.

"My dad kind of motivates me," he said. "He gives us classes at home to judge, and its fun."

During the two days, Day said he learned several things.

"How to give a better set of reasons and what you should really look for," he said.

But even if a judging position, which takes a number of years and certification by the Purebred Dairy Cattle Association, Day said the experience is valuable.

"If I ever get into the dairy business, it would help when you buy animals so you wouldn't get suckered when buying the animals."

He said he started judging through 4-H as an 8-year-old. "My dad got me started and said try it, and I got hooked."

The Days milk about 50 registered Holsteins on about 120 acres. They are relatively new residents to Pennsylvania, having moved from Maryland in the spring of 1989.

Matthew's younger brother, David, 10, also was at the school, though a little less talkative and more inhibited than Matthew, who showed no fear while judging a class of aged Holsteins at the 600-acre Hostetter farm in Annville.

Whiie talking to the class of judges-to-be, Matthew gave his reasons for selecting the class in order from one to four. He threw his notes to the ground and began his discourse, never stumbling or faltering.

Next to judge was school judge Paul Knight, from Woodbine Farms, Airville. Each of the dairy schools uses a certified judge to do a final judging of each class of ani-

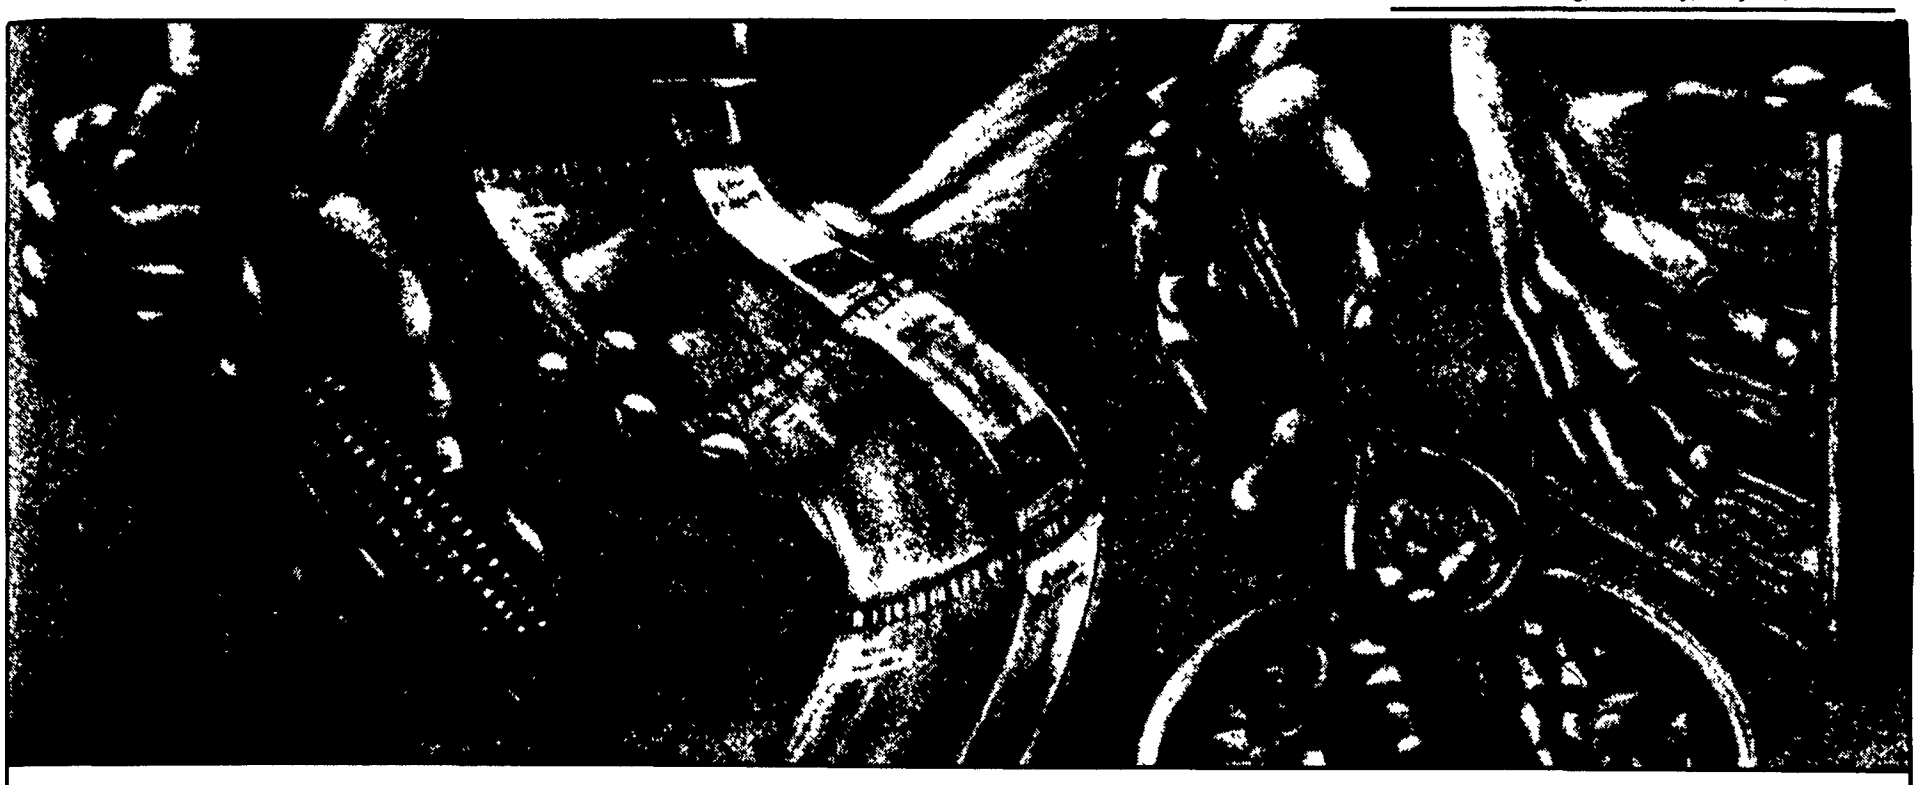
David Lentz, Lebanon, jots down a couple notes to be used in judging a group of cows during dairy judging school.

James Lenhart, from Thurmont Md., examines the rear utter attatchments on this group of Holsteins.



Announcing A Program Whose Success We All Have A Hand In.

Here in Pennsylvania, we feel enormous pride about the kind of work we do. Hard work. Dedicated work. Caring work.

And now, a special program, which reflects that very feeling, has begun. Telling the story of Pennsylvania's agriculture/food industry—and of our proud commitment to quality—it's a program whose success we all have a stake in.

And an important part to play.

Together, We Can Tell Everyone About Pennsylvania Quality. And Pennsylvania Pride.

Pennsylvania Pride is a comprehensive media (radio, newspaper, point-of-purchase) campaign designed to spread the word about agriculture, food and fiber products grown, produced and processed by proud Pennsylvanians.

As we spread the word, the Pennsylvania Pride symbol on, or near, your products and/or packaging will help to spread our state's quality reputation, and inform consumers of your own commitment to their satisfaction. It gives fellow Pennsylvanians a positive, effective way to support the economy we all depend on.

The bottom line? By encouraging the public to share in our pride, we're creating more profitable opportunities for our industry.

That's how Pennsylvania Pride can help you.

Backed By Marketing . . . Supported By Advertising And Promotion . . . And Driven By Consumer Research.

The advertising we're placing on radio and billboards and in newspapers and magazines, along with point-of-purchase promotions, brochures and press articles all make the program visible. But it takes a lot more to make our program work.

Pennsylvania Pride has been conceived along carefully planned strategy lines to produce results for you. Each campaign component associates Pennsylvania Pride —and thus, your products and/or brands—with the powerful consumer benefits of taste, convenience, healthfulness, value and safety. It is supported by market research, with guaranteed customer satisfaction as the ultimate hallmark.

That's how we know it will work.

Now Is The Time To Pledge Your Support.

When you pledge your commitment to quality by enrolling in Pennsylvania Pride, the program starts working for you. It's virtually that simple.

Of course, when you sign up, we can tell you a whole lot more. About the unique partnership that's bringing private industry together. About the success of similar programs in competitive states. And the many ways you can play a large hand in this show of pride.

So make it a show of pride. Pledge your support today by calling Ronald L. Gaskill, Director, Bureau of Market Development, at (717) 787-4210. Or by writing to Pennsylvania Pride, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Market Development, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110.

Lancaster Ford

Wins President's Award

LANCASTER, (Lancaster Co.) — Larry Groff, President and General Manager of Lancaster Ford Tractor runs his business with an interesting philosophy. Price is soon forgotten, but poor service is never forgotten. Groff has obviously instilled this in his employees as well. Recently Lancaster Ford was one of only five percent of Ford New Holland dealers in North America that received the Ford New Holland President's Award. The award was given for outstanding evaluation for customer satisfaction.

Not one to get overly excited about awards, Groff viewed this award a bit differently. "This award was judged by our customers. They reported directly to Ford New Holland as to their service experiences from the time of initial sales contact to the service received in all areas of the dealership for a one year period. Sometimes when you have the opportunity on a daily basis to see the human errors that are made within the dealership it gets frustrating. This award helped me to see that excellence in customer satisfaction is not only a possibility, it can be a reality."

Customer satisfaction or dissatisfaction is made up of many different components. From the person who answers the phone, to the book keeper, the salesman, the parts person and the service technicians. All are intricately interwoven into a system that will either make a customer's experience at the dealership a satisfying one or a dissatisfying one.

Groff has been the general manager of Lancaster Ford Tractor since 1980. With his deep commitment to the many customers that he and his employees serve it looks like Lancaster Ford will be here for many more years.

Ron Boughton, Ford New Holland dealer zone representative, presents the President Award to Larry Groff. As Groff received the award, he said, "The people behind me, Chris, Clint, Ruth Ann, Diane, Buzz, Craig, Paul, Jerry, Allan, Mike and two employees not here for the picture, Denny and Chuck are the people that made this award possible."

FOR THE WEEK ENDING JULY 8
EXCELLENT WEEK FOR FIELDWORK

Pennsylvania, during the past week, experienced slightly above normal temperatures and well below normal precipitation. Most of the precipitation fell in the north and west sections of the State. The Lower Susquehanna, Southeastern Piedmont and East Central Mountains continue drier than normal. Average temperature across the State was slightly above normal. Six days were suitable for fieldwork. Activities for the week incllluded: planting corn, soybeans and vegetables; harvesting hay, haylage, barley and vegetables; repairing fence; weed control; hauling manure; spreading fertilizer; maintaining machinery; and caring for livestock.

SOIL MOISTURE

Soil moisture, across the State, was rated short by 47 percent of our respondents, adequate by 49 percent and surplus by 4 percent. In the northern region, 20 percent rated soil moisture as short, 76 percent rated it as adequate, and 4 percent rated it as surplus. In the central region, 53 percent of our respondents rated soil moisture as short, adequate by 41 percent and 6 percent rated it as surplus. In the southern region, 72 percent of our respondents rated soil moisture as short and 28 percent rated soil moisture as adequate.

CORN

The Commonwealth's corn planting was 100 percent complete, by week's end. Last year at this time, 99 percent was planted. The five-year average was 100 percent. In the northern, central and southern regions planting was 99, 100, and 100 percent completed, respectively. Respondents rated corn condition as 21 percent excellent, 47 percent good, 25 percent fair, 6 percent poor, and 1 percent very poor. Across the State, corn height averaged 25 inches.

SOYBEANS

Pennsylvania soybean planting was 95 percent complete by the end of the week. As of this date last year, 83 percent was planted. The five-year average was 95 percent. Soybean condition across the State was rated 19 percent excellent, 52 percent good, 21 percent fair, 6 percent poor, and 2 percent very poor.

OATS

By week's end, 74 percent of Pennsylvania oats were in the heading stage, 24 percent were turning yellow, and 2 percent were ripe. Last year at this time, 80 percent of the oats crop was in the heading or headed stage, 18 percent was turning yellow, and 2 percent was ripe. Our respondents rated the oats crop condition across the Commonwealth as 30 percent excellent, 52 percent good, 15 percent fair, 2 percent poor, and 1 percent very poor.

WHEAT AND BARLEY

Wheat, across Pennsylvania, was reported as 17 percent heading, 47 percent turning yellow, 30 percent ripe, and 6 percent harvested, by week's end. Last year's wheat was 19 percent headed, 53 percent turning yellow and 3 percent ripe at this time. The wheat crop was rated 21 percent excellent, 60 percent good, 15 percent fair, 2 percent poor, and 2 percent very poor by our respondents. Pennsylvania barley was 13 percent heading, 23 percent turning yellow, 20 percent ripe, and 44 percent had been harvested. At this time last year, the State's barley was 11 percent heading, 21 percent was turning yellow, 35 percent ripe, and 33 percent harvested.

CENTRE HALL (Centre Co.) — Tired of spreading manure every day, even through snow and ice? Wondering how soon the government is going to demand all farmers have manure storage pits to prevent run-off?

For Centre County farmers wanting answers to manure management problems, the County Extension Service, ASCS, and Soil Conservation District, conducted a tour of five dairy farms with different manure handling

TOBACCO

Pennsylvania's tobacco had been 100 percent transplanted by the end of the week, according to our respondents. At this time last year, 94 percent of the State's tobacco had been transplanted. The five-year average was 98 percent.

FRUIT

Respondents rated the peach crop condition in Pennsylvania as 70 percent average and 30 percent below average. Apple crop condition was rated 86 percent average and 14 percent below average.

HAY AND PASTURE

By week's end, 94 percent of Pennsylvania's first cutting of alfalfa and 23 percent of the second cutting had been completed. Last year, 70 percent of the first cutting and 17 percent of the second cutting were completed. By the end of the week, 81 percent of clover-timothy was cut. Last year, 57 percent had been cut. Quality of hay was rated 38 percent good, 58 percent fair, and 4 percent poor by our respondents. Respondents rated the amount of feed being obtained from pastures by week's end as 11 percent above average, 64 percent average, and 25 percent below average.

GET THE EXTRA EDGE

Put a Vicon three-bladed disc mower conditioner through wet, heavy, tangled crops. Then compare the difference.

With almost double the number of cuts per minute over two-bladed disc competitiors, and six times the cuts per minute over sicklebar systems, it's easy to understand the clean, fast, NO PLUG performance of Vicon KM disc mower conditioners.

Add the extra suction created by Vicon's unique triangular discs, the full swivel hitch that lets you cut square corners on the move, and gentle, full width conditioning, and you're looking at a high capacity machine that puts productivity in a whole new dimension. Four models cut from 7′ to 10′6″ widths.

Mid-Atlantic Dairy Farmers Host Thousands At Philadelphia

TOWSON, MD — Nearly 17,000 ice cream lovers recently tested the old saying, "An ice cream cone can solve any problem — even if it's only for a few minutes" during "Everyday Is Sundae", Philadelphia's fourth annual ice cream festival, sponsored by dairy farmers of the Mid-Atlantic area. The smiling faces of children, tourists and business people who gathered on Independence Mall on Thursday, June 28, proved that adage to be true.

Mid-Atlantic dairy farmers hosted nearly 17,000 people at the fourth annual Philadelphia free ice cream fest, "Everyday Is Sundae" on Thursday, June 28 at Independence Mall. The event is organized by MAMMA to enable ice cream manufacturers to introduce consumers to new products and flavors.

For the fourth year in a row many of the Mid-Atlantic region's premier ice cream manufacturers gave away tons of ice cream, frozen yogurt and novelty items to launch July as National Ice Cream month. "Everyday Is Sundae" is as popular with the ice cream manufacturers as it is with those sampling the free ice cream. Organized by the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association, Philadelphia's ice cream fest gives ice cream manufacturers the perfect showcase.

"Many of the ice cream manufacturers use the day to feature new products, launch their new flavors or spark a lagging brand," said Kelli Giglio, MAMMA Program Director. "This year the crowd is definitely larger than ever before and the ICM's have moved more product which is the reason why we are here to reach consumers."

Haagen-Dazs, Jack & Jill, Matts Ice Cream, Friendly's, Cloister Ice Cream, Breyer's, Bassetts, Ben & Jerry's and Turkey Hill distributed the nation's most popular dessert for free from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Many of the manufacturers agreed it was the best "Everyday Is Sundae" in their four years of participating in the event. Root beer for the ice cream sodas was provided by Barq's Root Beer of Philadelphia.

Laurie Hicks, Chester County Dairy Princess, assists Breyers in handing out coupons. Dairy Princesses from eight counties scooped ice cream and yogurt, distributed coupons and performed skits for the children all to make this ice cream fest one of the best yet.

"Coverage of the event from the five top Philadelphia television stations including the NBC, CBS and ABC affiliates, the day of the event increased the public's awareness of July as National Ice Cream Month.

Young Leaders Attend Cooperative Program

involved. Involvement comes from rural people who have similar backgrounds and desires.

To illustrate the usefulness of cooperatives, Rush used the word "cares" and gave each letter meaning--Cooperatives Actively Resolve Economic Solutions.

Joyce Bupp, director, Dairymen Inc., and Lancaster Farming's York County correspondent, said "I'm afraid we sometimes forget why we formed cooperatives. Cooperatives are power, but in order to keep that power we need to keep a viable organization. We sometimes take cooperatives for granted and I get concerned.

"We get notices of co-op meetings but we don't have time to attend. But if we are not active, we may lose them. That's the challenge. And it's up to you young cooperators. You will soon be the officers and directors. You are the ones we are depending on."

Bupp listed problems that face cooperatives--fewer farmers, less understanding of farming in the city, less understanding in government, environmental issues, smaller labor force and people who think we don't need cooperatives.

"We must remember the struggle that brought us together, but we must be flexiable to meet the needs of today," Bupp said. Individually, you can accomplish very little, but working together you can accomplish much. You spell power 'Co-Op.'"

Carol Buckhout, executive director, said the group of young leaders many of them young married couples were articulate and well informed. "This is a tremendous group of young people," Buckhout said.

Representatives from Pennsylvania's four regions are chosen from attendees to help plan the program for next year. Clifford & Joyce Blank, Gap, were chosen to chair the 1991 program. Leader couples selected included, Dean & Dorothy Jackson, Columbia Cross Roads, Northern Region; Tim & Debbie Kurtz, Elverson, Southeastern Region; Stanley & Glina Meyers, Greencastle, South Central Region and Walter & Lisa Royek, Corry, Western Region.

The leaders for the conference this week were: Gordon & Carole Hoover, Gap, chairs; James Barnes, Lawrenceville, Northern Region; the Blanks; Elam & Diana Meyers, St. Thomas, South Central Region and Tim & Annette Tobin, Edinboro, Western Region.

Other participants included, Northern Region, Jacob & Susan Boyle, Sunbury; Donald & Colleen Brooks, Springville; Randy & Darlene Castle, Canton; Barry & Michelle Woodruff, Danville; Felicia Woodruff, Danville; Kent & Coreena Meyers, Loganton; and Dale & Cathy Neufeld, Towanda.

Southeastern Region, Darryl & Stacey Knechel, Harleysville; & Sharon Hodge, Romanmsville; Timothy & Phyllis Barlow, Cochranville; Dwayne & Karen Peifer, Kirkwood; Phares & Francess Musser, Newmanstown; Ty & Tracy Long, Hershey; and Neal & Debbie Moyer, Perkasie.

South Central Region, Allen Kretzing; Brian Fleisher, Newport; Kevin & Cheryl Lehman; William & Jeanette Hunsberger, Davidsville; and Dale & Diane Lehman, Chambersburg.

CHORE-TIME® 's NEW H2 FEEDER IS WHAT YOU NEED

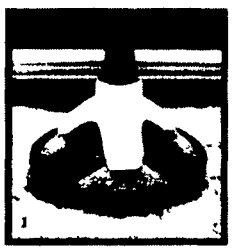
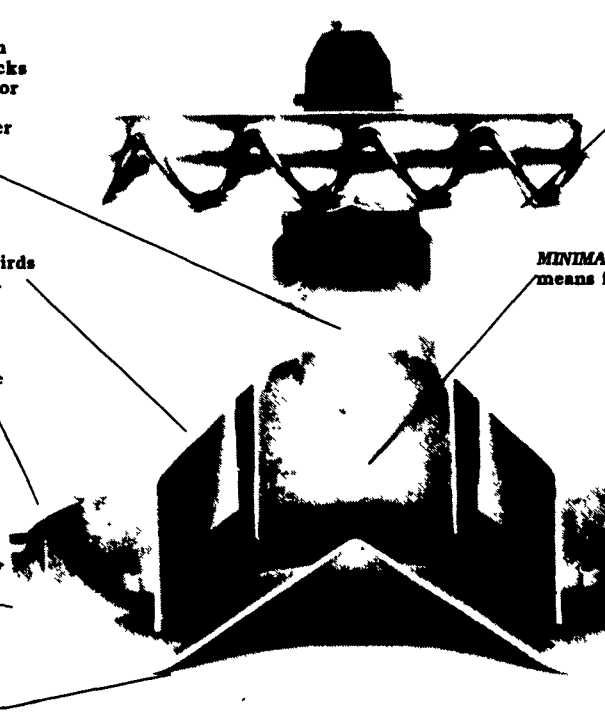
H2 Broiler Feeder With Flood Gates Open, Fills Pan With Overflow Onto The Paper For Quick Starts With Minimum Waste.



H2 Turkey Poult Feeder Has Feed Chutes To Fill Pan Without Any Spillage Onto Shavings.

Pan Hangs On Cone For Easy Cleaning.

- OUR 10-YEAR WARRANTY on the auger and 5-year warranty on the pan says it all - WE STAND BEHIND IT!
- ALL-PLASTIC FEEDER consists of 3 simple, rugged polypropylene parts for permanent corrosion-proofing. Pan easily removes for clean-out and hangs from feeder for drying and storage.



FEED WINDOW (when Feed Gate is open) automatically floods pan with feed to attract chicks from day one. Saves labor — no more hauling and scooping feed into feeder pans!
ROLL-FORMED TUBE is galvanized inside and out for rust-resistance.
LARGE DOME discourages growing birds from getting into pan.
MINIMAL FEED STORAGE within dome means fresh feed quickly to all birds.
SELF-LEVELING PAN — a patented Chore-Time feature — cuts feed waste and bird bruising since pans can swing.
EASY-TO-ADJUST FEED LEVEL lets you set feed opening to allow for different types of feed you might decide to use.
UNIQUE PAN SHAPE and low pan height is ideal for chicks, with no grill to obstruct eating. Pan has 13" inch diameter.
BUILT-IN HIGH CONE evenly distributes feed in pan, prevents stale feed buildup in feed level tube.

30 YEARS AGO
THIS WEEK

-Barry Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, New Providence R1, was elected president of the Solanco Chapter of Future Farmers of America at their meeting in the vocational agriculture building Monday night.

Smith, who will be a senior at Solanco this fall, has a farming program including several thousand broilers each year as well as field crops and Guernsey cattle.

Other officers elected were James Herr, Quarryville R2, vice president; William Maule, Quarryville R2, secretary; Glenn Kunkel, New Providence R1, treasurer; Harold Redcay, Quarryville R2, reporter; Donald Ressler, New Providence R1, sentinel, and Richard Carnathan, New Providence R1, chaplain.

-Members of the Society of Farm Women No. Six plan to hold a family night and covered dish social in the Elizabethtown Park on July 26, at 6:30.

Other features of the July 9 meeting of the group, in the home of Mrs. Jonas Parrett, who was also in charge of devotions, were pictures of the Hershey flower gardens and the DuPont gardens, as well as pictures taken by Mr. John Heisey on his trip to Nova Scotia.

Co-hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Jonas Parrett and Mrs. Henry Breneman, and Mrs. Musser Heisey. News reporter for the group is Mrs. C. R. Frey, Elizabethtown.

-July 29 has been selected as the date for the revival of the Lancaster County Plowing contest, according to Henry Givler, secretary-treasurer of the county Soil and Conservation District.

The program will be a revival of the now defunct county contest last held in conjunction with the Mount Joy Farm Show.

Sponsored by the county Soil Conservation District Directors, the contest this year will feature only level land plowing on the R. S. Royer farm at Ephrata R2. Rain date for the contest is August 2 at 10 a.m.

-Lancaster County will be represented by 16 4-H club members in the first district demonstration contest at the Kutztown Fair Grounds on July 19.

The Garden Spot county will have teams of two in eight different contests. They will include the following: dairy demonstration, James Brubaker, Lititz R1, and Florence Mae Flory, Manheim R1. Electric demonstration, Richarde Glass, 315 Pitney Road, Lancaster and Richard Leaman, 2554 Creek Hill Road, Lancaster; Livestock conservation, John Good and James Hess, both of Manheim R1; Flowers, Mary Jane Kreider, Manheim R3 and Shirley Clark, Manheim R1: Entomology, Wilmer Wenger, 76 Greenfield Road and David Denlinger, 2351 Horseshoe Road, Lancaster; Tractor, Gerald Kreider and Paul Trimble, both of Quarryville R1; Vegetables, Victoria and Stephen Martin, Drumore; Horse demonstration, Sidney Ann and Barbara Shoemaker of Quarryville R2.

American Farmland Trust Sponsors Program

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. — The American Farmland Trust (AFT) is sponsoring a workshop for administrators of county Farmland Protection Programs on July 17 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., in the Pa. Department of Agriculture Building 3rd floor conference room.

The workshop will feature technical presentations on the tax implications of conservation easements and the appraisal process.

Featured speakers include Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff, state Program Director Fred Wertz, appraisers Cliff Huffman and Page Kimball, as well as AFT's General Counsel and Chair of the Montgomery County, Md., Agricultural Preservation Advisory Board, Edward P. Thompson, Jr.

AFT is the only national, nonprofit conservation organization solely dedicated to protecting America's best farmland. Founded in 1980 in response to the shrinking agricultural land base, today AFT's concerns also extend to the economic and environmental pressures affecting farmland.

Conveyor unloads fast.
The 30-inch wide front conveyor provides 30% faster unloading than the auger type discharge systems without binding or wedging Performance-tested chain and steel slat construction outwears and out performs conventional auger discharges The Oswalt conveyor does not allow stringy grainy roughage to clog up and separate from other feed components Flow is smooth and constant so rations remain uniform Discharge chute is fitted with a powerful magnet that keeps tramp iron out of feed

Tuff Glide conveyor liners greatly extend the life of the conveyor preventing rust and wear Conveyor also features an external chain take up for easy maintenance

Patented square auger design
Proven square sectional top augers provide outstanding agitator mixing action Each unique square corner grabs the ration to produce a thorough blending of ingredients Heavy duty sectional notched bottom auger and exclusive Oswalt shear shelf construction help eliminate wedging by pulling roughage materials apart

Exclusive conveyor drive
The Oswalt conveyor engages with a simple trouble free dog clutch This simple rugged clutch assembly was designed to eliminate the problems encountered with competitive designs such as slippage and maintenance

These Oswalt Mixers do a better job of mixing and carry the industry's only five-year mixer warranty!

Mix and process your rations and hay... the Oswalt way

Better design and more know-how have made Oswalt the leader in mixing.
Oswalt TMR/Hay Processors are clearly superior in their ability to mix all types of ration ingredients including dry hay A reel type mixer, particularly when fully loaded, retains a quantity of the dry hay in the center of the reel which then simply turns over with the reel and receives little mixing Your hay just gets a free ride and your final mix is uneven at best In an Oswalt TMR/Hay Processor, the hay is processed and evenly and aggressively mixed throughout the ration It has no place to hide

A key element of mixing dry hay into a ration is processing the hay while all ration ingredients are being mixed That means tearing the hay apart and reducing fiber length during the mixing process

In an Oswalt the notched bottom auger working against the shear shelf does the primary job of tearing the hay slabs apart and reducing the length of long hay stems

The aggressive square top augers (a patented Oswalt exclusive) grab the hay slabs and finish the processing job

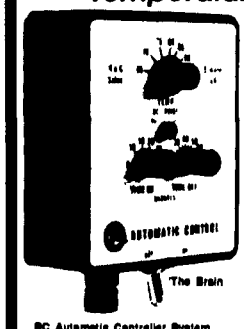
POULTRYMEN...

Increase Your Profits By Reducing The Temperature In Your Poultry House.



RC Automatic Controller System

During hot summer months the worst enemy of a poultry grower is heat. High temperatures cause stress on his poultry, during prolonged periods of high temperatures he can loose many thousands of birds in a very short period of time.

RC Fogger Nozzles are designed to produce a fine mist that acts as air conditioning in a poultry house.

Cooling poultry in hot weather by fogging or misting is recognized as being the most effective means for reducing stress, thereby increasing the efficiency of feed conversion and reducing mortality. By far the most economical method to accomplish cooling in the poultry house is the use of fogger nozzles.

There is no comparison between the RC-4025-2 Fogger Nozzle and any other means of cooling.

Follow Pesticide Basics To Make Application Safe

NEWARK, DE — You can make a difference when it comes to preserving the quality of your water, according to Joanne Whalen, University of Delaware Extension integrated pest management specialist. If not done correctly, fertilizing your home, landscape and other pest control activities can pose a threat to groundwater.

"Pesticides can be an important management tool, but they can also cause severe problems if misused," says Whalen. "Always read the label before you buy. Make sure the pest you want to control is on the label as well as the plant or place where you intend to use it. And follow the instructions exactly. Pay special attention to precautions and information about what to do in case of an accident."

The specialist suggests purchasing the smallest quantity of pesticide that you need. If your problem requires a one-time application, a smaller quantity will be more cost-efficient and reduce the problems of storage and disposal.

Many pesticides have to be mixed before application. Whalen offers the following tips to help you avoid any mixing problems.

- Mix only what you need.
- Always dilute pesticide concentrates according to label directions.
- Keep special tools for measuring and mixing pesticides outside of the house.
- Never eat, drink or smoke while mixing chemicals, and be sure to wash up after you are done.
- Never mix pesticides with anything unless the label directs you to do so.
- Store flammable pesticides away from flames and hot places. The label will tell you if a pesticide is flammable.

Protect yourself by wearing rubber gloves, long-sleeved shirts, long pants and goggles when mixing.

Protective clothing is advisable when applying pesticides. Whalen also suggests keeping one sprayer for insecticides and fungicides and another for herbicides.

Before application, always check equipment for leaking hoses and connections, and for plugged, worn or dripping nozzles. This will prevent leaking of chemicals in non-target areas. Next clear all people, pets, toys, food or dishes from the area until the spray has dried for as long as the label directs.

"Treat only plants that need it," Whalen urges. "You may kill beneficial imsects if you overspray. To avoid drift onto yourself or to areas you don't intent to treat, don't spray on windy days. Generally, the safest times of the day to spray to avoid drift are early morning and late evening. You can also avoid drift by using low-pressure end nozzles with large openings. If a wind comes up while you are working, it is best to stop immediately.

"Timing is important," Whalen adds. "Insects and weeds are easier to kill when they're young. And fungicides are usually applied as a protectant before the disease occurs.

"Good plant coverage is important, too" she continues. "If a pest occurs on a particular part of the plant, be sure the spray reaches that area of the plant."

After pesticide application, clean all equipment immediately. If you have any leftover pesticide, spray it over areas that you know it will not harm. The addition of chlorine bleach or lime to the surplus solution will help break it down. Equipment should be cleaned inside and out with clean water. Don't forget to flush out hoses and nozzles.

Disposing of pesticides can pose a problem. Since pesticides are expensive, the prudent user will mix only the amount needed for immediate application, Whalen says. However, there may be an occasion when you must dispose of excess pesticides.

Never pour a pesticide down the drain. The best way to dispose of a small quantity is to apply it according to label instructions, the specialist notes. Always check the label to avoid exceeding specific application rates and to be sure that the site is listed on the label.

If that is not practical, you must arrange for the material to be transported to a sanitary landfill. Pesticides disposed of in landfills should be kept in their original containers and wrapped in a heavy layer of newspaper. Tie the bundle securely with a cord, place it in a plastic trash bag. Empty paper pesticide containers should be flattened and rolled for disposal. Then wrap the containers in heavy paper and tie securely with a cord. Plastic, metal and glass containers must be triple-rinsed prior to disposal. Do not pour the rinse water onto the ground or street. Rinse water should be sprayed on a site listed on the label.

Only quantities of one gallon or less liquid or 10 pounds or less of dry material may be disposed of in this manner. Larger quantities may be hazardous. Contact the Delaware Division of Natural Resources and Environmental Control, Division of Waste Management for specific instructions for disposal.

As a final note, Whalen urges applicators to see their physicians if they exhibit any of the following symptoms of accidental poisoning: headaches; dizziness, weakness, shaking, nausea, stomach cramps, diarrhea, sweating amd muscle twitching.

ULTRAFLO OUT-PERFORMS CHAIN

45 Million Birds In 5 Years Prove It

Chore-Time's ULTRAFLO® feeder for layers, pullets and breeders

We have probably been too modest up to now about the merits of our new generation ULTRAFLO® cage feeder vs. the old style chain feeders some of our competitors are still trying to sell you. In fact, the only negative comments about our feeder come from our competition, not our customers. So we would like to point out the bare facts:

FEED SAVINGS: On-farm results show a feed savings of ½ lb. per 100 birds per day – over $10,000 per year savings on a 100,000-bird house. Year after year.

TROUBLE-FREE DESIGN: Our feeder has only two moving parts – the one-piece auger plus each drive wheel; their chain has more. Our corners are heavy 12 ga. zinc plated tubing for long life; their corners have a reputation for trouble and short life.

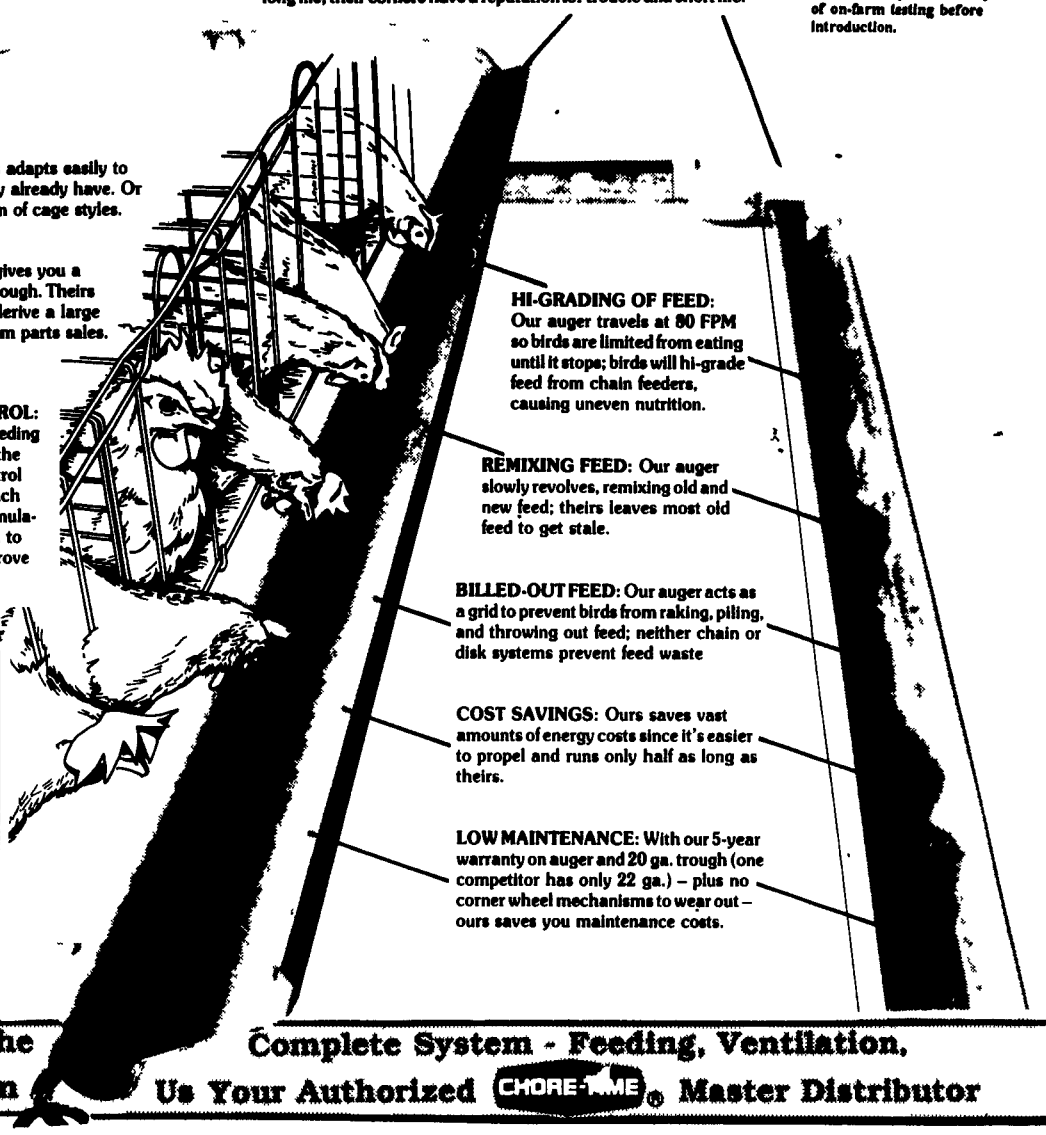
PROVEN DESIGN: Over 45 million birds are already on our feeder worldwide. Also, it was proven in 5 years of on-farm testing before introduction.

EASY ADAPTABILITY: Ours adapts easily to existing cage systems you may already have. Or choose from our wide selection of cage styles.

5-YEAR WARRANTY: Ours gives you a 5-year warranty on auger and trough. Theirs doesn't. In fact, their dealers derive a large percentage of their income from parts sales. Ours don't.

MICROPROCESSOR CONTROL: Our control lets you program feeding time to the second, to match the exact time of one circuit. Control number of feedings, time of each feeding – also 10-second "Stimulation Cycles" between feedings, to minimize separation, and improve your birds' feed intake.

SIMPLE OPERATION: "Push-pull" Power Units with ⅓ or ½ HP motor are located in a cage, have hardened steel gears for trouble-free operation.



HI-GRADING OF FEED: Our auger travels at 80 FPM so birds are limited from eating until it stops; birds will hi-grade feed from chain feeders, causing uneven nutrition.

REMIXING FEED: Our auger slowly revolves, remixing old and new feed; theirs leaves most old feed to get stale.

BILLED-OUT FEED: Our auger acts as a grid to prevent birds from raking, piling, and throwing out feed; neither chain or disk systems prevent feed waste

COST SAVINGS: Ours saves vast amounts of energy costs since it's easier to propel and runs only half as long as theirs.

LOW MAINTENANCE: With our 5-year warranty on auger and 20 ga. trough (one competitor has only 22 ga.) – plus no corner wheel mechanisms to wear out – ours saves you maintenance costs.

Show Officials Streamline All-American

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The East Coast's most prestigious dairy show is getting even better.

The 1990 Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show here September 24-27 will be one day shorter and have two more national breed shows than last year, show president Obie Snider announced.

The Imler dairyman noted that the new four-day show opens on Monday as usual but will close this year on Thursday.

"This is a first for the 27-year-old All-American but one welcomed by show-weary exhibitors," Snider said.

In 1989, some 2,400 sleek dairy cattle were entered in the All-American by breeders in 25 states and Canada. Snider said the streamlined 1990 show could attract even more.

Also "a first time ever," the All-American president added, is the lineup of six national breed shows. There were four in 1989.

Snider said Brown Swiss and Milking Shorthorn breeders will parade their top cows in Eastern National shows on Tuesday, September 25; the National Guernsey Show and Eastern National Ayrshire Show follow on Wednesday, September 26 and the Middle Atlantic Regional Jersey Show and Eastern National Holstein Show wind up activities on Thursday, September 27.

"The new four-day All-American required several schedule changes," Snider explained.

The Eastern National Holstein Show had previously carried over into Friday. This year it will be a one-day show.

The Supreme Champion finale has been shifted from Friday to late Thursday.

Both the Holstein sale and Herdsman's Buffet have been moved from Thursday to Wednesday night.

Four junior shows and contests retain their usual time slots on Monday and Tuesday, Snider announced. Other sale schedules will remain the same as past years.

Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy and Allied Industries Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Farm Show Commission and Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

For more information, premium lists and entry forms, write Charles Itle, manager, Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, Farm Show Complex, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, 17110-9408. Or call 717-787-2905.

Efficiency Edge

Every penny counts in animal agriculture today You can't afford anything less than the best the Harvestore feed processing system Whether you buy a new or pre owned Harvestore structure, your value per dollar invested has never been better

If you choose a pre-owned structure don't buy on price alone Unless your pre-owned Harvestore unit is built by an authorized, independent Harvestore system dealership, it might not meet the high standards of quality and performance for which the name "Harvestore" is famous

When your authorized dealer builds your pre-owned structure, his experienced crew will use a complete kit of genuine Harvestore brand replacement parts, including new bolts, nuts and washers, new breather bags, new door gaskets, and a new unloader trough This insures the uniform quality of your pre-owned structure

Your dealership will be there to support you with parts and service, too That means you can count on your structure to deliver all the advantages you've come to expect from the Harvestore brand

Kore J. Peachey, Milroy, PA

"That's right. But I soon had to change my mind.

You know, at first, people would tell me that if it worked, everybody would be using it. I think the time will come when they will.

For the past two years we've been on the Fertrell Feeding Program, and during that time we've earned Pennsylvania's 'Dairy of Distinction' Award, boosted our profit over feed costs to over $1900 per cow, and had one cow produce a 365-day record 29,000 lbs. of milk with 1,248 lbs. in fat. We've seen less stress in the cows and we've also noticed less udder edema. Even the quality of our hay is better with Fertrell. The protein levels are higher than they were, even during the drought. All I can say is, the Fertrell Program is the best I've tried."

World Dairy Expo Names Honorees

MADISON, Wisc.— The World Dairy Expo has named four top achievers in the dairy industry for 1990.

Nominated by fellow industry leaders and friends, "the four winners exemplify leadership, innovation and service to the dairy industry," said Greg Blaska, president of the board of directors.

The winners are: David F. Younger, Dairyman of the Year; Norma Lyon, Dairy Woman of the Year; Richard E. Nelson, Industry Person of the Year; Dr. Julio R. Brouwer, International Person of the Year.

Younger, 72, is from Yorktown Heights, N.Y. He served as a successful farm manager for 53 years, achieving high production, top prices, and helping to merchandize high quality cattle at new breed and world record prices.

A member of the Rotary Club, National Grange, and numerous national dairy organizations, Younger has also been active in youth development, including 4-H and college judging team coach.

Norma Lyon, from Toledo, IA, is the mother of nine children. She is an active partner in Lyon Jerseys dairy farm where she has been involved in all aspects of the operation.

An expert at milking and calf raising, Lyon has also fitted and shown Jerseys for many years.

She is a nationally known artist and sculptor, and has gained popularity for her sculpting of "butter" cows. Lyon, 61, has also devoted herself to helping 4-H, the elderly and the disabled in her community.

Nelson is executive assistant of domestic affairs for the Holstein Association of America. Nelson, 68, is from Brattleboro, VT, and has served the Holstein Association for 40 years. He's handled technical aspects of the Holstein registry process, but is known mainly for efforts in maintaining integrity and ethical practices in the Holstein industry.

He has been instrumental in working to eradicate brucellosis and in the use of electronic livestock identification. He's been recognized for distinguished service by the National Pedigree Livestock Council and the Iowa State University Dairy Club.

Dr. Brouwer, 75, of Key Biscayne, FL, is the 1990 International Dairy Person of the Year. A former Dean of the Veterinary University in Havana, Cuba, Brouwer also had a successful local pharmaceutical company until fleeing Cuba during Castro's rule.

Brouwer came to the United States and began a career with American Breeder Service in 1961. Through his work with ABS, Brouwer increased the popularity of United States genetics, artificial insemination and the quality of genetic selection of dairy breeds throughout Latin America and Caribbean.

The four top Honorees for 1990 will be honored at a World Dairy Expo Recognition Banquet on Tuesday, October 2, 1990.

The 1990 World Dairy Expo will be held October 3-7, at the Dane County Exposition Center in Madison, WI.

Lancaster Farmland Trust To Host Gala Celebration

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster Farmland Trust, the non-profit farmland preservation group, is hosting a Gala Celebration to kick off its 1990 funding campaign. The event will take place on Thursday, July 19th at the historic Rock Ford Barn from 7:00 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Dan Herr, Trust President, stated "The Trust is hosting this party to thank all of the farmers, friends and supporters who have helped make this year such a successful one. We've preserved over 1400 acres of farmland and reached our membership goal of 1000 members so we feel as though we have a lot to celebrate. We hope the excitement and momentum will carry into this year's fund drive as well."

Kathleen Bridgehouse, Lancaster Farmland Trust staff person, notes "the kick-off promises to be a fun evening with music by the Don Trostle Trio, dancing under the stars, unique hors d'ocuvres and various local wines. Rock Ford's natural beauty combined with floral designs by Nancy Gingrich will make the perfect setting for the Trust's first Gala Celebration."

For reservations please call the Lancaster Farmland Trust at 293-0707.

The Lancaster Farmland Trust is a non-profit, member supported organization dedicated to the preservation of Lancaster County's farmland and heritage. The Trust is located at 128 East Marion Street, Lancaster.

In Lancaster, 500 Acres Set Aside

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — For the 1990 acreage reduction programs, Lancaster County farmers will take 500 acres of cropland out of production and devote to conservation uses, according to Ray Brubaker, county executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The idled acreage includes 12 wheat acres and 488 feed grain acres.

"Acreage reduction acres and optional acreage diversions make up the total cropland removed from production," Brubaker said. Generally it is eligible land that has been devoted to a small grain or row crop in two of the past three years, he said.

Farmers who enrolled in the 1990 programs agreed to reduce plantings on their crop acreage bases by at least 10% for corn, sorghum, and barley and 5% for wheat and oats.

"By removing these acres from crop production, farmers will help balance supply and demand, and at the same time, realize a tremendous savings of soil and water resources on their acreage conservation reserve and conserving use acres," Brubaker said. Farm program participants agree to cover idled cropland acres with trees, grass, legumes, and small grains to protect the land from wind and water erosion. Residue from minimum-till or no-till practices also serve as a protective cover, Brubaker said.

To be eligible for full program benefits, farmers must maintain conservation protection on idled cropland throughout the program year, and keep the land free from weeds, insects, and rodents. The ASCS official said farmers who fail to carry out the conservation provisions of the 1990 program contract will be out of compliance and ineligible for price support loans, deficiency payments, and other benefits.

Nationally, 24.8 million acres of croplnd will be idled under the 1990 farm progams and placed under conservation.

systems on June 26.

George and Ron Zimmerman near Bellefonte have one of the older systems in the county. Built in 1977, the covered 48' square structure holds manure mixed with pipeline waste water for up to seven months from 38 cows. The manure is ram pumped from the barn through a 12" buried pipe into the pit.

Zimmermans' vertical-wall storage pit ranges from 5 to 11 feet in depth. It is unloaded twice a year--usually in April and October--using a stationary auger.

Besides the obvious advantage of only spreading manure twice a year, stored manure worked immediately into the ground at planting time may provide up to 100 lbs. of available nitrogen per acre plus other needed nutrients.

Zimmermans figure they save about $46 an acre on chemical fertilizers from this practice. Manure sample analyses done at A&L Laboratories give farmers guidelines to what available nutrients are in the manure. Test kits are available at all County Extension offices.

Bruce and Dan Ulmer don't need pumps for loading or unloading their liquid manure. In 1982 they installed a concrete panel open pit which is filled from the top with a standard barn cleaner. After adding water and agitating the manure, the pit is unloaded simply by gravitational pull through an above-ground pipe sloped downhill.

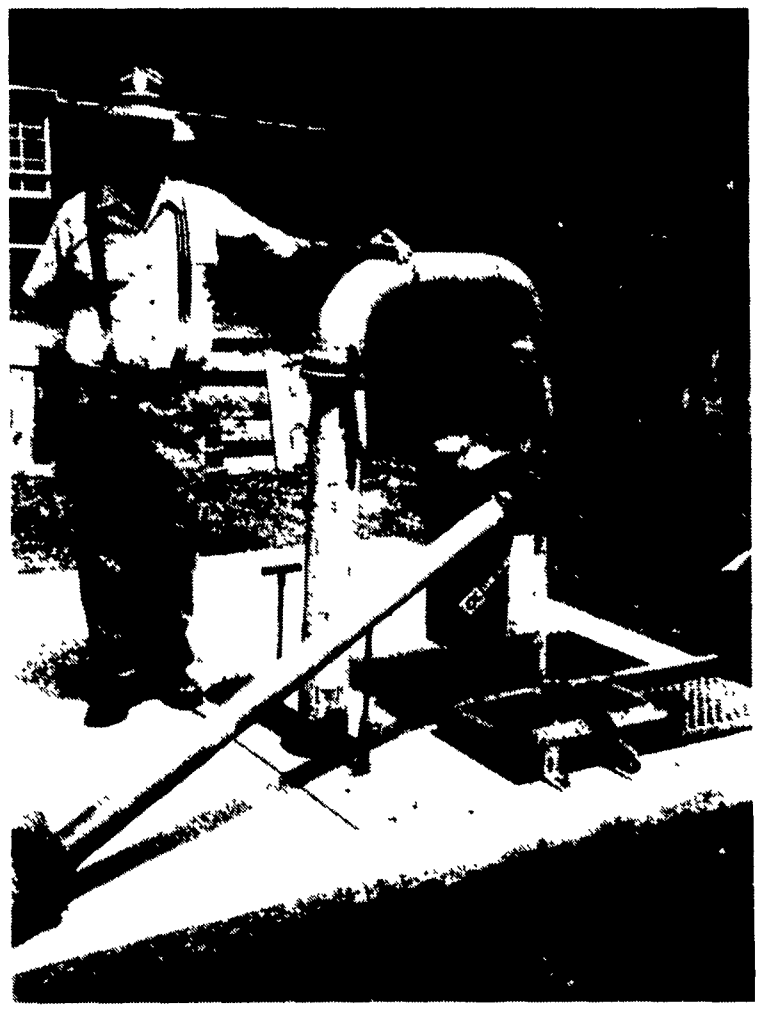
The end of the pipe is opened and closed hydraulically, and it only takes five minutes to fill a large tank spreader. The pit holds up to 400,000 gallons, which means Ulmers can store manure from 60 cows for six months.

Norman Wenrick also uses a gravity loading system into an open manure pit. A standard barn cleaner empties into a manhole opening in a shed where water is added to the manure. A plastic pipe at a four-foot slope conducts the manure into the storage pit. The system cost about $48,000.

Two changes Wenrick would like to make in the system are: (1) he would rather use milkhouse waste water to add to the manure than just adding plain water with a hose and (2) he would run the pipe across the bottom of the pit rather than stopping at the entrance point.

At Ron and Allen Ishler's farm a Slurrystore system and fencing to keep animals out of the creek prevent water pollution. A pump pushes the manure mixed with waste water through an underground pipe into the storage tank. A super-tanker is used to spread the slurry. The entire system, which included a road around the storage pit, cost $52,000.

The purpose of Ralph and Doug Rimmey's manure and waste water management systems are to prevent run-off into the creek on their farm. Manure from the barnyard goes into a settling basin, where some of the liquid is pumped out and the semi-solid manure is cleaned out with a skid loader. The basin is cleaned and manure spread daily.



Norman Wenrick III shows visitors the unloading pump.

Milkhouse waste water goes into a collection pit, then is pushed by a sump pump through a filtered pipe which empties out on top of a hill. An intensive pasture management system also reduces water pollution as well as manure handling.

Ishlers, Rimmeys, and Wenricks all received financial assistance for their systems from the Chesapeake Bay program within the last two years. Ted Onufrak of the Centre County Soil Conservation Service says that a maximum cost-share grant of up to $30,000 is available in 28 Pennsylvania counties.

Farmers who apply for this aid are evaluated on their management practices and are listed by evaluation scores. The top farmers on the list are selected for grants, which cover up to 80% of the cost for each conservation practice put into use.

The Pennsylvania Conservation Committee allocates Chesapeake Bay program funds to each county on the basis of need. In 1989 Centre County received $90,000, and there are now 35 applicants on the current list. Grant recipients must also adhere to a nutrient management plan which they formulate with soil conservationists.

Governor's School For Ag Science Opens

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — This summer, 64 of Pennsylvania's leading high school students will spend their vacation examining issues in animal welfare, testing radioactive materials, and participating in classes on land use, remote sensing, and computers. They are attending the Governor's School for the Agricultural Sciences at Penn State from July 1 to August 4.

The 64 students from urban and rural areas were selected from hundreds of applicants for their strong academic credentials and interest in science and technology. Each student has been awarded a full scholarship, covering room and board, tuition, classroom materials, and student activities.

The Governor's School curriculum features both core courses and electives. Core courses include issues in farm animal welfare; animal physiology; economic issues in agriculture; nutrition and food science; and genetics. Electives include offerings as diverse as aquatic ecology; forest and wildlife sciences; and physics of food processing. Students also work individually with a faculty member on an independent study project.

Penn State's extensive teaching and research facilities provide scholars with easy access to classrooms, computers, libraries, and laboratories. Governor's School assistants supervise the scholars and take part in classes, special events, and field trips.

"The Governor's School gives these young people a real taste of college life and a chance to grow as a person," said Julie Baker, assistant director of the program.

Students also have the opportunity to meet and interview agricultural professionals about career opportunities in agriculture and related industries, such as food processing and agricultural communications.

The Governor's School isn't all work. Field trips and special activities pepper the scholars' schedule, including a visit to Longwood Gardens, Casino Night on campus, Parents and Alumni Day, and a trip to the U.S. Department of Agriculture Research Center in Beltsville, Maryland.

The Governor's School for the Agricultural Sciences is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Education, the state's intermediate units, and Penn State's College of Agriculture. For more information, contact Julie Baker, (814) 865-7521.

Feeding Bypass Fat Key To Overcoming Heat Stress

PRINCETON, N.J. — Providing cows a cool place to eat and feeding high-producing cows a high-energy ration that may include an added bypass fat will mean more milk in the tank this summer, according to Barney Harris, University of Florida dairy specialist.

"When cows are heat stressed on hot days, they eat less dry matter, consume less energy and their production plummets," said Harris.

"Since fat contains over two times the energy content of corn, cows would not need to consume as much dry matter to meet their energy requirements," said Harris.

"With high-energy rations that contain good-quality roughage, heat-stressed cows can maintain production without increasing their body heat."

Research at Florida found that protected (bypass) fats are better utilized by dairy cattle since they do not break down in the rumen.

"Typical fats that are degraded in the rumen are sometimes toxic to the rumen microorganisms. Bypass fats are digested in the small intestine so they don't effect the rumen microbes," explained Harris.

In addition, Harris notes that unprotected fats are frequently hard to handle and mix into feeds.

"Some fats are like margarine and have to be stored in large holding tanks. Other commodity feeds that contain fat like whole cottonseed and whole soybeans, take up more storage space. Protected fats, on the other hand, are easy to use because they are granular, free flowing, easy to handle and store, and will mix with any ration."

Dairy managers will see the greatest response from feeding bypass fats to the high-production group and early-lactation cows receiving adequate amounts of silage and alfalfa hay.

"High-producing cows have high energy requirements and are easily stressed by the heat. Fats help cows meet their early lactation energy needs even when they cut back on their dry matter intake," said Harris.

He adds that not all protected fats work effectively. "Some are made of short chain fatty acids that are not as beneficial to a high-producing cow. My experience shows that a product made up of longer-chain fatty acids, such as MEGALAC® rumen bypass fat, may be more efficiently utilized by the cow."

"Dairy producers should develop heat stress management programs suitable for their facilities and farms. In Florida, such a program would include shade, sprinklers and fans. Other helpful strategies include using high-quality forages, increasing the levels of potassium, (1.2 to 1.5 percent, dry matter), sodium (.4 to .6 percent, dry matter), and vitamin A (100,000 units per day).

"Also, dairy producers should feed the bulk of the ration to their cows during the cooler portion of the day. Adding a good bypass fat to the ration may help the cows overcome the summer-heat slump and maintain efficient reproductive performance," said Harris.

USDA Considers M-W Milk Base Pricing Alternatives

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Department of Agriculture is undertaking an extensive review of alternatives to the current base price used in setting minimum prices in all federal milk marketing orders.

Daniel D. Haley, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said the orders currently use a base price known as the Minnesota-Wisconsin (M-W) price, which is the average of prices paid to farmers in the two-state area for manufacturing grade (Grade B) milk, that is, milk eligible for use only in manufactured milk products.

In effect since the early 1960's, the M-W base price has been widely accepted in the dairy industry as a good measure of changes in the supply and demand for milk nationally, Haley said. A continuing decline in Grade B milk production, in part the result of more stringent sanitary requirements on dairy farms, is gradually rendering the M-W manufacturing milk price unusable for formulating milk prices, he said.

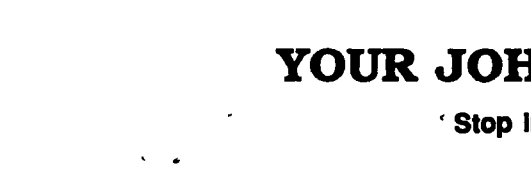
"Eventually, there will not be enough of that kind of milk sold to make a reliable base price," Haley said. USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service, which compiles the M-W price, questions whether it will be able to provide the price after mid 1992, he said.

Aware of the limits of the M-W pricing formula, segments of the dairy industry have requested USDA to develop and test alternatives. The industry has forwarded some proposals for the crowded agenda of the national hearing on all federal milk orders, tentatively set for September, but USDA plans a later, separate hearing on the base price, Haley said.

"To be useful, pricing alternatives should be tested for at least a year in the real world and marketplace of seasonal swings in production and consumption," Haley said.

USDA is proceeding with a study of alternatives to the M-W price, and results of the study will be on the agenda of the projected hearing on this issue.

USDA invites specific proposals to consider in its study. Proposals should be mailed by July 25 to the Director, Dairy Division, AMS, USDA, Rm. 2968-S, P.O. Box 96456, Washington, D.C. 20090-6456.



Egg Law Public Hearing

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A proposed egg refrigeration law is the subject of a public hearing scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Thursday at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center.

The meeting is being held being called by state Rep. Samuel Morris, chairman of the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee, in order to hear as much public testimony on the issue and gain a better insight into the issue.

As it stands, the law basically requires egg producers and handlers to keep eggs refrigerated within 18 hours of being laid.

The purpose of the meeting is to obtain comment on some specific provisions in the proposed law.

In addition to discussion of the proposed H.B. 2624, a possible amendment to the legislation addressing the size of an egg production facility is also on the agenda for the meeting.

According to Dave Dumeyer, research analyst for the Ag and Rural Affairs Committee, the proposed amendment includes a maximum 1,000 bird egg-laying operation for exemption under the refrigeration law.

However, Dumeyer was quick to add that the 1,000 is tentative and not a permanent part of the possible amendment. He said the committee is seeking input from various concerns in egg production and sales.

American Jersey Cattle Club Holds Annual Meeting

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — Boise, Idaho was the sight of the 122nd Annual Meeting of the American Jersey Cattle Club. Over 450 Jersey breeders from throughout the United States and two foreign countries participated in the annual meeting activities which were held June 20-24, 1990.

President Harold Wright, White River Junction, Vt., in his first address, reviewed the far-reaching decisions made by the directors during the 60's, 70's and 80's.

Wright said, "In the past, the boards put emphasis on getting more milk from the Jersey cow and getting more money for the milk. The directors recognized the primary purpose of the Jersey cow was to produce milk. Emphasis was placed on functional type. The directors made decisions to help Jersey owners take advantage of new genetic findings. Many of the decisions made in the 60's and 70's paid off in the 80's. Owning Jerseys became more profitable.

"We have met the challenge of the 80's. We must now take advantage of the opportunities of the 90's," he added.

In his report to the membership, Executive Secretary Maurice Core reviewed highlights of Jersey activity during 1989, and thanked the membership for the record participation in AJCC programs. "Working together and with a great breed of dairy cattle, we have made tremendous progress and expansion in recent years," Core said.

"Great attainment in the 80's is no guarantee for success in the 90's and beyond. We, the Jersey breed, must be ready for new challenges and technology," he said. Our challenge is to breed, feed and manage for more protein. Our elected leaders will need to continue to set policy and develop programs that will assist us in our goal of making Jerseys more profitable than owning any other dairy breed. We must be able to compete and impress those in the production segment of our industry.

"It will be the responsibility of your board and staff to monitor new technology for more efficient - profitable Jersey operations. Biotechnology is no longer fiction. It is now a reality. If used prudently, new advancements in biotechnology offer unlimited opportunities in making us more productive and efficient as we accept our responsibility in feeding a hungry world," Core said.

Calvin Covington, Treasurer, reported to the membership that "The American Jersey Cattle Club ended 1989 as well as every year during the 80's with an excess of revenue over expenses." 1989 AJCC revenue was $1,994,447 and expenses $1,984,037.

Covington pointed out that from 1979 to 1989 AJCC total revenue almost doubled.

"Most of the revenue increase is due to increased business through greater use of programs and services, rather than fee increases. Also during the same 10 year period members Equity in the company increased 36 1/3 percent. As of December 31, 1989, AJCC members Equity was $1,285,055," Covington said.

A panel discussion titled, "The Protein Challenge" was held during the meeting. The panel members consisting of Ray Schooley, chairman AJCC Performance Committee; Ed Feiz, dairy extension specialist, University of Idaho; Rodger Hoyt, vice president Dairy Progeny Testing, Select Sires; Dan Bansen, dairyman; and Calvin Covington, general manager, National All-Jersey Inc.

The panel discussed a number of topics centered on protein.

In other business, Stanley K. and Dora H. Bansen, Dayton, Ore., were the recipients of the Master Breeder Award, and Dr. H. Duane Norman, Fulton, Md., received the Distinguished Service Award.

The following were recipients of the Young Jersey Dairyman Award: Doug and Shirley Bajema, Lynden, Wash.; Joe and Sharon Barmore, Smithfield, Ky.; Douglas R. Billman, Burbank, Ohio; Michael and Merna Fremstad, Westby, Wis.; Roger and Ann Hansen, Rupert, Idaho; L.D., Jr. and Sherrie Peeler, Starr, S.C.; Nancy Whitcomb Quimby, Belfast, Maine; Scott and Troy Snider, New Paris, Ind.

Peter Kayano, Niigata City, Japan, was named an Honorary Member of The American Jersey Cattle Club. Mr. Kayano is recently retired executive director of the Kiyosato Educational Experiment Project in Japan.

The National Heifer Sale set a new record when fifty (50) head averaged $2982. The top selling heifer was AU Twinkies Duncan Tiffany consigned by Kurt Alberti, Wendell, Idaho, and purchased for $8,500 by Cal-A-Nan Jerseys, Oakdale, Calif.

Four new directors were elected during the meetings. All will serve three-year terms. They are as follows: Paul Chittendan, Schodack Landing, N.Y., for the Second District. Newell Mills, Fallon, Nev., for the Twelfth District. Benny J. Rector, Mountain Grove, Mo., for the Ninth District and Neal Sanford, Parma, Mich., for the Seventh District.

In the Board's reorganization meeting on June 23, James Huffard, Ill., Crockett, Va., was elected AJCC vice president.

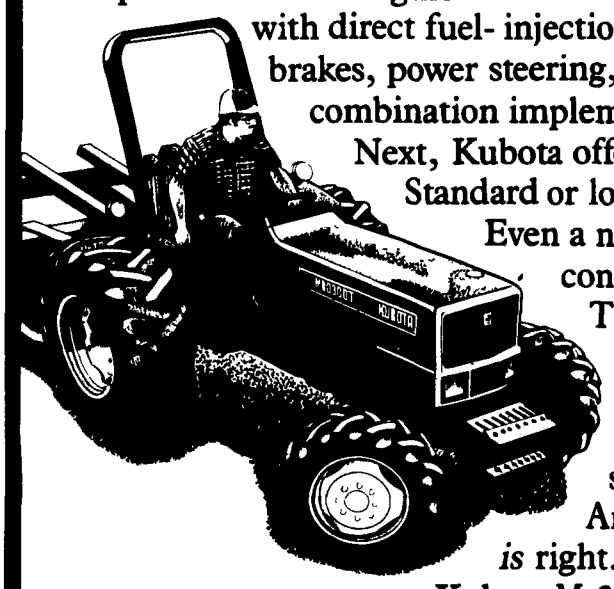
The AJCC was organized in 1868 to preserve the records of and promote the Jersey breed of dairy cattle in the United States. 1989 was another outstanding year for the organization, with 53,709 registrations, and 55,514 cows on official performance programs.

ONLY THE PRICE IS SMALL.

Kubota M-30-Series tractors are economically priced, but they're built to take on a big workload.

First, they're loaded with standard features. A powerful diesel engine with direct fuel- injection, for example. Wet disc brakes, power steering, hydraulic draft, position and combination implement control.

Next, Kubota offers 2- or 4-wheel drive. Standard or low profile configuration. Even a new, narrower version for confined areas.



There's no small choice of models either. Select from five, offering 43-76 PTO horsepower. You match the right size to your needs.

And like we said, the price is right. Come in to see these new Kubota M-30 tractors today.

THE ORGANIC CENTER COMPANY WANTS HUGE QUANTITIES OF LOW-TOXIN SPELTZ, SOYBEANS AND CORN

To supply dairymen, poultry and hog raisers who proved it is much superior over chemical grown. So much so that they pay $8.00 per bushel for yellow soybeans, and $12 for white soybeans for human consumption, and $10 for speltz which is a superior feed and food grain, and yields 100 to 150 bu. per acre on our program, but less on chemicals. That is why it isn't so popular. We will make it popular. Sow it in Sept. or early Oct.

One of our fertilizers is especially fast in pulling out the toxins from your soil.

If livestock farmers proved that low toxin crops are worth so much difference in price, then it would be the same for your livestock. Or don't you get blessed from obedience to natural law? Nuff said for this time. Like the hymn says "The half has never been told." Apply our long lasting fertilizer this year for next year. It doesn't dissipate.

cent of the households consume more than 450 million gallons of ice cream annually. Another 450 million gallons are produced in the United States for consumption in restaurants, shops and cafeterias. In 1841 Ralph Waldo Emerson was credited with saying — "We dare not trust our wit for making our house pleasant to our friends so we buy ice cream." According to the consumption figures 149 years later, Emerson was obviously right.

Every day is made special with ice cream and it is equally enjoyed by all ages. Children between the ages of two and 17 and adults 45 and older eat the most ice cream per person. Adults eat 66 percent of the ice cream consumed in the average household.

The Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association advertises and promotes milk and other dairy products on behalf of nearly 5,000 dairy farm families Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, Virginia, and West Virginia. MAMMA is a regional affiliate of the United Dairy Industry Association.

mals and provide reasons, thereby allowing each of the students a chance to compare notes and assimilate new terminology.

Knight rearranged the order of the four cows, making Day's first choice second, and Day's second choice first.

The main reason was the legs of the animals. Knight's choice had bigger boned, stronger looking legs.

But after providing all his reasons for the placing, from spring of rib to depth of chest and overall balance . . . Day questioned the ranking.

No one else in the school had done so during the two day school. And Day's trouble with Knight's selection was based on how the top two cows walked and carried themselves — Day claimed the number two cow sat back too far when she walked.

He requested that the two cows be made to walk again. And so they were. And Knight conceeded that Day's point was valid, that he hadn't seen the difference in walk. But he added that the thinner-legged cow, that apparently walked better, would probably not last as long for the farmer — that the stronger-legged cow would be the better choice.

But there was nothing but admiration for Day in having the confidence to speak out and make a decision. That was what they were all there to get better at doing.

"We Eliminated Nearly 14,000 Pounds Of Fluid And Still Got Great Traction."

Bob Kuehl
Glyndon, Minnesota

Bob Kuehl is a row crop farmer in Glyndon, Minnesota. In order to get enough traction from his tractor during plowing, Bob had to add nearly 14,000 pounds of fluid to his bias ply tires. He got better traction, but the added weight increased his fuel consumption, and the time Bob had to spend in the field.

Luckily, his Goodyear retailer suggested that Bob switch one tractor from bias ply tires to Goodyear Dyna Torque farm radials.

That's all it took. Bob was able to eliminate excess fluid and get all of the traction he needed. He was so satisfied with the results, that all of his tractors now do tilling, planting, watering, spraying and harvesting on Goodyear Dyna Torque Radials.

Make your move to Goodyear farm radials. You'll spend less time in the field at lower overall costs than on bias ply rears. Contact your Goodyear farm tire retailer, today.

National Apple Museum Opens

Joyce Bupp
York Co. Correspondent

BIGLERVILLE, Adams Co. — If an apple a day keeps the doctor away, a new Adams County museum can look forward to a long and fruitful existence.

More than a thousand visitors have already enjoyed the educational and historic displays at The National Apple Museum since it opened to the public on Memorial Day weekend. Housed in a restored, 143-year-old barn on West Hanover Street, the museum is a tribute to Adams County's nationally-known fruit industry and to the community spirit of this quiet town in the heart of orchard country.

Scotch-Irish pioneers settled and subsistence farmed these rolling lands, once favored hunting grounds for local Indian tribes. German settlers followed, planting the early rootstocks of what would blossom into today's thriving acres of fruit trees.

Railroads made fresh fruit shipping by Biglerville growers a reality of the early 1900's, and supporting industries - processing and storage facilities, container manufacturing, trucking - grew with the town.

Celebration of the nation's 1976 Bicentennial "awakened" Biglerville residents to a renewed awareness of the area's history and heritage, believes Dr. Bruce Beacher, president of the Biglerville Historical and Preservation Society.

"There was a groundswell of support for preserving that heritage," says the retired federal soil scientist, whose work with the United States Department of Agriculture and land grant universities gave him a background and interest in the area's fruit production uniqueness.

Efforts focused initially on reorganizing the Biglerville band, first established about the 1880s. Town musicians of all ages turned out with their instruments, and today the Apple Core Orchestra and Jazz Bands include more than 100 men and women, from teens to retirees.

The Historical and Preservation Society was officially chartered in 1981 promptly setting a long-term goal: establishing an apple museum as a tribute to the area's agricultural heritage. When Biglerville's railroad station became available for their use in 1986, the Society, with assistance from the Inland Container Corporation, began restoration of the small, but historic, building.

But as deeds, documents, photos, heirloom equipment, and assorted bits and pieces of Biglerville's past came into the Society's possession, it soon became apparent that the railroad station was too small to house the historic collections.

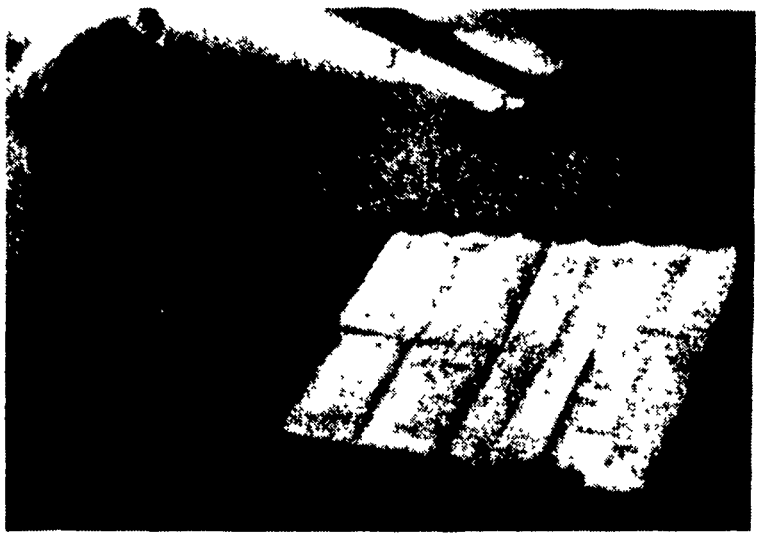
"We decided we needed a barn," relates Violet Ondek, now the National Apple Museum's chairman. "I saw the owner of this barn in a restaurant one day and asked him if he might consider giving it for our museum." Two days later, local building contractors Clair and Marie Ditzler offered the 92'x50', pre-Civil War bank barn for the Society's use.

According to Dr. Beacher, the tract on which the museum barn is located is a historic one. Holder of the original land warrant was one Ephraim Johnson. Valentine Sillick, builder of the barn, acquired title in 1854. Slavery was practiced on the tract until the practice was abolished and slaves freed.

When the Society accepted the deed to the barn and surrounding property, one horse was housed in the barn's lower level. Years ago, it had been home to a herd of dairy cattle. Like most aging barns, it had acquired layers of cobwebs and dust, and an assortment of stored miscellaneous items.

The National Apple Museum at Biglerville is a tribute to Adams County's fruit-production history and heritage.

National Apple Museum chairman Violet Ondek joins the mannikins on display in the gallery's reproduction of a 1857 kitchen.



Biglerville Historical Society president Dr. Bruce Beacher admires a 1750 patent deed, on sheepskin, from the Penn family to William Carson for a tract of land near Biglerville.

This is how the barn appeared when it was donated to the Society for restoration and museum use.

An outgoing, enthusiastic individual, Violet's background as a home builder gave her contracting background, but no hands-on expertise on barn restoration. Nevertheless, she and a dedicated core of supporters and volunteers set up a four-year building program and dug in to the monumental task.

They began a mere one year ago - opening three years ahead of the original plan. Both chairman Ondek and society president Dr. Beacher have unending praise for the community support and help of numerous individuals who wholeheartedly donated time, physical and financial support.

"It's just a miracle we have this," Violet Ondek marvels, recounting how the remodeling was completed far ahead of schedule. "The weather cooperated, and we would get concrete within an hour of the time called." Biglerville Fire Company hosed down the barn's interior of old hay residue, the Ditzlers offered ideas and help, and Musselman's contributed the lighting.

One corner of the barn had to be raised and a whole new concrete foundation installed. Every original support post was moved and set on new concrete as well. A crew of Lancaster County Amish builders assisted with some of the barn's major restructure work.

"We used all the wood that was originally here - but just put it back together a little differently," chuckles Violet.

Complete excavation of the ground floor allowed for drainage installations and concrete flooring finished with a plastic sealer. Area resident Bill Smith painstakingly repointed the beautiful field stone central supporting wall of the lower level, now a focal point of the Main Hall. Oak plank flooring replaced the original floorboards in the barn's upper level. A complete new wiring system, along with numerous other measures, brought the barn into compliance with state standards for fire and building codes. Part of the roof was replaced, as needed and finances would allow.

"We only redid what we had to do, but we tried to do it all well," adds the museum chairman. "We did not want to go into debt. With the help of so many people, we've been able to avoid borrowing."

Visitors enter the National Apple Museum via a reception area featuring apple and area memorabilia. Adjacent is the Main Hall, suitable for auditorium and reception use, including a stage where the popular Biglerville Band rehearses weekly and presents frequent concerts.

Adams County Fruit Growers Association has enthusiastically supported the museum's establishment, including donation of a television and video cassette recorder for use in the "Apple Theatre." Featured presentation is "Apples, Apples, Apples," an 18-minute video produced by the Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Board.

At the foot of the open stairway to the upper gallery is the Book of Memories, a corner of the museum set aside to memorialize the founding fruit growers. One prized artifact on display is the Musselman family Bible. Also on the floor level is the non-profit gift shop, featuring unique items and a few select hand-crafts along the apple theme.

The entire spacious upper level of the museum has been transformed into a gallery of apple memorabilia, historic artifacts, and cultural heritage displays. Apple production eqiupment ranges from ground tillage plows to a grading line and commercial apple peeler. A kitchen, circa 1857, depicts the everyday life of that era.

Even orchard production problems are addressed with an educational display on beneficial and pest insects, along with information on integrated pest management. Pesticide needs and use of

Homestead Notes

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

We have just enjoyed a visit from our oldest grandson. David lives in Seattle, and, even though he just turned ten years old, he flew alone to the Harrisburg Airport where we met him.

He seems to enjoy life on the farm. There is always something interesting happening. The first day he kept running to the barn every hour to be sure that he wouldn't miss the birth of a new calf. Then he helped to bring it to the hutch before he went fishing with Allen and I.

We left early for Pinchot State Park in York County. After launching the boat and motoring to a likely spot, we were all surprised and pleased to have David catch not just the first fish but the first two — one on each hook. After that fishing wasn't too great.

Later in the day, I managed to catch 16 pan fish which I had to clean when we got home.

I'd gotten my husband to pack a lunch for us. It was a new experience for him, but I was so busy freezing hull peas and beans that it was a chore to take a day off and go fishing. On top of that, we went to Blue Marsh Lake in Berks County a second day as our daughter came home with a new rod and a fishing license. That day only the younger members of our group caught anything.

David really enjoyed his day at Hersheypark with Aunt Cindy. And, I've had to relearn how difficult is to teach a child to shut doors and turn off lights.

He told us that his very favorite food is pizza and so we went out for a meal before meeting his other grandparents from New York State. He will spend a week with them before flying home.

Poison Ivy Remedies

Treat poison ivy by trying these remedies: Jewel weed, a wild form of impatiens often found growing near poison ivy, contains a chemical compound in its stem that seems to counteract the effects of poison ivy oils. Simply crush the stem and rub it on the affected areas.

Another herbal remedy is plantain, a broadleaf plant usually considered a nuisance weed in lawns. Like jewel weed, the plantain's stem contains a medicinal compound effective against poison ivy.

If you can't get your hands on some jewel weed or plantain, wash the affected areas with isopropyl (rubbing) alcohol, rinsing, washing liberally with warm soap and water, and rinsing again thoroughly.

Large-scale eradication of poison ivy is best done with systemic chemical herbicides that are absorbed by the leaves and spread throughout the entire plant. The best time for such elimination measures is August or early September.

For small amounts of poison ivy in flower beds, Gouin recommends donning rubber gloves, grabbing a trowel and digging the individual plants out by the roots. Dispose of the plants in plastic bags, so other people won't unwittingly handle them.

Never burn poison ivy. The tiny oil droplets in the plant attach themselves to the smoke and become airborne.

the mist sprayer developed by Penn State with the area industry are discussed by tour guides.

Expansion plans already include additions to the upper gallery of a 1857-period country store and beekeeping displays.

Education is a focus of the museum, with special programs for elementary school groups, including free admission for groups up to sixth grade. A four-hour program includes tour of the displays, the apple information video, time for students to enjoy their bag lunches on the museum grounds and a local orchard tour.

Private parties may reserve the Main Hall for gatherings such as weddings, receptions, anniversaries, and reunions, with reasonable rental fees. The first on-site wedding was held at the museum on June 10, with Biglerville Mayor Darby Shaffer officiating at the ceremony.

The National Apple Museum is open to the public Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays and holidays, noon to 5 p.m. Bus tours are accommodated by pre-arrangement Tuesdays through Fridays. Admission is $1 for adults; 50 cents for children; and students on tours, up to sixth-grade, are admitted free.

Gifts of apple and other memorabilia to the museum will be recorded in the Society's archives. For additional information, contact the Biglerville Historical and Preservation Society, Box 656, Biglerville, PA 17307, phone (717) 677-7447.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

For your next outdoor meal, create a distinctive barbecue sauce to reflect your taste. Stir together a few ingredients, microwave a couple of minutes, taste, and add an extra dash of this or that to make your own unforgettable sauce.

With over 150 varieties of barbecue sauce available, you'd think there would be a choice for everyone. Yet research by the Barbecue Industry Association shows that over half of U.S. grillers add something to barbecue sauce to make it their own special recipe.

You might try these ideas. Add about one-fourth cup taco or picante sauce to a cup of barbecue sauce or ketchup for a spicy note. A quarter teaspoon of hot pepper sauce will also do the trick.

Stir in applesauce to make a mellow, mild sauce. Or add a spoonful of instant coffee powder for a distinctive tang. A spoonful of molasses makes a slightly sweet sauce with deep rich flavor.

The classic combination of brown sugar or honey and prepared mustard adds a sweet, yet spicy taste. Add about two tablespoons brown sugar or honey per cup of sauce. Add mustard to taste, starting with a teaspoon per cup of sauce.

Add spices or herbs. Dry mustard or minced fresh garlic are favorites. Start by adding a fourth teaspoon of dried herb or spice (or three-fourths teaspoon of fresh) per cup of sauce. Heat sauce and then taste before adding more.

Make a chunky sauce by adding chopped onion, celery, green pepper or mushrooms. Add about a fourth cup per cup of sauce. Precook chopped vegetables with a bit of water or oil, covered, until tender. A fourth cup cooks on High in about a minute.

Heating or simmering the sauce, even though it's made of all cooked ingredients, brings out the flavor and makes it richer tasting. Microwaving — rather than range-top heating — prevents a scorched flavor and means no sticky cooked-on pan to clean up.

To adapt your favorite conventionally cooked barbecue sauce recipe, start by omitting water, since in microwaving liquid doesn't evaporate as quickly as in range-top cooking. After cooking, taste the sauce. It should be full-flavored, but not overly potent. Usually you'll want to add about three-fourths of the water called for in your recipe. You may need to add the full amount, but first, taste and see if it's needed.

If your recipe calls for sauteing onion, celery or other seasoning in butter, margarine or oil, use half or less of the fat. Microwave the vegetable and fat on High, covered, until tender before adding the other ingredients.

If you can't come up with your own perfect sauce, try one of today's recipes. Or start with one and vary it to suit your taste. Once you perfect your sauce, you'll want to double the recipe so there's plenty to brush on during grilling and enough to pass at the table.

To double a recipe: Double all ingredients and use a larger measure for cooking. Microwave 1½ to two times the time given in recipe, stirring once or twice.

Cajun-Style Barbecue Sauce

1 cup barbecue sauce
½ -¾ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
¾ teaspoon onion powder
½ teaspoon garlic powder
½ teaspoon celery seed
½ teaspoon dried thyme
Few drops liquid smoke

Combine all ingredients in a microwavable 1-quart measure. Microwave (High) 3 to 4 minutes, stirring once, or until bubbly. Spoon on beef, pork or poultry toward end of grilling time; pass remaining sauce. Makes 1 cup.

Each tablespoon: 114 calories, 0 protein, 1g fat, 1g carbohydrate, 127mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

Cranberry Barbecue Sauce

1 can (8 ounces) jellied cranberry sauce
¼ cup bottled barbecue sauce
¼ cup tomato-type French dressing

Combine all ingredients in a microwavable 1-quart measure. Microwave (High) 3 to 4 minutes, stirring once, or until bubbly. Spoon on poultry or pork toward end of grilling time; pass remaining sauce. Makes 1½ cups.

Each tablespoon: 30 calories, 0 protein, 1g fat, 5g carbohydrage, 58mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

Rich Barbecue Sauce

¼ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon oil
1 cup ketchup
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon low-salt beef bouillon (or 1 cube, crushed)
Hot pepper sauce (optional)
Liquid smoke (optional)

Place onion and oil in a microwavable 1-quart measure; cover with plastic wrap or waxed paper. Microwave (High) 45 to 90 seconds or until onion is tender. Stir in remaining ingredients. Microwave (High) 3 to 4 minutes, stirring once, or until bubbly. Spoon on pork or beef ribs toward end of grilling time; pass remaining sauce. Makes 1¼ cups.

Each tablespoon: 27 calories, 0 protein, 1g fat, 5g carbohydrate, 143mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

Tangy Barbecue Sauce

1 medium onion, chopped
1 tablespoon oil
1 cup beef broth
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
¼ cup vinegar
3 tablespoons packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon ground pepper

Place onion and oil in a microwavable 2-quart measure; cover with plastic wrap or waxed paper. Microwave (High) 1 to 2 minutes or until onion is tender. Stir in remaining ingredients. Microwave (High) 5 to 6 minutes, stirring once, or until bubbly. Then microwave on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts) 5 to 6 minutes or until thickened. Spoon on beef or pork or poultry toward end of grilling time; pass remaining sauce. Makes 2 cups.

Each tablespoon: 17 calories, 0 protein, 0 fat, 3g carbohydrate, 47mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

In a Supermarket Shopper Survey conducted earlier this year by Food Marketing Institute, consumers were asked: "What are you eating more or less of to ensure that your diet is healthy?" One-fifth replied that they are "eating more chicken." This is up from 16 percent in 1989, according to the National Broiler Council.

New And Old Ways With Baked Beans

July is Baked Bean Month. The Indians gave us the idea of baking beans — and they remain one of America's favorite foods.

Thrifty baked bean dishes not only balance the budget but also are top choices for buffet meals, picnics, and covered dish suppers.

Perhaps your favorite recipe has been passed down through the generations. You're convinced it can't be beat. Maybe it can't, but how do you really know unless you try one of these sent in by our readers.

WESTERN BEANS

¼ pound bacon, cut in small pieces and fried lightly (not crisp)
1 small onion, dice and saute´ in bacon drippings
1 cup ketchup
⅓ cup brown sugar
1½ tablespoons vinegar
½ teaspoon garlic salt

Simmer above ingredients in the skillet a few minutes.

Add:
1 16-ounce can baked beans
1 16-ounce can kidney beans
1 16-ounce can green lima beans
1 16-ounce can green beans

Drain lima and green beans.

Combine, put in casserole and bake one hour, uncovered at 325°.

BEST IN THE WEST BEANS

1 pound ground beef
10 slices bacon, chopped
½ cup onion
⅓ cup brown sugar
¼ cup catsup
¼ cup barbecue sauce
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons molasses
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon chili powder
½ teaspoon pepper
1 16-ounce can pork & beans
1 16-ounce can kidney beans
1 16-ounces can butter beans

Brown meat; drain; add onion and cook till tender. Add sugars, catsup, barbecue sauce, mustard, molasses and seasonings; mix well. Add beans, drained and rinsed. Pour into three-quart casserole. Bake at 350° for one hour. May also be done in crockpot for 4 to 6 hours on low. Great for picnics.

Chambersburg

GRANDMOM'S GREEN BEANS

½ pound bacon
1 small onion
1 can green beans (any kind)

Dough Balls:
2 cups flour
3 eggs
dash of salt

When cooked add to green bean mix.

Fry chopped bacon and diced onion. Keep fat on, add green beans. Mix flour, eggs and dash of salt to make dough balls. Boil a pot of water and pull off pieces of dough and put in pot of water. When cooked, drain and place in green bean mixture. Simmer on low for 30 minutes. Keep stirring.

Mrs. Cheney's Snowflake Apple Cake

3 cups raw apples grated or finely chopped
2 cups sugar
¾ cup vegetable oil
2 eggs, well beaten

Mix together and let stand while sifting dry ingredients (or drop all into blender and mix).

3 cups flour
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon each of baking powder, cinnamon, soda, salt, and vanilla
¾ cup nuts, finely chopped

Add to first mixture. Beat until well blended. Pour into greased and floured 10" tube pan. Bake at 350° F. for 1 hour and 10 minutes or until done. Serve plain or with:

Snowflake Frosting

1 eggwhite
½ teaspoon lemon juice
dash of salt
½ cup sugar
1 apple flaked*

Beat eggwhite. Gradually add other ingredients and beat until white forms stiff peaks. Spread on whole cake or as sauce on individual servings. *To flake the apple, cut a large apple across, scrape out all the flesh with a spoon (or put into blender, or grate).

Variation:

Bake cake in pan about 9"x13"x2" for 55 minutes or until cake shrinks from edge of pan. While hot, cover with topping all creamed together. Return to oven and place under broiler until bubbly and light brown.

Topping:

4 Tablespoons cream
1 cup coconut
⅔ cup brown sugar
4 Tablespoons butter

QUESTION — R. Stoltzfus, Narvon, would like a recipe for peanut butter melt aways. She would also like a recipe for chess pie.

QUESTION — The Martins of Ephrata would like the recipe for soft ice cream that appeared in the March 16 issue. The ice cream was made in a ice cream freezer.

QUESTION — Sheila Hamersky, Manahawbin, N.J., would like a recipe for butter cake that is wet and buttery. It is eaten plain or with cherry, strawberry or blueberry topping.

QUESTION — Carolyn Troutman, Sunbury, would like a stuffing recipe (enough to fill a pig) for a pig roast.

QUESTION — Shirley Wills, Luthersburg, requests a recipe for a rolled oats pie.

QUESTION — Jean Ash of Bridgeport, W.Va., would like recipes for turtle, fresh catfish, and bass.

QUESTION — Edith Moyer, Souderton, would like a recipe for vanilla and chocolate mousse.

QUESTION — A Reamstown reader would like to know how to dry string beans. Can both yellow and green beans be dried?

QUESTION — Mrs. Harold Kuchler of Coatesville would like a nutritious recipe for dog food for large dogs. She said they have lots of eggs to add to the recipe.

QUESTION — Ruth Davies, Gettysburg, would like a recipe for Lefse, a paper thin pancake made with mashed potatoes and flour.

QUESTION — Florence Ann Carlisle of Port Deposit, Md., requests a recipe for spinach salad that has a sweet and sour dressing and bacon in it.

QUESTION — Sandy Swope, Needmore, requests a recipe for soft oatmeal whoopie pies. She writes that a few years ago we printed one that she liked, but she lost it. Since then she has tried other recipes but the whoopie pies get hard like cookies. She prefers those that are soft like cake.

QUESTION — Sue Baughman, Ronks, would like a recipe for cupcakes that are vanilla or coconut flavored and that form a bubbly crust on top with baked.

QUESTION — Margaret Greiff, Sidman, would like a recipe for Russian torte.

QUESTION — Anna Mae Sours, Rileyville, Va., would like to know where she can order rennet tablets to make cheese. She also would like cheese recipes.

ANSWER — Jim Barkelew, Frenchtown, N.J., would like to know where she can buy real buttermilk. Thanks to Margaret Grieff, Sidman, buttermilk with real chunks of butter in it can be purchased from Valewood Farms, Cresson, Pa.

ANSWER — Anna Cressman, Slatington, wanted a recipe for rhubarb preserves using rhubarb, pineapple, and strawberry gelatin. Thanks to Roxie L. Sowers, Burkittsville, Md., Bobbie Lawson, Churchville, Va., and others for answering.

Rose Mary's Rhubarb Freezer Jam

5 cups rhubarb
20 ounce can crushed pineapple, drained
4 cups sugar
Dash salt

Combine ingredients and cook 15 minutes. Remove from stove before adding 2 small boxes of strawberry-flavored Jell-O. Stir well. Pour jam into containers and store in freezer.

ANSWER — Harry Drick, Allenwood, would like a recipe for an Easter egg that was printed in this paper several weeks before Easter. Thanks to Roxie L. Sowers of Burkittsville, Md., for answering.

Fruited Easter Egg

3 pounds confectioners' sugar
1½ sticks butter
Canned milk, as needed

Knead these three ingredients thoroughtly. Add:

3 or 4 teaspoons vanilla
1 teaspoon almond extract

The following ingredients can be used as fillers:

Maraschino cherries, cut in eighths
1 cup raisins (half light, half dark)
Crushed pineapples, drained
Coconut
Currants
Nuts

Dry fruit, soak in water or pineapple juice to soften.

Coating:

Combine desired ingredients and form into egg shapes. Refrigerate until ready to dip.

8 blocks unsweetened chocolate
2 12-ounce bags chocolate chips
Vanilla
¼ cake paraffin wax (just enough to make chocolate setup or use commercial chocolate coating)

Combine ingredients and melt. Dip egg-shaped candy into melted chocolate. Cool on wax paper.

ANSWER — Jerome Klien from Holland, Michigan, wanted a recipe for dill pickles made in a crock. Thanks to a Harrisburg reader, Mrs. Walter Witmer, Bernville; and Eva Southard, Glen Rock, for replying.

Crock Dill Pickles

5 gallons cucumbers
Dill
Grape leaves
1 gallon salt brine
1 gallon vinegar

Wash cucumbers. Place a layer of dill in a large crock; a layer of grape leaves, and fill half full with cucumbers. Add another layer of dill and grape leaves. Fill with cucumbers and another layer of dill and grape leaves. Add vinegar and salt brine. It will take several weeks until they are good.

Keep lid on the pickles. Use as needed. Do not can. Leave in crock.

Dill Pickles

½ peck pickling cucumbers
Fresh dill
2 quarts vinegar
1 pound brown sugar
1 tablespoon alum
½ cup pickling salt
Dry mustard

Wash ½ peck of pickling cucumbers in cold water (wash by hand and do not use brush). Place a bunch of dill with blossoms in crock and pack pickles. Put another bunch in the middle of the crock. Pack in more cucumbers and add another bunch of dill. Pour over boiling brine:

2 quarts vinegar
1 pound brown sugar
1 tablespoon alum
½ cup pickling salt

Add a small bag of dry mustard on top to keep off scum. Cover with stone to keep pickles under brine.

ANSWER — Christine Jefferson, Gettysburg, would like a recipe for walnut ice cream sundae topping. Thanks to Kathy Branstetter, Tyrone, for sending one.

Walnut Sauce Topping

2 cups sugar
1 cup hot water
1½ cups walnut pieces
1 teaspoon vanilla

In skillet over medium high heat, heat sugar, stirring constantly until it begins to melt. Reduce heat to medium low until completely melted and brown in color. Stir in hot water and stir until it liquifies again.

Remove from heat. Stir in nuts and vanilla. Pour in jars and store it at room temperature. Makes 2¼ cups.

CALICO BEANS

½ pound hamburg
½ pound chopped bacon
1 can kidney beans
1 can pork and beans
1 can lima grands
½ cup white sugar
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup catsup
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vinegar

Brown hamburg and chopped bacon; drain. Put undrained beans (kidney, pork and beans and lima grands), catsup, mustard, salt and vinegar into casserole, add hamburger and bacon. Mix well. Bake at 350° oven for 40 minutes. Great for picnics.

HOME BAKED BEANS

2 cups navy beans
1½ teaspoons salt
1 small onion (minced)
4 tablespoons molasses
1 teaspoon dry mustard
4 tablespoons catsup
½ pound bacon

Soak beans overnight in cold water. Drain; add 1½ quarts fresh water, the onion and cook slowly until skins burst. Drain; save the liquid. Mix molasses, season and catsup with 1 cup of the liquid. Put half bacon in bottom of bean pot or baking dish, add beans and top with remaining bacon. Pour molasses mixture over the beans, add more liquid to cover. Bake covered for five hours in slow oven at 250°. Uncover for the last 30 minutes. Add water if necessary while cooking (if it looks too dry).

SANTA MARIA BARBECUE BEANS

1 pound boneless beef chuck, cut into ½-inch pieces
1 pound pinquito (pink) beans
Water
2 large onions, chopped
⅓ cup bottled red chili sauce (hot)
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 teaspoons instant beef bouillon granules
1 teaspoon salt

Place beans and 6 cups cold water in dutch oven. Let stand overnight, at least 6 to 8 hours. Do not refrigerate. Drain and rinse. Add 5 cups water to beans. Bring to a boil. Stir in beef, onions, hot chili sauce, garlic, bouillon and salt. Cover tightly; reduce heat and cook slowly 2½ to 3 hours or until beef shreds easily and beans are tender. Stir mixture occasionally while cooking.

Stretching Your Grocery Dollar

In the past month, many communities have announced substantial property tax increases. For those of us already living on a tight budget or fixed income, this crunch will be difficult.

And when incomes get stretched, families usually try to save money on their grocery bills.

In the summer time, this may be a bit easier than during other seasons. I remember my Mom being particularly proud of having us sit down to a meal made entirely from food our family had raised. Even now, I'm eagerly awaiting the ripening of tomatoes in a bed in my backyard.

Reducing your grocery bill is not going to save you enough money to pay that tax increase, but it will be a start.

One way to stretch your grocery dollar is to buy in-season produce. Of course, you may also rely on the vegetables and fruits growing in your own garden. In mid-July, pie cherries, snap beans, lima beans, carrots, summer squash and lettuce are in peak supply. You will also find early varieties of broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, celery and sweet corn. During months when fresh produce is in abundance, the prices may be lower and quality is generally higher.

Only buy the amount you will use. Unless you preserve the extras, buying more produce than you can eat just means that the chickens or hogs will be eating your hard-earned dollars! Allowing low-priced fruits and vegetables to spoil is no bargain.

A portion of every family's grocery bill is spent for non-food items-- tissues, detergent, magazines, paper plates, bathroom cleaners. With careful selection, you can buy the things you need without paying extra money for colorings, scents and famous labels that have little or no value.

Basic products- baking soda, white vinegar, lemon juice- can fill the purpose without stripping your wallet. Baking soda (select the generic box because the composition is similar across companies) can be used to scour counters, toilet bowls and oven surfaces. It is also an inexpensive deodorizer. Recently more people are protecting the environment. Baking soda is a non-toxic alternative to many cleaning products on grocery shelves.

White vinegar (again purchase a generic or store label to save additional dollars) is an excellent deodorizer and grease cutter. Use with warm water to remove mildew on surfaces or to cut grease in kitchen areas. Remember, vinegar is a mild bleaching agent.

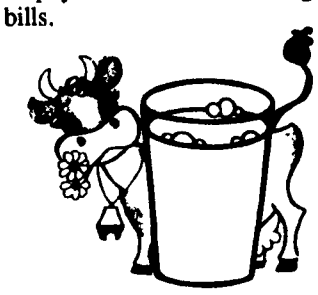
By picking up generic products and making cleaning supplies, you can saye money on your next trip to the store.

With all your purchases, it pays to shop carefully. Be sure to check the unit prices displayed on the grocery shelves. These help you compare different sizes of containers or different brands. The lessons we learned — buying with a coupon, buying the "family" size-- are not always true today.

Using comparison shopping carries over to the area of buying services, too. A California study pointed out the value of making a few phone calls before getting a household repair done. "Analysts estimate that making just one extra call for a price quote should save you an extra $25 on a $500 job... There is no apparent relationship between price and quality," according to the researchers.

I know, in my area, selecting a given taxi service can save you at least $10. The secret to saving is taking the time to look at a few alternatives.

And it's all these savings, the $50 savings on the car repair, the $6 savings on cleaning supplies, the $3 savings from buying pears instead of strawberries in late July, when combined, that will help you to pay those ever-increasing tax bills.



Ice Cream Contest

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program invites young and old to submit their favorite homemade ice cream recipe to the Ice Cream Recipe Churn Off contest. The contest is being conducted August 15, at Ag Progress Days on Rock Springs Farms, near State College.

The contest is open to individuals and groups. Contestants must submit the complete recipe with their name, address, and telephone number to the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, Pa. 17110. Of course, only those recipes using REAL dairy products will be allowed to compete at the churn off. Entries must be received by August 1. Offer is limited to one entry per team or family. Teams may consist of no more than four members.

During the churn off, contestants are responsible for providing their own ingredients, materials, and ice cream freezer. The rock salt and ice will be provided. The contest will be conducted at 1:00 p.m. on August 15 at the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program booth, on the Ag Progress Days grounds.

Judging will be based on effective use of dairy products (30%); taste and visual appeal (30%); originality and creativity (30%); and ease of preparation (10%).

The contest is open to all Pennsylvania residents, except those with a professional food status or affiliation with the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program.

The first place winner will receive $300, second prize is $100, and honorable mentions will receive new ice cream makers. There will be no substitution of prizes. Income tax on all prizes is the responsibility of the winner. All federal, state, and local laws apply.

Kid's Korner

Scenes From Kutztown Folk Festival

Visitors could watch loaves baking in the hearth and then eat bread while it was hot.

Kids had the most fun tussling in the hay mounds and climbing in the wagon.

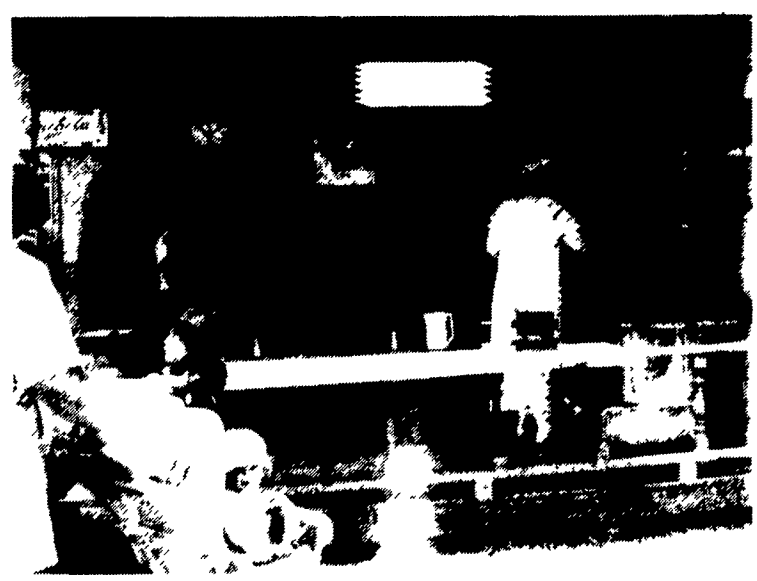
Kids had lots of fun at the Kutztown Folk Festival held June 30 through July 8. The Berks County festival helped visitors understand how others lived in the past 200 years.

If you did not attend, perhaps, your parents can take you to another festival that is held near your home. Many are held throughout the U.S. during the summer and fall months.

Screaming Weasel assisted Dr. Bumstead in a medicine show.

A roving magician kept the crowd guessing if his tricks were skill or magic.

Cool off with homemade rootbeer or old-fashioned lemonade.



Food could be purchased at stands fixed to portray the turn of the century style. Employees of the festival dressed in old-fashioned garb.

Kids of all ages tried their hand at giant bubble making.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

straw in his pen, resting comfortably, when I'd brought him the breakfast bottle. And although it was his first bottle feeding, he took the nipple readily, and began guzzling the warm milk.

He was about halfway through the bottle when my knees rebelled against the awkward kneeling position they were enduring. Maneuvering for more comfort, I shifted around to a better angle for this procedure.

And then the little guy woke up.

With an ear-splitting long bawl of protest, he knocked me to the side, exploded out the open pen front and disappeared on four flying legs down between the old bank barn and the dairy barn.

I didn't even try to give chase.

Born in the meadow to a new heifer, and having run free there for the previous two days, "Wildboy" ran raster than I was about to - especially on a hot, sticky, July morning. And he had developed a stubborn, mean streak, eager and willing to take on anything that got in his way. Like farm wives bearing bottles of milk.

He wasn't going anywhere too far, that was certain. Just to stake out the nearest cow that might serve up breakfast more in a style to his liking.

In fact, by the time I'd gotten down to the dairy barn with a warning to be on the lookout for my escapee, Wildboy had already been spotted. He was happily hiding in the middle of a gathering of cows busy munching away at a hay feeder outside the barn's back entryway.

When we put the herd back in for afternoon milking, Wildboy readily trotted down the barn, hard at Olive's heels. Olive, an older cow with a penchant for borrowing babies, was enjoying the temporary mothering role to the hilt.

She gave precious little milk that evening. And Wildboy, belly full, contentedly slept away the rest of the night back in his private pen.

Not anxious for a repeat the next morning, I made sure the removable pen front was firmly fastened before attempting another feeding. Wildboy promptly charged the pen's front, wedging his strong little head between the wooden crosspieces and knocking the gate completely out. While he was still busy fighting it, I wrestled him back into the pen before he (or I) got hurt.

Wildboy got his breakfast that morning from a two-legged surrogate mother with an oversized baby bottle. And voiced loud, periodic complaints about it.

Neighbor Ray stopped by that evening as the Farmer took a turn feeding Wildboy. Though taking his bottle, the calf's nostrils flared, his eyes were wide with distrust and his ears, stiff at attention.

"He is perky, isn't he," observed Ray, in a truly diplomatic description.

Subsequent feedings improved the calf's temperament or opinion of me very little. A bruise on my hand, where he slammed it against the pen gate with his head during a feeding, testifies to that fact.

But this morning, he did condescend to warily approach the bottle and accept breakfast with just a little coaxing. Perhaps Wildboy has decided that domestication has real merits, such as readily available food, water, shelter and a farm wife to wait on you hand and hoof.

Except it won't be this farm wife. Wildboy is about to depart for a new home on another farm, since we have no place to house him.

I hope they have good fences.

Chicken Contest

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Almost every cook has a favorite way to prepare chicken, but no one section of the country has a monopoly on prize-winning chicken cooks.

Since 1971, when the first $10,000 prize was awarded for the best recipe in the Cook-Off, only one state — Delaware — has produced two top winners. Other chicken cooking champions over the past two decades have come from California to Connecticut and from Georgia to Oregon as well as various other regions in between, including the District of Columbia. Two men have worn the national chicken cooking crown.

Winner of the 39th National Chicken Cooking Contest, to be held in May 1991, in Little Rock, Arkansas, will be the first Cook-Off winner to receive $25,000 for a chicken recipe. Second prize has been increased to $5,000 and three additional winning recipes will share another $6,000.

Fifty-one finalists — one from each state and the District of Columbia — will receive expense-paid trips to take part in the national Cook-Off. Deadline for entries is October 15, 1990.

Anyone may enter. Entry blanks are available, but are not required. Just write your name, address and telephone number on front of each chicken recipe entered and mail before October 15 to: Chicken Contest, Box 28158 Central Station, Washington, DC 20005.

Ice Cream's Popularity Never Melts

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — What tastes better on a hot summer day than a creamy scoop of your favorite ice cream? The icy smooth confection is a dream come true for taste buds everywhere. Yet the origin of America's favorite treat remains clouded in mystery. No specific date or personality has been credited with its creation. (No, it wasn't Dolly Madison, although she contributed to ice cream's success by serving it at President Madison's second inaugural banquet in 1812.)

Because it was in short supply, ice cream's earliest history suggests it was primarily enjoyed among the wealthy. But in 1851, a Baltimore milk dealer named Jacob Fussell helped make ice cream a growing industry in America.

By 1899, the U.S. was producing five million gallons of ice cream. By 1909, that figure grew to a cool 30 million gallons. 1919 saw over 150 million gallons and 1987's annual figure rose to more than 900 million gallons. That's a lot of ice cream. People over time have enjoyed the smooth and creamy treat. It's delicious, affordable and always in season.

Stendahl, a 19th century French writer, when tasting ice cream for the first time, said, "What a pity this isn't a sin." During the 1890s it came close. Eating rich ice cream sodas on a Sunday was criticized by some. So those savvy ice cream merchants of yore omitted the carbonated water and invented the famous ice cream "Sunday." Later the spelling was changed to "sundae" so as not to connect the treat with the Sabbath.

It was at the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair that ice cream cones were discovered by Ernest A. Hamwi. When this ingenious Syrian concession standholder ran out of dishes, he quickly whipped up a crisp wafer-like pastry rolled into a cone shape. He dipped the ice cream into the cone and served the new-fangled treat to anxious customers. The new cones were well-received and soon St. Louis, and the 1904 World's Fair, became known as the birthplace of the ice cream cone.

Ice cream and ice cream specialties continued to grow in popularity. During the "Roaring 20's," swell guys and gals, dressed in their natty finest, enjoyed the frozen treat after a grueling game of croquet.

Whatever decade you can most identify with, come on out and celebrate ice cream at the Pensupreme Ice Cream Festival, sponsored by Penn Dairies, Inc. with all proceeds benefitting the Lancaster County Library System and its branches throughout Lancaster County. The Festival is held on Sunday, July 15, and runs from 1 to 5 p.m. in Lancaster Square. Tickets are $3.50 for adults, $1.50 for children 5-11, and children 4 and under are admitted free when accompanied by a ticket purchasing adult. Pre-ticket sales are $3 for adults and $1 for children 5-11 and are available at all Lancaster County libraries.

Princess Honored At Luncheon

MILL HALL (Clinton Co.) — Robin Rupert, Clinton County Dairy Princess, was honored at a luncheon at the Dutch Haven Restaurant on Monday, July 2, by the Clinton County Dairy Promotion Committee.

Robin was presented with several gifts from the Committee in appreciation for the outstanding job she has done during her reign, which officially ended June 30.

During her reign, Robin traveled approximately 2,500 miles, made 34 School visits, and did radio spots, newspaper articles, and supermarket promotions. She did promotions at the Nittany and Susquehanna Valley Malls.

She was at Ag Progress Days, the Farm Show, the Sire Power Sale, and attended county, district, and state dairy shows. She also appeared at the Special Olympics in State College.

She has spoken at Farm meetings throughout the county as well as the Nittany Grange and the Lock Haven Christian Women's Club.

Clinton County does not have a dairy princess for 1990, however, but does have a Dairy Ambassador, Miss Sabrina Dole, daughter of Fran and Bill Dole of McElhattan. They also have two dairy maids: Jennifer Dotterer, daughter of Joyce and Larry Dotterer of R.D.#3, Mill Hall and Angela Beck, daughter of Bonnie and Ron Beck, of R.D.#3, Mill Hall.

These girls will be attending a training seminar at Penn State University on July 31. There they will have workshops on how to dress, meet people, give brief speeches, and promote dairy products. They have appeared in three parades, helped with Dairy Day at Agway in Mill Hall, and helped with a promotion at the Nittany Mall. On Tuesday, July 17, they will help the Dairy Promotion Committee build an ice cream sundae for the residents of Susque-View.

WE CUSTOM DESIGN SYSTEMS FOR YOU

Add A Splash Of Color

NEWARK, DE — You can create a bright and colorful annual flower garden when you purposely plant certain flowers together, according to University of Delaware Cooperative Extension horticulture specialist Sue Barton.

"The color wheel can help you determine which colors complement one another," says Barton. "For example, yellow complements violet and orange complements blue. So you could plant yellow daylilies with violet verbena or orange marigolds with blue salvia.

"Flowers of certain colors next to one another on the color wheel can stir an impression of the garden," Barton adds. "Red and orange together, for example, create a warm effect, and blue and green create a cool effect."

You can make a large garden area appear smaller by using warm colors or a small garden area appear larger with cool-colored flowers, the specialist notes.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Jenny Trostle, Stevens, wanted an icing recipe that uses honey without any powdered sugar in it. Thanks to Annetta Sensenig, Quarryville who sent one.

Cream Cheese Frostening

1 3-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1 to 2 tablespoons carob powder, optional
1½ tablespoons honey
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cinnamon, optional

Mix cream cheese with carob, honey, and vanilla. Add cinnamon to taste. This makes a thin frosting that may be successfully doubled.

ANSWER — N.E. Koons, Lebanon, wanted a Pita dough recipe. Thanks to Abi Kibbe of Monroe, N.H., and Dottie Yautz, Easton, for recipes.

Pita Dough

1¼ cups warm water
1 package yeast
1½ teaspoon salt

Mix together until dissolved, then add:

3 cups flour

Knead on a floured surface until smooth. Divide into eight equal balls. Roll on floured surface to make each one 5-inches in diameter. Cover and let rise for one hour or until dough is puffy. Bake 450 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes. Turn once to brown both sides.

Pita Bread

1 package active dry yeast
2 tablespoons honey
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups hot water (125 degrees)
5-6 cups white flour (may use some whole wheat)

In a large bowl, combine yeast, honey, salt, and hot water; stir well.

Add the first four cups of flour, 1 at a time and mix well with a wooden spoon.

Spread 1 cup of flour over the counter and scrape dough onto it and knead in.

Add as much of the remaining flour as you need to make a medium stiff dough. Knead for a few minutes. Let rise in an oiled bowl for an hour in a warm place. Cover with dry towel.

Punch down when risen and knead gently to get rid of any large bubbles.

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Turn dough onto lightly floured counter and cut into 12 pieces. Roll each piece into a ball and place on a floured board. Cover with a dry towel and let rest 10 minutes. Grease a large baking sheet.

Because the balls have rested the tops have dried slightly; place the dry side on counter and press, pat, and pound (but don't poke) until flattened to ¼ inch thick and 5 inches across. Gently lift the round of dough onto the cookie sheet and flatten a bit more. Put only two rounds on a sheet. Repeat for the remaining balls. Bake directly on the bottom of the oven for 5 minutes or until the bottoms are dark brown. Cool on wire rack.

ANSWER — R. Stoltfus requested a recipe for chess pie. Thanks to Mrs. Miles Hartman, Dillsburg; Rachel Himmelberger; and to a Fleetwood reader for answering.

Chess Pie

1 cup seedless raisins
⅔ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup rich milk
¼ teaspoon salt

Cook raisins in ½ cup water and add ½ sugar. Combine flour and remainder of the sugar; add milk, and egg yolks. Stir until smooth; add raisins. cook until thick and put in baked pie shell. Cover with meringue made with the egg white.

Chess Pie

Mix together:
1 cup brown sugar, packed
½ cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon cornmeal

Thoroughly beat:
2 eggs
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add to dry ingredients. Add ½ cup butter, melted. Pour into unbaked 9-inch pie shell. Bake at 375 degrees about 25 minutes. The pie will be puffy when removed from the oven, but falls after setting to form a crunchy top.

Chess Pie

1 cup white sugar
1 cup seeded raisins
3 egg yolks
½ cup milk
½ cup butter
¾ cup chopped walnuts
Vanilla

Boil raisins in 2 cups water until mixture is dry. Cream butter, sugar and eggs. Add milk. Combine with raisins and walnuts. Pour into unbaked pie shell and bake at 325 degrees for 35 minutes or until lightly browned.

For 20 years, Alletta Schadler, Lebanon County Extension director, has been meeting the needs of the community through programs, articles and radio talk shows.

For 20 Years, Lettie Gives Answers To Real Questions

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Talk to almost anyone in Lebanon County and their conversation is punctuated with "Lettie says..." or "ask Lettie...."

Lettie is the fondly-spoken nickname for Alletta Schadler, director of the Lebanon County Extension.

Lebanon countians consider her an encyclopedia of information on food safety, nutrition, and consumer issues.

For 20 years, Schadler has worked at the extension office, which services a community of 112,000. For 16 of those 20 years she has been director. She is now working with the second generation of families.

"It's the best county to work in for size. It takes only 15 minutes to get out of the city going in any direction. It isn't rural poor or urban poor. About 50 percent live in the city and another 50 percent in the country," she said.

"The neat thing is that everyone working at extension is here because she or he wants to be here. We see community needs and design programs to answer those needs. Then we put the programs into practice. There are few jobs where the freedom to do that exists. Lebanon Extension has one of the most active programs in the state."

Lettie considers her job so exciting that she admits, "Some days I'd pay to work here."

Of all the workshops and the complex duties that Lettie performs, she said her favorite is "to give real answers to real questions."

She gives those answers when she conducts radio talk shows on WLBR and on WAHT. For these one- to two-hour shows, Lettie chooses a topic and listeners call in questions for her to answer.

"I love impromptu questioning," Lettie admits. "It makes me feel like a reference librarian."

In the span of 20 years, Lettie has grappled with changes within the extension system. Switching from meeting rural agricultural needs to those of suburbia, has not always been easy. With the ever-changing needs of society, the extension seeks to meet the need. This requires constant updating of education and skills.

In an effort to streamline their services, extension has been using multi-county agents in place of county agents.

Relinquishing control to multi-county agents was at first scary, but Lettie found that it allow focus on what each is good at doing.

In the past, extension scheduled county-wide meetings and programs. Now, evening meetings are more popular. A relatively new concept is to take the workshop to the work site. It begins by extension contacting industry with a specific topic such as one on calcium-rich cooking and another on nutrition.

But the agency isn't the only thing to change over the years.

Lettie said it used to be hard for her to ask volunteers to do a lot of work, but that's not true anymore. She said she found that volunteers get a great deal of satisfaction in volunteering.

"To see lay people teach each other is stimulating," she said.

One thing she doesn't like is cleaning up. "All my professional life I've been dragging stuff from one workshop to another."

Lettie served as interregional extension director for 19 months. Although she enjoyed it, she was glad to return to Lebanon where she finds county commissioners very supportive of extension services.

At home, she experiments with cooking projects that are taste-tested by her husband William, a district justice.

Some day she hopes to finish her master's degree. She has the course work finished for her major on commercial consumer services, but needs to write a thesis.

After two decades of teaching workshops, writing a newsletter and newspaper columns, and talking on the radio, Lettie says, "I'm tired, but I'm not bored."

Extension Helps Those Who Want To Start Their Own Businesses

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — So you're thinking of starting your own business.

Then Winifred McGee is the person to see. As multi-extension agent small business developer, McGee will serve four counties, Lancaster, Lebanon, York, and Dauphin.

For the person starting his or her own business, McGee said, "Working in the home is a more valid consideration with home computers and telemarketing."

Unfortunately more than 75 percent of businesses fail in the first two years. McGee believes detailed planning can lower the failure rate.

For those who are contemplating beginning their own business, McGee has compiled information and detailed instructions. In addition to teaching workshops on setting up your own business, McGee will work on a one to one basis with prospective businesspersons.

According to McGee an entrepreneur should be disciplined, willing to take calculated risk, methodical, and innovative.

She stresses, "When starting your own business, you must create for market and not self." It doesn't do any good to enjoy doing a project if there isn't a customer to buy it.

She predicts that she will work primarily with those interested in businesses such as nursery, horticulture, cooking, day care, capentry, and greenhouse.

She provides answers to legal questions, gives information for business planning and ideas for

Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Training Seminar

The Training Of A Princess

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

MILLERSVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — For three days, 38 dairy princesses and 26 alternates found out how to look, dress, act, and talk like a princess.

The Pennsylvania dairy princess training seminar held at Millersville on July 9 through 11, was packed with ideas on how to talk with the media, how to style hair, and how to speak before an audience.

"It's exciting to see the change and growth that these girls go through," said Mim Kauffman, a teacher at the seminar.

Kauffman, in her public speaking sessions, encourages the contestants "to learn to like yourself." That is the first step she believes to the secret of speaking confidently and creatively.

With humor and enthusiasm, Kauffman and Bev Minor, another workshop leader and the 1959 PA Dairy Princess, demonstrated the difference between boring and exciting talks.

The princesses and alternates were taught how to use dialogue, soliloquy, gestures, and props while promoting dairy products.

Mary Werner of Beaver-Lawrence, who is a current state alternate, said that the past year has made her a real people person. Her advice to current county dairy princesses is to learn as much as you can and have fun.

"When you attend these seminars, your relationship with the others becomes almost like that of your graduating class," Werner said.

In preparation for the state pageant, the princesses performed a skit that was critiqued. "It's a great help," one contestant said, "because my county chairperson told me very little about preparing for this."

Each of the county princesses will meet again for state competition in September when a state princess and two alternates will be chosen.

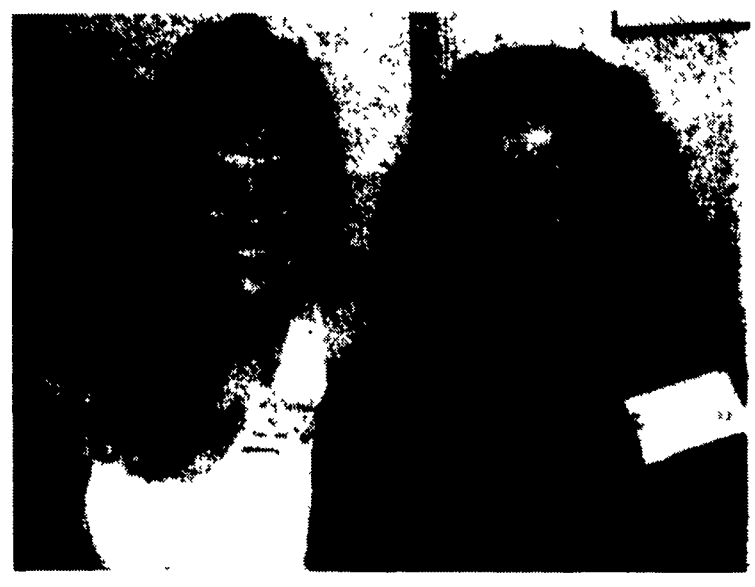
Pennsylvania Alternate Dairy Princess Angela Spickler helped Tonja Shaw of Dauphin County and other county dairy princesses set-up props for the skits they performed.

Linda Fisher of Mifflin County looks forward to a new hairstyle by stylists Jeff Lloyd and Melinda Johnson.

County princesses and alternates got a new look when Melinda Johnson taught them color and make-up techniques.

Kim Black of Crawford County gets a new look from hair stylist Jeff Lloyd from Bradford County.

By the time contestants finished taking a public speaking class by Mim Kauffman, right, they were eager to speak before audiences. From left: Rebecca Fogleman, Lycoming; Carly Soderi, Wayne; Nicold Childers, Bedford; and Mary Beth Landis, Bucks.



Sullivan County Dairy Princess Sally Reibson was accompanied by her mother. Contestants could bring their mother if the county coordinator did not attend.

Wyoming, Lackawanna Counties Hold Pageant

TUNKHANNOCK (Wyoming Co.) — Crowned the Wyoming/Lackawanna County Dairy Princess, Karen Brown will combine her princess responsibilities with feeding and milking 100 cows on her parents 365-acre farm. Karen is the daughter of Philip and Janet Brown of Lemon. The 16-year-old attends Tunkhannock Area High School where she is a member of the Future Business Leaders of America, the Spanish Club, and the varsity volleyball team.

Alice Pensak, the 17-year-old daughter of Carl and Alice Pensak of Factoryville, was crowned alternate princess. A senior at Lackawanna Trail High School, she is majoring in business and is vice president of student council, a football cheerleader and a band member. She also was a former dairy maid for both counties. She helps on her parents' farm with feeding and milking 80 head of cows.

Thirteen-year-old Charlene Shupp of Tunkhannock was crowned dairy maid at the pageant. She is an eighth grade student at Tunkhannock Middle School where she is in band, chorus, and track. She is a member of the 4-H dairy club, and the 4-H County Council. She enjoys taking care of the calves and her 4-H animals on her family's farm.

Karen was crowned by Russ Gunton, aide to Senator Charles Lemmond. Commissioner Willard Baker presented Alice with her banner.

ANSWER — Stanley Sitko, Pottstown, wanted recipes for fish cakes. Thanks to Mrs. Zimmerman from Fleetwood for sending one.

Breaded Fish Cakes

3 medium potatoes
1 cup cooked fish, any variety
1 egg
¼ cup milk

Cook potatoes in water until soft. Drain and mash. Mix with cooked fish, flaked. Add egg and milk. Mix well. Shape into cakes or patties. Bread with bread crumbs or cracker crumbs. Deep fry until golden brown.

ANSWER — Mrs. Elvin Zimmerman, Millmont, requested a recipe for Boston Cream Pie. Thanks to about 25 readers for answering. I regret that we cannot print all the answers. A recipe from Julia Martin, Myerstown, follows.

Boston Cream Pie

1½ cups sugar
1½ cups flour
5 eggs, well beaten separately
½ cup cold water
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ teaspoon salt

Sift dry ingredients together except cream of tartar. Beat water with egg yolks until thick. Add sugar. Add sifted ingredients. Set aside. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar. Gently fold into first mixture. Line 2 9-inch round pans with wax paper. Divide mixture in pans. Bake 30 minutes at 325 degrees. Cool. Cut top half off cake. Fill with filling. Put top half on again. Put frosting on top. The second cake can be frozen for later use. The filling and icing recipe is for only one cake.

Cream filling:

½ cup sugar
¼ cup cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
4 egg yolks
½ teaspoon vanilla

Mix ½ cup milk, sugar, cornstarch, salt, egg yolks, and vanilla in blender. Bring the 1½ cups milk to a boil. Add the mixture and bring to a boil again. Cool.

Chocolate glaze:

2 tablespoons butter
1 square unsweetened chocolate
1 cup confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons boiling water

Melt chocolate and butter. Add sugar and boiling water. Beat until smooth. Top cake.

ANSWER — Mrs. Gene Jennings, Fallston, Md., requested a recipe for potato filling like that served at Yoder's Steak House in New Holland. Thanks to Helen Nolt, New Holland, who said she thinks this is the recipe she wants.

Mashed Potato Filling

1 cup celery, diced
1 cup butter
1 medium onion, diced
2 packages bread cubes
6 eggs, beaten
1 quart milk
1 cup boiling water
2 big pinches saffron
3 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1 quart mashed potatoes

Saffron can be purchased at Lancaster County grocery stores. Put saffron in boiling water. Cook celery and onion in butter for 15 minutes. Pour over bread crumbs and mix. Add remaining ingredients, mixing well. Add more milk if necessary to keep mixture very moist. Put in greased casserole and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Berks Society 1

Society of Farm Women Group 1, Berks County, met recently at the home of Mrs. Esther Berndt with 17 members answering to roll call.

A slide presentation of Peru was given by Mr. and Mrs. John Reider, Oley Valley teachers, followed by a regular business meeting.

Upcoming events include Scenic River Festival, County Convention, and Berks Heim bingo.

#1 YEAR ROUND BEST SELLER

Hey! Folks

If your cows are slipping and falling, it ain't my fault because I have a machine called a Scabbler that will fix that concrete so your cows won't keep slipping all the time.

We've got service all around this section of the country, and I have a fellow just jumping to do your job mighty fast.

And that ain't all, our prices are right reasonable, and if you're a tightwad we'll let you do the job yourself if you've got over 500 square feet. It can save you right smart a money.

So call me on my nickel at 800-692-0123. If I'm not by the phone, some real live person will take your number, and I'll try to get back to you real soon. Usually somebody is awake in this outfit, so you just call any time day or night. But, please mind the Lord, and don't call on Sunday.

Just one more thing. We fellows make our living doing this kind of work, and we've got children to feed and bills. That's our side of it, but you've got such things too. A lot of people tell us that this Scabbling saves a whole lot more than it costs. So go ahead and do it. It'll put shoes on everybody's feet.

Be looking to hear from you folks right soon.

Is There A Low-Fat Cheese?

For many health conscious people who wish to lower their fat intake, the hardest thing for them to do is lower their cheese intake. Besides having appealing variety, great taste, compelling convenience which makes it an excellent sandwich and snack food, cheese is a good source of calcium and protein. Unfortunately, between 65 and 75 percent of its calories come from fat. A typical one and one-half ounce serving, which is equivalent to two slices of American cheese, contains nearly the same amount of fat as three and one-half pats of butter, and most of it is saturated.

What about the low-fat cheeses? The unfortunate truth is that most cheeses labeled "slender," "lite,", "low-fat," or "part-skim" contain only slightly less fat than regular varieties. Even if a cheese has 50% less fat, an ounce of it may still contain about 5 grams of fat, and a hefty 60% of its total calories may come from fat.

Low-fat natural cheese is actually hard to make because fat is what gives cheese its consistency. Processed cheeses, in which water is added to a cheese blend are lower in fat. The "lite" cheeses are relatively high in sodium. A one and one-half ounce serving will contain from 340 to 700 milligrams of sodium, a significant amount if you are limiting your sodium intake. If you can afford the sodium intake these cheeses have the advantage of low spoilage rates, so they are handy for brown-bag lunches and travel well.

If like most people, you like cheese and still want to watch your fat intake, eat small servings or eat it on days when you are eating an otherwise low-fat menu. Save cheese for special occasion menus, and if you use it when cooking, pack it loosely when measuring and do not add "extra" for good measure.

According to a recent issue of the University of California, Berkeley Wellness Letter, your low-fat cheese choices are a little better now than they were a year ago. Larger markets and gourmet shops are starting to stock more exotic and new varieties of cheeses that are lower in fat. Here are some to look for:

Gammelost. This semisoft blue cheese from Norway is made from sour skim milk and has a sharp, aromatic flavor. One ounce contains about 60 calories and 0.3 gram of fat. It is comparatively low in sodium, too -- 85 milligrams.

Sapsago. Made from slightly sour skim milk plus buttermilk, sapsago takes a bit of getting used to. Very hard, light green, and with a pungent herb flavor, it is best used as a grating cheese like Parmesan. One ounce contains about 65 calories and 2 grams of fat. Like Parmesan, however, it is very high in sodium -- 520 milligrams of sodium per ounce. Sapsago comes from Switzerland, but it is also made in Germany, where it is usually called Schabziger, Glarnerkase, Grunerkase, or Krauterkase.

Hoop or baker's cheese. Previously used primarly by bakers and in special diets, this soft cheese is now available at many markets. The curd is separated from the whey and is not cooked or washed, which gives it a distinctive acidic taste. One ounce has about 85 calories, less than one gram of fat, and because it is unsalted, just 10 milligrams of sodium. Hoop or baker's cheese is good in dips, spreads, and many cooked dishes. (For a creamy dip, mix it with some low-fat or nonfat yogurt.) If you cannot find it at your favorite market, you can approximate it by rinsing low-fat cottage cheese in cold water.

While cheeseburgers always taste great with the old favorites, catsup and mustard, they're also delicious with a spread of flavored cream cheese, sour cream, chili sauce or creamy horseradish dressing.

As a tasty appetizer for a casual get-together, serve mini-burgers on small rolls and offer a variety of cheese toppers and accompaniments.

Food Safety First For Summer Barbecues

NEWARK, Del. — The savory smells of sizzling steak, barbecued chicken, and grill-cooked burgers — what summer celebration is complete without these? Barbecuing has long been an American tradition for cooking meat, and it continues to grow in popularity, according to Roxane Whittaker, Kent County extension home economist.

But along with the summer heat and food preparation comes the increased risk of microorganisms that can cause food poisoning. Whittaker offers several safety precautions to help reduce food-poisoning risks.

Keep all foods refrigerated until preparation or grilling time. Prepare all foods in a clean area with well-washed hands and utensils. If meats are to be marinated, do so in a plastic or glass container in the refrigerator for a minimum of six to eight hours before cooking. Turn the meat at least once to let the flavors of the marinade penetrate.

The grill itself should be kept clean and free of food particles. To prepare the grill for cooking, rinse it in warm water, then coat it with a non-stick vegetable spray. Or lightly rub the grill with vegetable oil to make cleanup easier and to help keep food from sticking. Thoroughly wash the grill in hot water and soap after each use.

When building the fire, be sure it is hot enough to properly cook the meat.

"A good rule is to use 30 briquettes to grill one pound of meat," Whittaker said. "Cook all meats at a low to moderate temperature unless a recipe indicates otherwise."

To judge the temperature of the fire, hold your hand at the cooking height, palm side down. "Count the number of seconds you can hold your hand in that position before the heat forces you to pull it away. At low to moderate temperatures, you should be able to hold your hand over the heat for four or five seconds," said the home economists.

To increase grill temperature, move the grill closer to the coals or push the coals together. To lower grill temperature, raise the grill higher and spread coals apart.

Be sure food is fully cooked before serving. The time it takes to cook the meat depends on the position of the grill, weather, temperature of the coals, and degree of doneness desired. Meats should be tested for doneness while they're cooking.

To test steaks and chops, make a slit near the bone and check the color. "Depending on the thickness of the meat and how well you want it cooked, it can take anywhere from 15 to 50 minutes to cook completely," Whittaker said.

Poultry is done when the meat pulls freely from the bone and the thighs and drumsticks move easily.

Fish will become opaque throughout when properly cooked. Use firm-textured fish for grilling.

Larger cuts of meat — whole hams or roasts — require a meat termometer to test for doness. Whittaker also recommends that larger cuts sit for 15 minutes before you carve them.

When food is fully cooked, place it on a clean plate or serving dish, not on the same plate used to bring raw food to the grill. The uncooked food may have left some microorganisms on the plate. All plates used to carry uncooked food should be thoroughly washed before being used again.

When the meal is over, promptly put away all foods and leftovers.

According to the American Dairy Association, a burger topped with 1 ounce of Swiss cheese and 1 ounce of Cheddar cheese provides over 400 milligrams of calcium, more than half the daily requirement (for women age 19 and older).

Over 82 percent of American households own a grill.

Cheeseburgers, the most popular sandwich on foodservice menus, are offered in 74 percent of all restaurants.

More men (58 percent) than women (42 percent) assume the grilling responsibility.

hillsboro
with flip-up beaver tail

24 Foot Length Shown 5 - 24 Ft. Models Now In Stock

28 Foot Length Shown 1 - 28 Ft. & 2 - 32 Ft. Models Now In Stock

Optional deck over the neck is 7½ 'x8'

The FLIP-UP BEAVERTAIL raises and lowers in seconds -- slide out ramps are stored under the beavertail The Hillsboro Flatbed features a full 96" deck width which is more value than the competition

The Hillsboro Flatbed is available in two styles, the 20' and 24' trailer with standard neck, and the 28', 30' and 32' trailer with heavy duty neck.

VERSATILE — RUGGED — RELIABLE and REASONABLY PRICED!

The Hillsboro Flatbed Trailer with flip-up beavertail can be the one trailer that means lower cost for you. Here's why!!

VERSATILITY! That's what makes a Hillsboro trailer such a good investment With the beavertail down it's an excellent trailer for moving wheeled equipment. Flip the beavertail up and it adds an extra four feet of deck space for hauling hay and other bulky loads.

HERE'S WHAT HILLSBORO QUALITY MEANS - All Hillsboro trailers are manufactured in precise jigs and fixtures which assures excellent alignment of axles, a better pulling trailer, a level and square trailer

HILLSBORO WORKMANSHIP INCLUDES-Exceptional weld quality, material that is chemically cleaned, two coats of high quality paint, material strength engineered into the best flatbed value

CONSTRUCTED FOR YEARS OF MAINTENANCE-FREE SERVICE.

Look over these outstanding features.

- Less weight. Eby aluminum bodies weigh up to 30% less than comparable steel and wood construction.
- Less maintenance. Aluminum construction won't rust or rot - never needs painting.
- Long-life durability. Heavy-duty structural components and hollow-tube frame combine with aluminum floor and sides to stand up to years of hard work.

Get outstanding value in EVERY Eby trailer.

Whether it's a top-of-the-line Ruff Neck or an economical Wrangler, you know your livestock trailer is built to last if it's from Eby.

Aluminum construction is one of the main reasons these trailers are so durable and reliable. They'll never rust through or need welding. In fact, without ever being painted, an Eby livestock trailer will stay looking new for years.

Standard features make your Eby trailer a profitable investment. Extra-heavy axles, brakes, wheels and tires. Thick aluminum sheet flooring. Sturdy posts and rails. Even an aerodynamically designed front end is standard.

Whether it's a Wrangler or deluxe Ruff Neck, the trailer you buy will be the trailer you need.

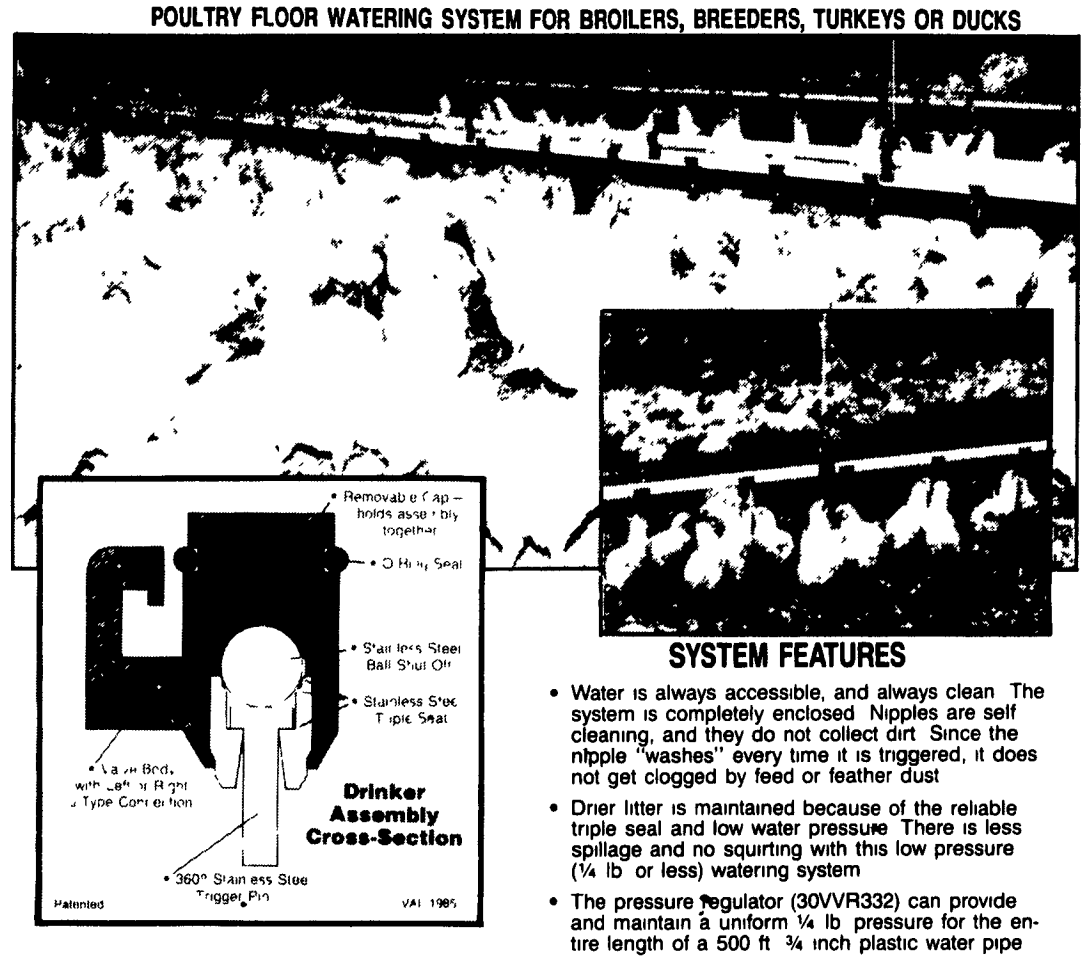
VAL WATERING SYSTEMS

POULTRY FLOOR WATERING SYSTEM FOR BROILERS, BREEDERS, TURKEYS OR DUCKS



• Removable Cap – holds assembly together
• O Ring Seal
• Stainless Steel Ball Shut Off
• Stainless Steel Triple Seal
• Valve Body, with Left or Right Type Connection
• 360° Stainless Steel Trigger Pin
Drinker Assembly Cross-Section
Patented
VAL 1985

SYSTEM FEATURES

- Water is always accessible, and always clean The system is completely enclosed Nipples are self cleaning, and they do not collect dirt Since the nipple "washes" every time it is triggered, it does not get clogged by feed or feather dust
- Drier litter is maintained because of the reliable triple seal and low water pressure There is less spillage and no squirting with this low pressure (¼ lb or less) watering system
- The pressure regulator (30VVR332) can provide and maintain a uniform ¼ lb pressure for the entire length of a 500 ft ¾ inch plastic water pipe

NIPPLE DRINKER FEATURES

- Day-old birds can activate the valve from any side, any angle (Mini drinkers required only if birds have been debeaked day-old)
- Triple stainless steel valve seat made to precision specifications No rubber seats to replace Drinker operates on low ¼-lb pressure Minimizes wet litter problems
- Each nipple can serve 15 broilers 10 heavy breeders or 8 turkeys
- Drinker mounts on water line saddle by means of a "J" flange Easy assembly and easy replacement
- New Mini-Trough Drinker available for day old debeaked birds Attaches to Nipple Floor Watering System, and remains through grow-out period There is no need to remove the mini-trough between flocks

Teams From 41 Counties Compete At Envirothon

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — The seventh annual Pennsylvania State Envirothon was held on Saturday, June 23, at Bald Eagle State Park in Centre County.

Teams from 41 counties participated in the event, which is designed to give high school students an opportunity to test and prove their knowledge of environmental resources.

Students are challenged in the areas of aquatics, forestry, soils, wildlife, and current environmental issues. The overall theme for this year's competition was wetlands.

The annual state contest is sponsored by the State Conservation Commission and the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts. Teams earn the right to compete in the State Envirothon by capturing a local Envirothon sponsored by their County Conservation District. More than 3,000 students took part in local Envirothons this past spring.

The 1990 PA State Envirothon champions are from Blue Mountain High School in Schuylkill County. This marks the third year in a row that Blue Mountain High School has won the state competition. Second place went to York County's Red Lion High School. Franklin Regional High School from Westmoreland County finished third. Seven regional awards were also presented.

James Buchanan High School represented Franklin County. Team members were James Meyers, Jason Heinbaugh, Rock Sabetto, Lemar Long, and David Nagy. The team advisor was Steve Harry.

Every student taking part in the State Envirothon received a hat and a certificate of participation. Plaques were presented to the state and regional winners. The winning team also received a white water rafting trip.

DER Deputy Secretary James Grace, Office of Natural Resources Terry Fabian, State Conservation Commission Executive Secretary Paul O. Swartz, and the President of the PA Association of Conservation Districts Dave Mankamyer presented the awards to the teams.

The Department of Environmental Resources and the Fish Commission, along with the PA Game Commission and the USDA Soil Conservation Service, provide annual assistance with both the state and local Envirothons. The PA Alliance for Environmental Education has also assisted with the 1989 and 1990 state contests.

Through the efforts of the Washington County Conservation District, funds to cover the major costs of the 1990 State Envirothon contest were donated by the Wetterau Company. Wetterau, the third largest food distribution company in the nation, is associated with the Foodland stores and has an office near Pittsburgh. The company recently unveiled an Environmental Shopper program in its store.

The 1990 Pennsylvania State Envirothon Champs from Blue Mountain High School will now represent the state at the third National Envirothon planned for August in Zanesville, Ohio. Pennsylvania won both the 1988 and 1989 National Envirothons. Seventeen states across the country have now initiated Envirothon contests based on Pennsylvania's Envirothon Program.

Unique Exhibits At Upper Marlboro Field Day

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — The needs of the Southern Maryland agricultural community are changing.

Consequently, this year's Upper Marlboro Facility Field Day will feature such exhibits as "Cut Flower Production" and "Japanese Pear Culture," as well as the traditional tobacco research exhibits.

"We've always researched agricultural alternatives at this facility, but in recent years we've expanded that type of research," said Dr. Claude G. McKee, Upper Marlboro facility manager. "We're evaluating more vegetables and field crops and also doing more research that benefits the environment."

The 1990 field day, scheduled for July 25, features wagon tours of research plots running from 8:30 a.m. to noon.

This year, for the first time, the field day will feature two concurrent research tours instead of only one.

Stops on Tour One, which focuses on Agricultural Production, are:

- Baling tobacco
- Cut flower production
- Tobacco IPM program
- Japanese pear culture
- Reducing labor at tobacco harvest.

Stops on Tour Two, Agriculture and the Environment, are:

- Nitrogen quick test
- Evaluating atrazine and nitrogen runoff and percolation into groundwater
- Pond covers for extending aquacultural season
- Legume nitrogen for crop production
- Effect of land use on runoff water.

Lunch may be purchased for a nominal fee. The lunch program includes an awards presentation and a herbicide and disease update for southern Maryland. There will also be farm equipment displays and demonstrations throughout the day.

The Upper Marlboro Facility is part of the University of Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station's Central Maryland Research and Education Center.

Collegian Interns With Select Sires

PLAIN CITY, Ohio — Select Sires announces the selection of Lisa Mullen of Wisconsin, as their summer intern in their informational department. Mullen will assist with the visitor tour program, advertisement design and layout, and the writing of press releases while at national headquarters in Plain City.

This September she will continue with her senior year at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. She is majoring in Agricultural Journalism and Agricultural Education. Mullen will graduate with two degrees in December 1991.

At UW-Madison, Mullen has been active in the Badger Dairy Club (BDC), Association of Women in Agriculture (AWA), Agriculture Education and Extension (AEE) and Alpha Gamma Rho as a Rhomate.

Along with many other dairy club activities, Mullen was a member of the National Collegiate dairy judging team which took first place overall and in oral reasons at the 1989 World Dairy Expo, 1988 All-American in Pennsylvania and 1987 Exposition in Iowa. She took second individual and first in reasons at Expo, was first in reasons and first overall at the All-American and third individual and fourth in reasons at Waterloo. She is also president for AWA and serves as Rhomate treasurer.

Mullen is the daughter of Donald and Priscilla Mullen of Bloomer, Wisc. They milk 60 registered Holsteins on 320 acres.

Select Sires provides internships in both the information and marketing departments throughout the year in cooperation with colleges and universities across the country. Select Sires consists of 12 farmer-owned and controlled A.I. cooperatives and serves the largest number of co-op members in the U.S.

Some Nice Antique Farm Equipment On Display

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — The Chester County Home and Farm Antique Association will host a demonstration of antique farm equipment on Sunday, July 15, 1990, 12 p.m. to 4 p.m., at Springton Manor Farm. Visitors attending the demonstration will witness the operation of a 1928 McCormick-Deering thresher, cultivators, and other antique farm equipment. Normal farm fees apply.

The Antique Association has previously sponsored similar demonstrations. In spring, 1989, their "200 Years of Harvesting" traced the development of agricultural technology from the early 1800s to the present. Last fall they hosted a threshing demonstration using equipment owned by various members of the Association.

Examples of antique farm equipment are on display at Springton Manor Farm, contributed by the Society and individual members.

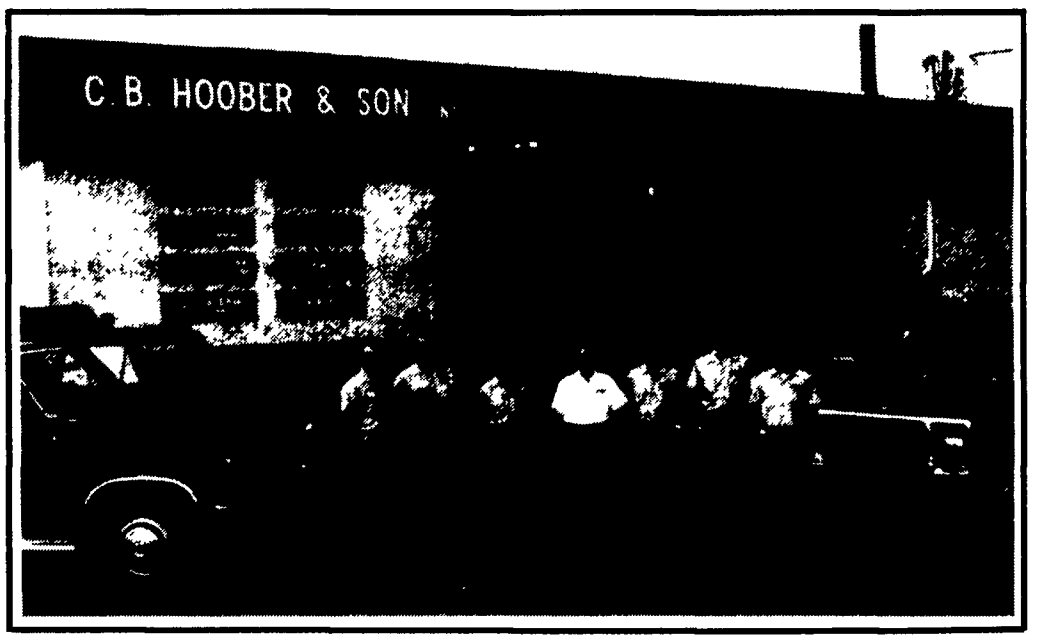
case IH AXIAL FLOW ... One Step Ahead For



. . . OPERATION
. . . PERFORMANCE
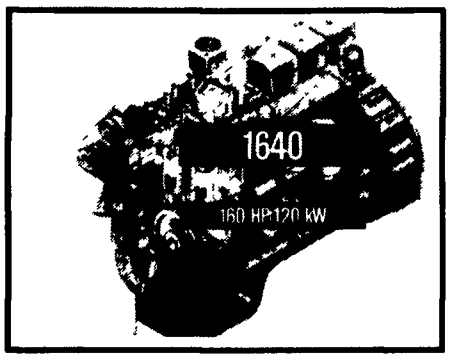
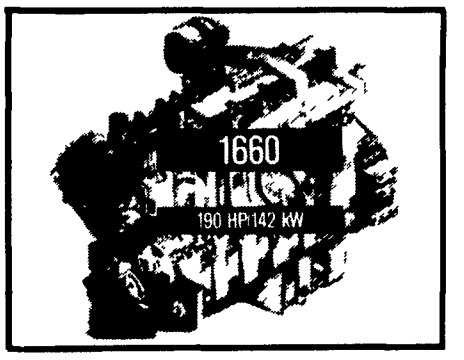
. . . COMFORT
. . . HEADERS

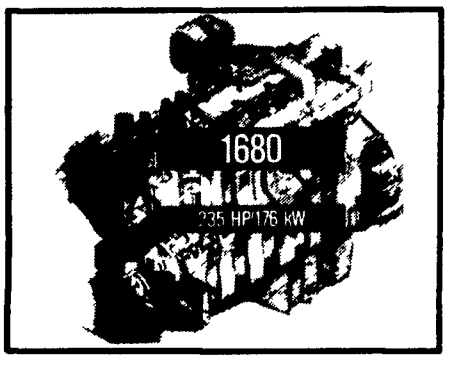
"XPE" AXIAL FLOW COMBINES MEAN EXTRA POWER & ECONOMY...



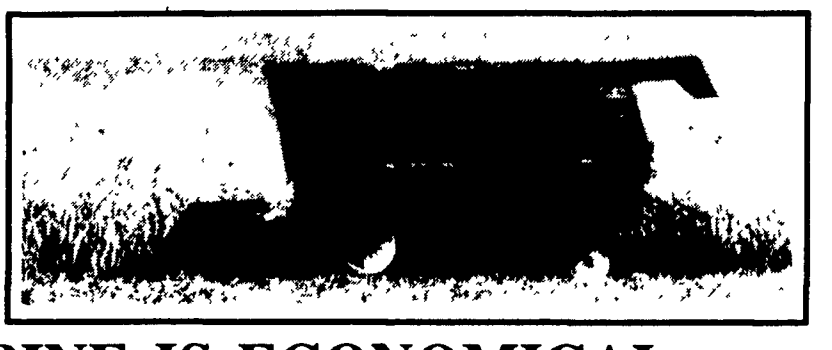
The "XPE" Axial Flow Combines are powered with the CASE-IH diesel engines -- the same engines that have been used in the MAGNUM and FARGO-BUILT 4WD tractor lines for at least the last 5 years. These are field-tested engines designed to produce thousands of hours of use on today's farms at EXTRA savings for fuel and repairs.



These engines were designed from the ground up using the latest in diesel technology. On the models where turbo-charges and aftercoolers are used. They were designed in. Not bolted on as an afterthought. Starting from scratch CASE-IH engineers were able to combine components into integrated systems, resulting in fewer total parts. That means a lot less can go wrong, and if there is a problem, there's a lot less to fix.



A few specific areas of the engines get the most stress, so that's where they put the extra weight and strength. By computer aided stress analysis, engineers found that some areas don't need that much strength, so they built the engines lighter there. That means less weight and better fuel economy.



HOOBER customers tell us that they have noticed as much as a 30 percent reduction in fuel expense when they changed to a CASE-IH "XPE" Axial Flow combine from a conventional combine. Over the useful life of a combine that amounts to a very significant savings.

THE CASE-IH Axial Flow COMBINE IS ECONOMICAL TO OWN AND TO RUN... TRY A DEMO TODAY!!!

Gribaldi Superior Sickle Bar Mower

7' dynabalance type mower features latest in design technology. No more broken Pitman rods to worry about. A heavy-duty power head with articulating arms drives both section bar and guard bar providing a dual cutting action. It is possible to cut with the sickle in any inclined position. A safety release with automatic rehooking is provided to prevent damage. This mower is 3-point in design and comes standard with extra section bar.

GET THE EXTRA EDGE

Put a Vicon three-bladed disc mower conditioner through wet, heavy, tangled crops. Then compare the difference.

With almost double the number of cuts per minute over two-bladed disc competitors, and six times the cuts per minute over sicklebar systems, it's easy to understand the clean, fast, NO PLUG performance of Vicon KM disc mower conditioners.

BUY NOW! special price

KM281 9' 4" CUT

$10,495.00*

Add the extra suction created by Vicon's unique triangular discs, the full swivel hitch that lets you cut square corners on the move, and gentle, full width conditioning, and you're looking at a high capacity machine that puts productivity in a whole new dimension. Four models cut from 7' to 10'6" widths.

Vicon's got the edge. The extra edge.

WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS

Check Your Silo Now For Rotten Staves. If You Have Been Using Your Silo For 10 To 15 Years For Either Corn Silage Or Haylage, It Is Time To SHOTCRETE.

Check Your Silo For Deteriorated Concrete!

If you have a 15 year old silo... get it fixed or insure it better! But don't wait until the last minute to have it repaired because we may not be able to fix it if you wait too long.

REMEMBER your silo will not fall over when it's empty - it will fall over when it's full. It cannot stand on deteriorated concrete...

-THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER-
- Spoilage is reduced around doors
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation
- Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life
- Quick installation
- Effectively seals silos from air and weather

Ruff Tuff Poly Silo Liners Come In Standard Lengths Of 40, 50, 60 and 70 Feet
The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos

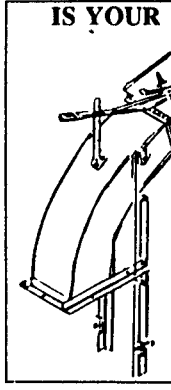
Strengthen And Reseal Your Silo With Shotcrete

S & S Silo Serivce Has Experience
Over 700 Silos Have Been Relined With Shotcrete

IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH GRASS SILAGE?



FOR FAST BLOWING USE THE NEW 1200 MULTI-FLO SPREADER!

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.

WAIT!

Having roofing problems? Considering a new roof in the next 3-5 years? Before investing big dollars in an expensive new roof consider Poxy Coat II!

Poxy Coat II is good for most roofs.
- extremely flexible for long life
- is heat resistant up to 1000°.
- resists acid rain
- seals and protects
- comes in seven colors, plus black and white
- a fraction of the cost of a new roof.

For more information and a free estimate and consultation on coating your roof with Poxy Coat II contact:

Paul Brosey at (717) 426-3833 or
Steve Bowman at (717) 684-8642

Paul Brosey Contracting also does painting, barn restoration and roof replacement.

Juniors Exhibit Angus At Eastern Regional

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Young Angus breeders from 13 states gathered at the new Agricenter facility in Perry, Georgia, for the 1990 Eastern Regional Junior Angus Show last month.

Spectators saw 109 exhibitors parade 182 head of Angus cattle before judge Jim Hough, Sunbright, Tennessee. Judge Hough awarded placings in the categories of bred-and-owned heifers, "owned" heifers, bred-and-owned bulls, cow-calf pairs, and steers.

Jennifer Calderazzo, York, Pennsylvania, was named a big winner at this annual event which is held in a different eastern state each year. She was named the show's Premier Breeder for breeding the three highest placing animals in the show.

Contributing to Calderazzo's top award was her champion entry in the bred-and-owned heifer division. She paraded J L C Personality Preference to top honors. The heifer is a February 1989 daughter of Grubbs MacKenzie.

Calderazzo led another winner in the bull competition. Her entry J L C MacBabett was named the reserve grand champion. Born in March 1989, he is a son of Grubbs MacKenzie.

Jason Smith, Cullman, Alabama, received the reserve grand champion banner in the bred-and-owned heifer category with his entry B K Miss Pretty Girl. The heifer is a September 1988 daughter of Fairfield Hi Guy.

In the "owned" heifer competition, Michael Roddey Jr., Travelers Rest, South Carolina, took home the grand championship. Also awarded the junior championship, his winning entry was Whitestone Blackbird 9524, a January 1989, Grubbs MacKenzie daughter.

Kaye of Glenkerry won the "owned" reserve grand championship for Allison Porter of Jefferson, Georgia. The heifer was previously named the senior champion. She is a November 1988 daughter of R&J Rambo 1215.

Darrell Bowman, Waynesboro, Virginia, paraded the grand champion cow-calf pair. Sired by Cobble Pond New Yorker, the March 1986 cow is Renatas Miss Liberty R601. The April heifer

1990 BARN PAINTING Latest Developments

1. PREPARATION - High volume water blasting at 1,000 lb. pressure re-surfaces barn siding into a smooth (like new) appearance!
   a Performed by professionals quickly at reasonable cost
   b By yourself with your own or rented equipment
   c Or other more conventional methods
2. APPLICATION - To insure better adherence to this super prepared surface, use the best fine bristle brush in four directions to evenly distribute the recommended mil thickness of seal coat coverage.
3. SPECIALIZATION - Every barn is different but generally it's best to use a high quality mildew resistant product, specially formulated to meet the requirements of this partially weathered wood that was and will be weather stressed.
4. WARNING - The modified oil latex is less effective as a wood preserver and actually increases nail & metal deterioration. Deal with home people. At their rates, I could double mine.

PORK PRODUCERS APPROVE ANIMAL CARE GUIDELINES

Dr. Richard Barczewski
Extension County Agricultural Agent
University of Delaware

Delegates at a recent meeting of the National Pork Producers Council approved a new swine care handbook designed to provide pork producers with information for education and self-regulation on animal care.

"Swine Care Guidelines," which sets forth approved practices for environmentally controlled hog production facilities, is only the first step in aligning the industry in a proactive stance against the misinformation spread by the animal rights movement. Further steps are necessary, however, to continue our efforts to keep ahead of this movement.

As an industry, we are, at times, closeminded when it comes to criticism. No one enjoys being criticized, but positive changes can result if we consider critical observations honestly with a view toward change.

If anything positive can come out of the animal rights movement, it is a stronger animal industry. "Swine Care Guidelines" is a step in the right direction. These guidelines show American consumers that hog producers in the United States want to do the best job possible in raising hogs. Of course, a few producers do a less-than-adequate job of raising their livestock. But "Swine Care Guidelines" can help these marginal producers do better, too, by meeting suggested guidelines. It is up to all of us to encourage these changes.

"Swine Care Guidelines" may be viewed by some as too specific. Actually, the guidelines were written to allow for a variety of options involving facilities and management. The handbook lets consumers know that hog producers care about how their animals are housed and managed.

There is more than one way to raise a hog. These guidelines are written for producers who raise swine in environmentally controlled housing, and not in outside, less intensive systems. Will these guidelines have any influence on less intensive hog-rearing methods? Certainly outside operations will not be criticized for using these guidelines. After all, outside pig production is the least intensive management option available to hog producers and the closest to what hogs face in nature.

Why must we even have to deal with issues like animal care? It is only logical that hog producers take care of their animals if they plan to make a profit raising them. Eighty percent of the U.S. population believe that America's livestock producers are doing a good job in rearing practices. A 20 percent negative response, however, is too much. Our focus as an industry should be to convince this segment that we care. Many of the people who question current methods and practices of swine production have never set foot on a hog operation.

Negative press has had its effect, too. Consider the veal industry. National news stories have put veal production in a negative light.

PULLORUM DISEASE — AN OLD DISEASE EMERGES AS A NEW THREAT

David C. Kradel
Poultry Extension Veterinarian

Complacency can be dangerous in disease control. The poultry industry needs to be constantly on the alert so that highly infectious diseases do not gain entrance to the commercial industry.

Recently, pullorum disease — occasionally encountered in backyard flocks but which has been absent in the commercial industry for many years — resulted in a pullorum epidemic in large commercial flocks in four south Atlantic states.

The outbreak involved roaster chickens. Seven breeder flocks were depopulated and infection occurred in an estimated 100 growing roaster flocks. Commercial flocks in Pennsylvania were not involved.

What is pullorum disease?

Pullorum disease (also called bacillary white diarrhea) is a disease caused by the bacteria Salmonella pullorum. This bacteria can infect any avian species but is of economic importance only in chickens and turkeys. The bacteria will not infect people.

Spread of pullorum

Pullorum disease is spread primarily from infected breeder hens to their chicks via egg infection — this is called vertical transmission. It also can spread from bird to bird in contaminated hatcheries and growing houses.

Diagnosis of pullorum

Blood testing followed by laboratory culturing of blood test positive birds is used in the pullorum control programs. Symptoms of sickness are more common in chicks and may include huddling, depression, droopiness, chilling, diarrhea, pasted vent, lameness, and chalk-white feces sometimes stained with green bile.

As the disease progresses, the birds may become stunted and unthrifty. When autopsied, grey nodules (hard lumps) may be present in the heart muscle and occasionally other organs. Cheesy cores may be present in the ceca (blind pouches). In the recent outbreak, joint infections (arthritis) were also seen.

Prevention

Chicks should be purchased only from hatcheries or breeder flocks participating in the National Poultry Improvement Plan (NPIP) Pullorum Control Program.

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture oversees the most intensive pullorum testing program in the U.S. This program, in addition to the NPIP requirements, involves the regular testing of all commercial multiplier breeder flocks, testing of all show birds, and as part of the avian influenza surveillance program, the pullorum testing of random birds being sold through the auction markets.

It is important that poultry raisers should not purchase birds of an unknown source or allow poultry dealers and hauling crates into poultry houses.

Is pullorum harmful to people?

No. The bacteria that causes pullorum will not infect people. Pullorum disease presents no public health risk.

Other information

For additional information on pullorum disease, contact the Avian Health Division, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, (717) 783—5301; Penn State Veterinary Extension (814) 863—0837; or your state department of agriculture or extension service.

Grimes Elected Beef Council Chairman

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Ray Grimes, a Charolais purebred breeder from Adams County, has been elected chairman of the 21-member board of directors of the Pennsylvania Beef Council.

Grimes, who had previously served as first vice chairman, replaces Scott L. Yocum of Centre Hall, Pennsylvania. Yocum will continue to serve on the council board as immediate past chairman.

Grimes has served as an active member of the council for more than five years. The current vice president of the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association, he is active in numerous local, breed, and state beef industry activities.

Other officers elected were Ralph McGregor, a dairyman from East Berlin, PA, first vice president; Kathy Roberts, a veal producer from Roaring Branch, PA, second vice chairman; Robert Gabel, a dairyman from Newport, PA, treasurer; and Dr. Lowell Wilson, a beef producer and animal sciences professor from State College, PA, Secretary.

The Pennsylvania Beef Council administers the $1 per head beef checkoff program on behalf of the beef industry. Checkoff funds are invested in demand-building education, information, and promotion programs.

LVNB Loans Help Young Farmers

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.)— Michael H. Firestine, vice president and senior agricultural lender of Lebanon Valley National Bank (LVNB), announced that LVNB has introduced a new "Farm Start" Loan Program to help young farmers starting out in farming by offering them an agricultural loan that features low interest rates and favorable repayment terms.

Qualifying applicants must have an agriculture background or agriculture-related experience. Loan proceeds can be used to purchase livestock, farm machinery and equipment or to provide financing for crops, fertilizers, and feed. Favorable interest rates at ½ percent below LVNB's most favorable agriculture lending rates will be offered for periods of up to three years.

All loans with maturities of five years or more will also offer a period of up to six months with only interest repayments.

This program is being offered to help young farmers have an opportunity to start farming. Discount and interest rates will help to lessen a young farmer's expenses at a time when he or she needs the most help.

Firestine said that under the Community Reinvestment Act of 1977, a bank has a major responsibility to ensure that it attempts to identify the credit needs of its constituency. Lebanon Valley National Bank is the third largest agricultural lender in the state of Pennsylvania with outstanding agricultural loans of over $58 million, and agricultural-related activities play an important role in LVNB's marketing plans.

Over the years, LVNB has offered several credit programs to help farmers. During the drought of 1988, LVNB instituted a special Loan Program to assist the farmer with escalating feed costs. During periods of rising interest rates, LVNB has offered fixed rate loans.

DEKALB Seed Changes Name

DEKALB, Ill.— Dekalb Genetics Corporation has announced that the new name for its seed operations will be Dekalb Plant Genetics. The seed business has operated under the name of Dekalb-Pfizer Genetics since 1982.

The name change is another step in Dekalb's buyback of its partnership with Pfizer, Inc. of New York, announced last December by Bruce Bickner, chairman and chief executive officer of Dekalb Genetics Corporation. Dekalb and Pfizer combined their seed research and marketing operations in July 1982.

"Dekalb Genetics has sharpened its focus an agricultural genetics markets," said Bickner. "With a revitalized product line and the opportunity to build market penetration in our seed operations, this additional investment in our existing business operation is a logical extension of our long-term strategy."

Tom Rice, Dekalb Plant Genetics president, Tom Rice, said the new name will not affect the distribution of Dekalb brand products or Dekalb's strong dealer network. Dekalb's winged ear logo, used since 1937, will remain the company identification.

Vermeer Rolls Out Baler

PELLA, Iowa — A new, giant round silage baler, designed to tackle high moisture hay crops, has been introduced by Vermeer Manufacturing Co.

The 504 I Silage Baler rolls up to 1,900 pounds of hay into a compact 5' diameter x 4' wide package. It comes equipped with a chromed lower drive roller, a 3-inch diameter spiral starter roller, and heavy-duty steel knives to eliminate wrapping problems in high moisture conditions.

The 3,620 pound unit is offered with either hydraulic or electric twine wrap and features open-throat easy-start design, adjustable belt tracking, double twine wrap, an improved belt traction system, and Haysaver wheels for maximum pick-up efficiency.

The 504 IS uses a five-bar floating pick-up system with rubber-mounted pickup teeth to assure smooth feeding action. A constant velocity PTO eliminates "chatter" on the turns.

DowElanco Breaks Ground

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.— DowElanco, one of the largest agricultural products companies in the world, officially broke ground for its new global headquarters in Indianapolis, IN, on June 5.

John L. Hagaman, president and chief executive officer of DowElanco, was joined in the groundbreaking by Indiana Governor Evan Bayh; Indianapolis Mayor William H. Hudnut, III; selected customers and employees; and the DowElanco board of directors.

"From a business standpoint, Indianapolis is a logical place for us to start our new company," Hagaman said. "From a personal standpoint, it is a great place for our headquarters-based employees to live and raise their families."

Hagaman said construction of the 800,000-square-foot global headquarters complex, located on 325 acres in northwest Indianapolis, will begin immediately. Research laboratories, administration building and employee development center will be completed separately over the next few years.

Eventually, the global headquarters will house nearly 1,000 employees and cost more than $100 million to complete.

Hagaman noted that the day's events signified more than just construction of new buildings. He said the groundbreaking ceremony also marked the public introduction of DowElanco, a joint venture between the crop production and specialties (non-crop) businesses of The Dow Chemical Company of Midland, MI, and Eli Lilly and Company of Indianapolis.

"Today we pause to celebrate our 'taking wing' as DowElanco, a new and dynamic company," he said. "This day marks a proud and important page in the history book of DowElanco. All of you here, and all of our employees, customers and friends around the world, are helping to write that history."

DowElanco has annual global sales of approximately $1.5 billion representing a diverse offering of herbicides, insecticides, fungicides, nitrogen stabilizers, termiticides, plant growth regulators, fumigants and seed products.

Construction of the DowElanco 800,000 square foot global headquarters complex, located on 325 acres in northwest Indianapolis, began recently. The global headquarters will house nearly 1,000 employees and cost more than $100 million.

Vegetable Production Up Big Time

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)— Pennsylvania's production of vegetables for fresh marketing and processing totaled 176,630 tons in 1989, up 34 percent from the 131,820 tons produced in 1988, according to the Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service (PASS).

The total includes sweet corn, tomatoes and strawberries for fresh market and snap beans, sweet corn and tomatoes for processing.

Fresh market production in 1989 was 116,950 tons, 43 percent more than the 1988 output of 81,600 tons. Production for processing was 59,680 tons, up 19 percent from 1988's 50,220 tons.

Sweet corn production increased 68 percent for fresh market, from 864,000 cwt. to 1,454,000 cwt. Production of sweet corn for processing dropped from 10,390 tons to 9,780, a 6 percent decrease.

Fresh tomato output rose 17 percent, from 686,000 cwt. to 800,000 cwt. Tomatoes for processing expanded 27 percent, from 27,860 tons to 35,360 tons.

Strawberry production increased from 82,000 cwt. to 85,000 cwt., or 4 percent. Snap bean production rose from 11,970 tons to 14,540 tons, or 21 percent.

Vegetable yields per acre for 1989 were greater than 1988 for every commodity listed:

Sweet Corn — (1989) 85 cwt. per acre for fresh market and 4.89 tons for processing; (1988) 55 cwt. fresh market and 3.71 tons for processing.

Tomatoes — (1989) 200 cwt. per acre for fresh market and 20.80 tons for processing; (1988) 140 cwt. fresh market and 13.93 tons for processing.

Strawberries — (1989) 47 cwt. per acre; (1988) 43 cwt.

Processing snap beans — (1989) 2.55 tons per acre; (1988) 1.87 tons.

Total harvested acreage for fresh and processing vegetables declined from 33,700 acres in 1988 to 32,300 last year. Fresh-market harvested acreage increased from 22,500 to 22,900 while total harvested acreage for processing decreased from 11,200 to 9,400.

Harvested acres rose for fresh sweet corn from 15,700 to 17,100, but decreased for fresh tomatoes (4,900 to 4,000), strawberries (1,900 to 1,800), processing snap beans (6,400 to 5,700), processing sweet corn (2,800 to 2,000), and processing tomatoes (2,000 to 1,700).

PASS reported that the combined value of both fresh and processing vegetables rose from $42,083,000 in 1983 to $63,214,000 last year. The fresh-market sector increased from $36,874,000 to $56,094,000, while the processing sector rose from $5,209,000 to $7,120,000.

Value of production declined for processing sweet corn ($544,000 to $5528,000), but rose for fresh sweet corn ($14,515,000 to $30,389,000), fresh tomatoes ($14,200,000 to $17,120,000), strawberries ($8,159,000 to $8,585,000), processing snap beans (2,550,000 to $3,286,000)

Names Agronomist

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn. — Northrup King Co. recently named Mark Mattingly, Lancaster, Pennsylvania its Northeast regional agronomist.

Mattingly will be responsible for agronomic services to dealers and farmers in the northeastern U.S. He will also handle regional plot programs, product and evaluation, and product training.

Jack Gaudette, regional sales manager for the Northeast, said, "As our business continues to grow in the Northeast, we are pleased to have the additional agronomic support that Mark brings to our dealer force."

Mattingly brings considerable experience to his new position, having most recently served as general manager of the Kentucky Pride Hay Growers Association and as mid-south regional agronomist for Northrup King. Mattingly is a native of central Kentucky and a graduate of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

He will work near Northrup King's corn research station in Manheim, PA. Mattingly's new address and phone number are 304 Strasburg Pike, Lancaster, PA 17602, (717) 392-0245.

Aids Crop Production

DES MOINES, Iowa — Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. has released a new crop production software program for producers.

According to Willona Graham Goers, product line manager for the business information services division of Pioneer, "The PIONEER DollarWise Crop Production Program has been designed to help farmers track their cost of production by field, farm, or enterprise. It is also a useful tool in recording historic information on crop inputs, activities, and growing observations. The reports generated assist producers in making their planning, production and marketing decisions."

Reports generated by the program include allocated income and expense, cost of production, profit and loss, field inputs and activities, harvest by storage location, and soil test results. A cross-reference report allows producers to compare the income, expenses, and break-even prices of fields or farms with the same inputs.

Said Goers, "The DollarWise Crop Production Program can be customized to meet the individual management styles of producers. Another benefit is the ability to define unique forms of yield measurements such as truck loads, bin rings, combine grain tanks."

The program offers such features as an on-screen calculator; context-sensitive help lines; pull-down menus; and pop-up lists of fields, crops, and inputs.

"Another advantage of the program is the fact that it links with the PIONEER DollarWise Farm Accounting Program," said Goers. "This allows producers to automatically allocate overhead accounts to the appropriate fields, farms, and enterprises without re-keying financial information."

For more details on the DollarWise Crop Production Program and demonstration diskette, call Pioneer at (800) 338-5878, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Central Time.

Hesston Intros Round Baler

CAROL STREAM, Ill. — Hesston Corporation recently introduced the Model 540 round baler for small- to medium-size farming operations. It provides the option of round bales without the necessity of a large tractor. The Model 540 Round Baler can be operated with 45 PTO horsepower at 540 rpm.

Built for ease of operation and reliability, the open-throat direct feeding design assures no-problem, fast bale starts. An equal angle drive line allows for sharp cornering and excellent maneuverability.

The low profile 44.17-inch pickup positioned near the main wheels eliminates the need for additional gauge wheels. To fully capture the crop, tines are a close 2.6 inches apart.

Six 7-inch Chevron tread belts further minimize crop loss by providing more than 90 percent belt coverage. Hydraulically controlled dual tension arms maintain constant belt tension and bale density from core to outside.

Bale size can be adjusted from 30 inches to 51 inches in diameter. Bale width is 47 inches. Capacity is 8 tons to 12 tons per hour depending on the crop and moisture conditions with bales weighing up to 1,000 pounds.

An electric alarm on a tractor mounted control box alerts the operator of a full bale. A light on the control box indicates when the tail gate is in its positive lock position.

Additional information on the Model 540 Round Baler can be obtained by contacting Hesston, 245 East North Avenue, Carol Stream, IL 60188.

May Egg Production Down

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)— Egg production in the state during May totaled 422 million eggs, down 4 percent from the 441 million produced in May 1989, according to the Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service (PASS).

The number of layers on hand averaged 18.6 million during the month, compared with 19.5 million during May 1989, PASS reported. Production per 100 layers was 2,266 eggs, up from 2,263.

Egg production in the state during the March through May 1990 quarter totaled 1.28 billion eggs, down 2 percent from the same quarter in 1989. The average number of layers on hand for the period was 18.8 million, compared with 19.3 million a year ago.

Egg-type hatch totaled 4.2 million chicks during May 1990, down 5 percent from a year ago. Cumulative egg-type hatch for January through May, at 18.4 million, is 4 percent above the same period of 1989.

Broiler-type hatch for the month was 11.1 million, down 17 percent from the previous May. Aggregate broiler-type hatch for the quarter was 54.5 million, down 11 percent from a year ago.

Nationally, egg production totaled 17.3 billion eggs during the March-May quarter, up 1 percent from the corresponding period a year ago. All layers in the nation on June 1 totaled 269 million, compared with 267 million a year ago. Rate of lay per day on June 1 averaged 68.9 eggs per 100 layers, compared with 68.7 on the same date in 1989.

Egg-type chicks hatched in May totaled 37.7 million, 2 percent below a year earlier. Broiler-type hatch, at 554 million, was 6 percent above May last year.

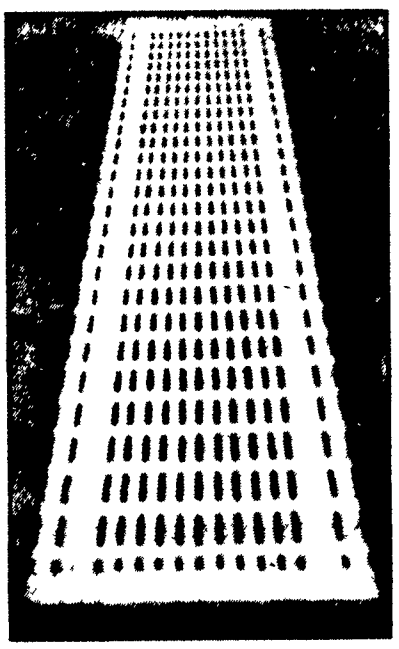
The 29.0 million poults placed in the nation during May were 2 percent above placements for the same month of 1989.

Waffle Finishing Gang Slats

7/8" or 1" Slot

2' or 4' Waffle Hog Slats can be custom made to any length that is suitable for your barn.

2' Waffle Hog Slats only weigh 20 LBS per sq. ft. so you can carry into existing barn.



Large percentage of opening keeps slats clean and dry.

Waffle slats are uniform and easy to install

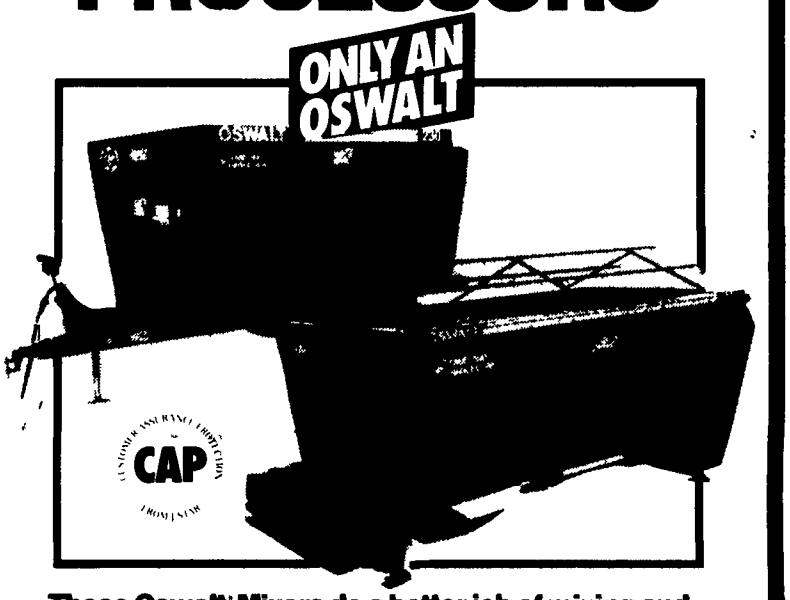
OSWALT by J-STAR

Model 180 and 230 TMR/HAY PROCESSORS



These Oswalt Mixers do a better job of mixing and carry the industry's only five-year mixer warranty!

Mix and process your rations and hay... the Oswalt way

Better design and more know-how have made Oswalt the leader in mixing.

Oswalt TMR/Hay Processors are clearly superior in their ability to mix all types of ration ingredients, including dry hay. A reel-type mixer, particularly when fully loaded, retains a quantity of the dry hay in the center of the reel which then simply turns over with the reel and receives little mixing. Your hay just gets a free ride and your final mix is uneven at best. In an Oswalt TMR/Hay Processor, the hay is processed and evenly and aggressively mixed throughout the ration. It has no place to hide.

A key element of mixing dry hay into a ration is processing the hay while all ration ingredients are being mixed. That means tearing the hay apart and reducing fiber length during the mixing process.

In an Oswalt, the notched bottom auger working against the shear shelf, does the primary job of tearing the hay slabs apart and reducing the length of long hay stems.

The aggressive square top-augers (a patented Oswalt exclusive) grab the hay slabs and finish the processing job.

Join In Tours, Demonstrations At Field Day

NEWARK, Del.— Mark your calendars for the University of Delaware's annual Farm and Home Field Day, scheduled for Wednesday, August 8, at the university's College of Agricultural Sciences' Research and Education Center on Route 9 near Georgetown.

The day will include vegetable and agronomic crop wagon tours, an ATV utility equipment demo, farm safety demos such as a farm accident rescue and overhead power line dangers, turfgrass comparisons, and perennial and annual plant demos.

"We also have a special fresh market vegetable harvesting equipment demo involving sweet corn, green beans, and lima beans," said George Chaloupka, director of the center. "This should be of particular interest to commecial vegetable growers."

In addition, many allied agricultural agency exhibits and demonstrations are being planned.

Also featured will be the opening of a newly developed woodlot educational trail where visitors will have the opportunity to enjoy a walk through th woods and, with the help of a tour guide, learn what a woods really has to offer.

The practical tractor for the practical farmer.

The world's most demanding farmers prefer M-F 300 Series tractors.

These popular 50-90 PTO hp tractors are a big reason why Massey-Ferguson is the Western World's largest tractor manufacturer. In fact, one in every five tractors now sold in the Western World is an M-F.

What makes Massey-Ferguson the practical choice?

An M-F 300 Series tractor gives you all the benefits of advanced Ferguson system hydraulics, for one thing. Plus the unmatched lugging power and fuel economy of a world-famous Perkins diesel engine. And with Massey-Ferguson, you get hydrostatic steering as standard equipment, not as an option.

Today's tractor buyers want quality and reliability, but in a package that stresses function and ease of operation. They want a tractor that's easy to service, inexpensive to operate and proves to be the best return for their hard-earned investment.

See your M-F dealer soon to find out why more and more farmers are discovering that an M-F 300 Series tractor is the answer to their demands for something more practical.

Pick the tractor sized for your operations.

Teamwork Key To Mifflin Conservation Tour

MIFFLIN COUNTY — A recent tour in Mifflin County featured a multi-agency effort of 7 conservation projects on 5 different farms in the Ferguson Valley/ McVeytown area. Credit goes to those at the Mifflin County Conservation District, Soil Conservation Service, and Cooperative Extension for planning and conducting the tour. The purpose of the tour was to allow area farmers and interested persons to view some of Mifflin County's Chesapeake Bay projects and conservation measures, and to show where the Chesapeake Bay funds have gone in the county.

Agency staff specialists were on hand at each stop to explain the project's purpose, provide technical details, and to answer questions.

Spring Development

First stop on the drive-yourself tour was the Raymond Snyder Farm in Ferguson Valley. Several springs, up slope from a pasture, were causing wet spots. Snyder contacted the Mifflin County Conservation district for advice on how to use the springs as a controlled water source for cattle, thus eliminating the pasture wet spots. The Soil Conservation District provided technical help.

Rotational Grazing System And Multi-Flora Rose Control

The Raymond Bratton Charolais farm in Ferguson Valley provided a site to observe and learn more about an intensive grazing system. Within a larger pasture, a number of 2-acre areas were fenced off.

Animals are confined to one area for a certain number of days then rotated on to the next one. Harriet Rishel, district manager for Mifflin County's Conservation District explains. "The theory is to make more efficient and effective use of pastures while providing cows with good nutrition. It also cuts down on erosion." The first area grazed has a chance to regrow. During faster growth seasons, hay can be made. This project was 100% funded by the Education Demonstration Grant under the Chesapeake Bay Program, through the Conservation District. Planning and research was done by the Cooperative Extension Service. Approximately 17,000 feet of 16 gauge high tensile fence was used, along with fiberglass posts, wire holder-clips, gates, gate-handles, wire tighteners and an electric fence charger of appropriate capacity.

Bratton's multi-flora rose control project consists of 20 acres, 10 of which were sprayed in 1988 and 10 acres in 1989. Although the herbicide "Spike" works well on plants sprayed, birds spread seeds making control of the multi-flora rose difficult.

Limited Access System Crossing And Crop Management Practices

After a free lunch served by the Mifflin County 4-H Junior Leaders at the Rothrock Playground in McVeytown, the tour resumed less than a mile away at Dunmire Sons Farm. Here the group saw one of three limited access stream crossings. Stream banks were graded, seeded, and at two crossings, stone surfaces, as much as 25 tons per crossing (1½ feet deep), were installed. Bill Stidfole, a Soil Conservation Technician for both Mifflin and Juniata County's Soil Conservation Service, explained further. "There are fences right down through those crossings and that's the only place cattle can go across the stream. In this case, we have three different access areas where they can go across. But before they had total access to 1100 feet. It erodes the banks where the cattle keep going down over the stream banks. They keep them bare and the soil, in turn, goes right into the stream".

At the Dunmire farm, 670 feet of stream was involved. Improvements included 256 feet of bank shaping and seeding, and 1,055 feet of fencing. Limited access stream crossings were also the purpose for stopping at the James Laughlin farm in Ferguson Valley earlier that morning. The Laughlin cattle crossing included 75 feet of bank reshaping and seeding, and 216 feet of fencing to establish one cattle crossing. As with all crossings on the tour, each project was 100% funded by an Education Demonstration Grant under the Chesapeake Bay Program, through the Conservation District. Planning was done by the Soil Conservation Service.

At another location on the Dunmire farm, Greg Hostetter, a technician for the Crop Management Association of Mifflin and Juniata counties, prepared to give a demonstration on some of the procedures used to check for particular pests found in alfalfa.

County Extension Agent Dave Filson introduced Greg after giving some background on the Crop Management Association. "The Crop Management Association was started about 3 years ago. In the last year, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) recognized that it was a program that deserved some cost share because of the integrated pest management technique that the Crop Management Association uses." Greg said, "The idea behind the Management Association is we're trying to give the farmers an idea of when they need to do things, what they need to do as far as mechanical controls, or possibly management controls, instead of chemical controls. If you can cut a field when you have a lot of bugs as opposed to spraying it, it's an advantage to you, more economical, and, of course, better for the environment."

Joe mentioned that "This is our first year in the Crop Management Association. We are very pleased with the way it's working out because it is giving Tim and I a lot more time to do the things we have to do and Greg does some of the things we should be doing. It's made it easier to make decisions because they can tell you whether weeds or pests are at an economic threshold, whether it pays you to spray for them or whatever."

The Association presently works with 7,000 acres. "We hit every farm every week, we don't essentially hit every acre every week, but we do cover the crops in most need of attention", Greg states.

Manure Management System And Strip Cropping

The final stop on Mifflin County's conservation tour was Cas-Stead Farm, owned by Glenn Casner of McVeytown. Casner's manure management system features a Groffdale pre-stressed concrete structure, 12 feet deep, 89 feet in diameter, with capacity for 71,543 cubic feet of waste. Waste, scraped into a pit 8 feet deep, 6 feet wide, and 8 feet long, flows by gravity (1 foot drop per 20 feet) into the concrete storage area. The system is sized for 110 cows plus 73 heifers. Manure, sawdust bedding, and milkhouse water contribute to the 120 gallons per day. Glenn Casner, mentioning the time-saving advantage of the system, said they used to spend 15 hours/week hauling manure. It took 20 hours to clean a 5 month supply (89 loads). This project was funded 80% by the Technical Assistance Grant of the Chesapeake Bay Program, through the Conservation District. Engineering and planning were done by the USDA Soil Conservation Service while the Conservation District provided the Nutrient Management Program.

Strip cropping on this farm consisted of 35 acres in one field. Three waterways were built for a total of 1,232 feet. These projects were funded under ASCS Long Term Agreement ACP Program. Soil Conservation Service provided the engineering and planning. Both projects, the strip cropping and the waterways, control the speed and amount of water run-off through fields to prevent erosion.

According to District Manager Harriet Rishel some Chesapeake Bay Programs (cost share to the farmer) are planned to go on in coming years, programs to control nutrients and prevent excess erosion on farmland.

N.Y., N.J. Dairy Farmers Receive $12.83 For May Milk

NEW YORK — Dairy farmers who supplied milk plants regulated under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders during May 1990 will be paid on the basis of a uniform price of $12.83 per hundredweight (27.6 cents per quart).

The price for the corresponding month last year was $11.42 per hundredweight. Acting Market Administrator N. K. Garber said the price was $12.75 in April 1990. The uniform price is a marketwide weighted average of the value of farm milk used for fluid and manufactured dairy products.

The seasonal incentive plan removed $.40 per hundredweight from the dairy farmers' uniform price for May, a total of $4,037,826.16. Deductions will continue through June and will be returned in the August through November uniform price calculations.

A total of 13,314 dairy farmers supplied the New York-New Jersey Milk Marketing Area with 1,009,456,539 pounds of milk during May 1990. This was a decrease of 1.4 percent (about 14 million pounds) from last year.

The gross value to dairy farmers for milk deliveries was $131,135,207.94. This included differentials required to be paid to dairy farmers but not voluntary premiums or deductions authorized by the farmer.

Regulated milk dealers (handlers) used 381,518,317 pounds of milk for Class I, 37.8 percent of the total. This milk is used for fluid milk products such as homogenized, flavored, low test, and skim milks. For May 1990, handlers paid $14.57 per hundredweight (31.3 cents per quart) for Class I milk compared with $13.53 a year ago.

The balance (627,938,222 pounds or 62.2 percent) was used to manufacture Class II products including butter, cheese, ice cream, and yogurt. Handlers paid $12.66 per hundredweight for this milk.

The uniform price is based on milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat. For May 1990, there was a price differential of 11.4 cents for each one-tenth of one percent that the milk tested above or below the 3.5 percent standard.

All prices quoted are for bulk milk received from farms in the 201-210 mile zone from New York City.

Commodity Board Members Appointed

HARRISBURG — Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff recently appointed eight people to serve as board members on two state commodities marketing and research programs.

"I sincerely appreciate the dedication of these individuals," Wolff said during the announcement. "I look forward to working with all of the state commodity boards throughout the year as we face the dynamic challenge in today's market place."

The Pennsylvania Agricultural Commodities Marketing Act (PACMA) was amended in 1987 to give producers greater control over their own commodity programs. Board members nominated by producers set policy and direction determine budgets and oversee operations. The producers receive organizational and financial support from the Department of Agriculture.

Four members of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Marketing Research Program were reappointed by Wolff to serve three-year terms starting on July 31. They are Richard Pallman of Clarks Summit, Lackawanna County; Daniel Schantz of Zionsville, Lehigh County; Richard McCloskey of Jamestown, Mercer County; and Paul Zimmerman of Mifflinburg, Union County.

In addition, Wolff appointed Mark Troyer of Waterford, Erie County, to a three-year term on the Pennsylvania Potato Research Program which begins July 1. Drue Chapin of Nescopeck, Luzerne County, E. Gene Kosa of Ulysses, Potter County, and Naaman King of Atglen, Chester County, each accepted three-year reappointments to their program board.

Pennsylvania's apple, peach and nectarine, dairy, sheep and lamb, vegetable and potato producers have marketing and research programs for their commodities under the marketing act.

Engines Improve Combine Line

RACINE, Wis.— The Case International 1620 Axial-Flow combines now deliver more power and performance than ever before for small to medium acreages, with new diesel engines and other improvements.

"We're continually improving our combine line in response to feedback from farmers and custom harvesters who use these machines year in and year out," said Gerry Salzman, Case Internationa combine product manager.

The 145-hp Case 6T-590 engine replaces the original 124-hp engine. "This new engine provides more power with greater fuel efficiency, better reliability, and simpler maintenance," Salzman said. "A new warranty covers the engine for two full years."

An in-line core radiator, now standard equipment on the 1620, allows material to pass through more easily, extending the service interval. Also, the radiator is easier to clean when service is required.

Other new standard features include:

- A coolant level monitor with a warning light to alert the operator when the coolant level drops too low.
- An industrial-grade, 110-amp alternator with greater output capacity for meeting the electrical system's peak demands.
- A conveniently located oil drain line for the engine and PTO housing.
- Two 700 CCA batteries for extra electrical power.
- An air-conditioning condenser placed at an angle in the air stream for self-cleaning action.
- An air cleaner that uses the same replacement element as the larger axial-flow models.

New options include a "grain bin full" indicator which helps the operator avoid spillage, a header height indicator, and a power monitor that helps pinpoint optimum engine performance.

The 145-hp Case 6T-590 engine replaces the original 124-hp engine on the 1620 Axial-Flow combines. An in-line core radiator, now standard equipment on the 1620, allows material to pass through more easily, extending the service interval.

Axial-Flow combines use a single large rotor mounted inside a stationary threshing cage. "The gentle threshing action results in less grain breakage during harvest," Salzman said.

Field Day Unveils Weapons

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — It's summer, and the pests and weeds are at it again.

But the lower eastern shore farmer need not despair. This year's Salisbury facility Field Day on July 19 holds solutions to such problems as sweet corn infestation and weed control in zucchini squash.

The field day features concurrent wagon tours of research plots running from 4:15 p.m. to 8:15 p.m.

Stops on Tour A, Pest Control, are (1) Evaluating various biological materials for suppression of the root-knot nematode and nutrient value on green beans and cucumbers and (2) Validating insect trap catches as a predictor of insect infestation levels in fresh market sweet corn.

Stops on Tour B, Weed Control and Alternative Crops, are (1) The effectiveness of hairy vetch and subterranean clover cover crop mulches on controlling weeds in sweet corn and zucchini squash and (2) Performance results on the latest seedless and exotic melons.

In addition to the wagon tours, a research walking tour is featured. Participants can view home vegetables, herb and rose gardens, vegetable variety plots, and irrigation equipment at a leisurely pace. Moderators are positioned at each location to answer questions.

There will also be equipment displays and demonstrations on a variety of subjects throughout the day. Food and refreshments may be purchased from local 4-H clubs. Door prizes are drawn on the hour beginning at 5:00 p.m.

Research at the University of Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station's Salisbury facility focuses on vegetable and fruit production, including sweet corn, melons, tomatoes, green peas, and squash.

Charolais Juniors Elect Officers

COLUMBIA, Mo. — The American-International Junior Charolais Association (AIJCA) elected officers and directors recently at its 21st annual Junior National Leadership Conference, held June 18-22 at the University of Missouri at Columbia. More than 150 juniors from 23 states and Canada attended.

Sharla Adams, a 19-year-old junior from College Station, Texas, was elected president of the 850-member national junior organization. A sophomore at Texas A&M University, Adams has been an active member of AIJCA for 12 years. Adams is the daughter of Dennis Adams of Madisonville, Texas and Jane Adams of Crockett, Texas.

Vice president for the AIJCA is Brian Cwach of Yankton, SD. Cwach is the 20-year-old son of Darrell and Mary Kay Cwach of Yankton, SD. He has been an AIJCA member since 1986.

Ellen Nord of Bloomington, ILL., was selected to serve as secretary. The 19-year-old Illinois State University junior has participated in the AIJCA for six years. She is the daughter of Ron and Diane Nord of Bloomington, ILL.

The AIJCA treasurer is Mark Hecht, an 18-year-old junior from Paynesville, Minn. He has been a member of the AIJCA since 1979 and will be a freshman at the University of Minnesota at St. Paul. His parents are Harlin and Sue Hecht of Paynesville, Minn.

Directors for the AIJCA are Nicole Eckert of Sisseton, SD; Aaron Blair of Keller, Texas; Justin Renfro of Lufkin, Texas; Bryan Killian of Clover, SC; Trina Ricketts of Hallsville, MO; Lenny Klinglesmith of Meeker, Colo; Steve Dewey of Cimarron, Kan.; Chad Zehnder of Sauk Rapids, Minn.; Amanda Pierce of Abingdon, Va; and Eric Nord of Bloomington, Ill.

Named By Agway

SYRACUSE, NY — Joel G. Newman has been aned director of the newly combined feed and crops division at Agway effective May 1, 1990, according to Robert J. Kutil, executive vice president, Agri-Services.

"Agriculture has changed, the markets have changed, and the way we go to market must change as well," Kutil said in announcing the appointment. Newman has been director of the Agway Feed Division since June 1989 after serving in management positions in several Agway businesses.

He joined Agway in 1971 following graduation from West Virginia University where he earned a degree in animal science. He holds the M.B.A. degree in finance and marketing from Syracuse University.

Newman and his wife, Suellen, and their two sons reside in Manlius, NY.

"Timely Tips" Is Back

CREAMERY (Montgomery Co.) — "Timely Tips," a daily hotline for horticultural topics, will again be available starting on July 16, 1990. The telephone line is a free service of the Pennsylvania State University Cooperative Extension in Montgomery County and can be reached 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, at 489-9277. The caller will hear a short taped message each day covering lawn, garden and household topics. Copies of the topic schedule can be picked up at the Montgomery County Extension office in Creamery.

Grasshopper Mowers Cover Wide Acreage

MOUNDRIDGE, Kan. — The Grasshopper Company has added two new models to its versatile lineup of outfront zero-turn-radius mowers.

The new air-cooled 20 horsepower Model 720 and the liquid-cooled 24.5 horsepower Model 725 are designed to fill the needs of users in demanding high-acreage applications where high-horsepower is required to meet rigorous all-day mowing schedules every day. The new models are available with deck widths from 44 to 72 inches, including a new 48-inch low-profile deck.

Like all 700 Series Grasshopper mowers, the Model 720 and 725 feature the Gemini dual-hydrostatic direct drive system and a new adjustable dual-lever control system for total command at the operator's fingertips. The new adjustable levers can be set for operator comfort. When coupled with rugged industrial/commercial powerplants -- an Onan 20 hp two-Cylinder air-cooled gasoline engine in the Model 720 and a Kubota 24.5 hp three-cylinder, liquid-cooled, overhead valve gasoline engine in the Model 725 -- this drive/controls arrangement provides extended service life, reduced maintenance, high efficiency, and reduced operator fatigue.

The dual-lever steering puts complete control of steering, speed, turns, braking, and all forward/reverse motion in the palms of the operator's hands with no gears to shift and no pedals to push. True zero-turning-radius maneuverability and Grasshopper outfront deck design give the Models 720 and 725 the ability to mow around and between obstacles with precision. An operator can reach under low-hanging trees and shrubs, mow square corners and trim flush against walls, trees and monuments with unlimited visiblity and ease. EZ-Lift deck height adjustment permits quick and easy cutting height changes from the operator's seat.

For added versatility, Grasshopper offers a complete line of optional year-round attachments, including two styles of Quik-D-Tatch® deck-driven vacuum grasscatchers, a multi-purpose 48-inch dozer blade, a 48-inch sweepster rotary broom, a heavy-duty PTO-driven snowthrower, cab enclosure, and ROPS.

Hoffman Offers Funk's G Hybrids

LANDISVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Hoffman Seed customers will have something new to look forward to this fall.

Hoffman Seeds, Inc., a leading supplier of seed products to Northeast farmers since 1899, will be selling new Funk G Brand hybrids, developed by the CIBA-GEIGY Seed Division.

CIBA-GEIGY has owned Funk Seed International since 1974, and Hoffman has been associated with the Funk name since 1938.

Although Hoffman customers have grown accustomed to the familiar Funk G-Hybrid label, the product is now being sold as Funk G Brand hybrids from the CIBA-GEIGY Seed Division.

Cosmetically, the familiar Funk's red and gold package has been replaced by new blue bags, with the Funk G Brand name in white letters. Field signs will also appear in the same blue and white format. The Funk's logo has given way to that of the CIBA-GEIGY Seed Division.

But the changes go beyond mere cosmetics. They bring some very real benefits not only to Hoffman, but also to its customers.

One of the primary benefits, at least for Hoffman, is the name recognition afforded by a company the size of a CIBA-GEIGY.:

"CIBA-GEIGY has a reputation for high performance products," said George Ewing, president of Hoffman Seeds. "Putting their name on the (Funk) package shows that they believe in the product. It brings an entirely new interest to the product.

"We're extremely excited about this opportunity. But more important, our customers have been quiet enthusiastic about the involvement of a company like CIBA-GEIGY."

Beyond name recognition, however, CIBA-GEIGY has brought some very real customer benefits to the fold, particularly in the form of its commitment to research and development. In fact, CIBA-GEIGY'S research budget is reportedly the second largest in the seed corn industry.

Fred Lepley, Hoffman's director of sales and marketing, believes the added research capabilities will contribute to better performing, more consistent products.

"A strong product lineup," said Lepley, "starts with a superior research program. We test somewhere in the neighborhood of 1,500 hybrid varieties before we get one hybrid good enough for commercial release.

"With the kind of research expenditures CIBA-GEIGY has committed to, our customers can expect significant improvements to what we believe is already an outstanding product.

"Obviously one of the major benefits is that we'll be able to offer new products genetically engineered to the growing needs of the Northeast."

University Freshmen Are Winners

NEWARK, Del.— Four freshmen in the University of Delaware's College of Agricultural Sciences are recipients of $5,000 Delaware Carvel Agricultural Scholar Awards.

Tamara Bagdon (Wilmington), Julia Burzon (Newark), Sally Goodman (Hockessin) and Laura Towers (Harrington) will begin their college studies in the fall.

"These awards are the centerpiece of the agricultural scholarships endowment," said R. Dean Shippy, agricultural sciences associate dean for instruction.

The endowment honors Elbert N. Carvel, former Delaware governor and trustee of the university from 1945 to 1985.

Entering freshmen who graduate in the top 20 percent of their high school class and attain and minimum score of 1,050 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) are eligible to compete for the scholarships.

"The scholar awards are renewable for three additional years, provided the student maintains at least a 2.5 academic average and remains enrolled in the college of agricultural sciences," said the dean.

Bagdon, a graduate of The Tatnall School, will major in food science. She would like to contribute to a safe and affordable food supply for the consumer.

A graduate of St. Mark's High School, Burzon will major in entomology. She hopes to combine her art minor with her interest in ecology to pursue a career in ecological research and illustration.

Goodman graduated from Dickinson High School and will major in animal science. She is particularly interested in molecular genetics and plans to research genetic diseases.

A Lake Forest High School graduate, Towers will major in food science. She plans to research food-product packaging and develop new food products.

According to Dean Shippy, the number of freshmen recipients of the Agricultural Science Scholar awards varies each year depending on the number of scholarships available that year. The scholarships support both in-state and out-of-state students, but preference is given to Delaware residents.

High school students who will graduate in 1991 can receive an agricultural scholarship application by contacting the College of Agricultural Sciences, 114 Townsend Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19717-1303, (302) 451-2508.
